2004 BIG TEN CHAMPIONS

Last season, Illinois captured its third Big Ten Championship in the past four years and fourth in the last seven years – and its first outright conference title since 1952. In the process, Fighting Illini Head Coach Bruce Weber became just the third coach in the history of the Big Ten Conference to win an outright Big Ten title in his first season with Illinois' march to the title. Illinois had to win its final 10 conference games to claim the Big Ten championship, including six-straight wins on the road. In the final week of the regular season, Illinois posted a pair of dramatic road victories, first at Purdue in overtime to clinch a share of the title, and then at Ohio State to win the outright championship.

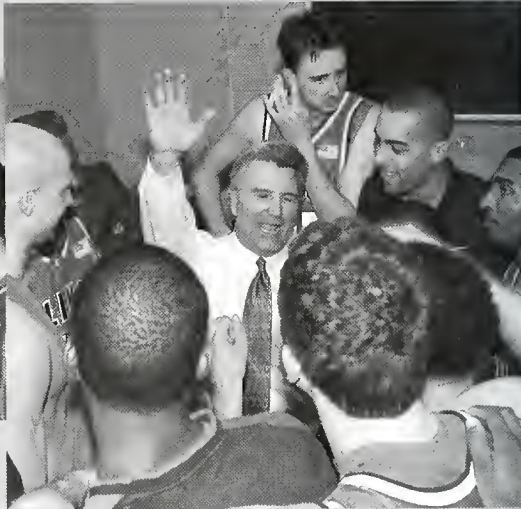

"THE SHOT"

With Illinois tied 79-79 at Purdue in overtime, Luther Head grabs an offensive rebound off a miss by Roger Powell and puts back a contested shot with the clock winding down.

"THE AFTERMATH"

The Illini bench and hundreds of UI fans who, decked out in orange, traveled to the game, erupt in celebration after Head's put-back goes in, giving the Illini an 81-79 victory.

HOME COURT ADVANTAGE

Illinois owns the best home court record in the nation over the last five years with a 63-3 mark.

When it's time to take the game on the court, Illinois has an outstanding home in Assembly Hall. The Hall has served as home to the Fighting Illini since its construction in 1963 and in 1999 it became even better after a multi-million dollar construction project that brought the team a new locker room, state-of-the-art training room, a dining area and a new tunnel area to accommodate network television trucks and team buses.

Illinois opened play at the Assembly Hall on March 4, 1963 with a 79-73 victory over Northwestern. Since that first game, the Illini have racked up a 436-119 (.786) mark. Since 1963, Illinois has sold out 158 games at the Assembly Hall, which seats 16,500. Illinois set an all-time attendance record on March 9, 1996 when 16,863 fans jammed into the Hall to witness Lou Henson's final regular season game as head coach. In the past five seasons, Illinois has produced a 63-3 record at home, the best home court record in the nation over that time span.

In addition to hosting the Fighting Illini, the Assembly Hall also holds performances for Broadway musicals, concerts and other shows. In the past few years, the WWE, Dave Chappelle, Ludacris, Ja Rule, Prince, Dave Matthews, Incubus, KISS, Matchbox 20 and the Dixie Chicks were some of the performers that took the stage at Assembly Hall.

HOME COURT ADVANTAGE

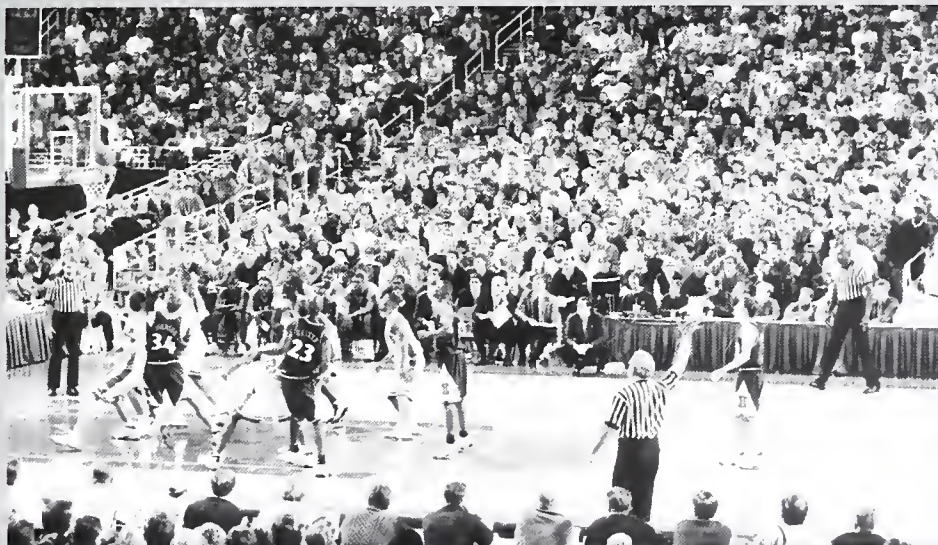

"The Assembly Hall can be an intimidating place. When you combine the Orange Krush, the Illini band and a very intense fan base, it makes for a great home court advantage. The success over the last five years with a 63-3 record backs it up."

-Illinois Head Coach Bruce Weber

NATIONAL ATTENDANCE LEADERS

Each of the last 28 years, the Big Ten Conference has won the national attendance title for home games. In 2004, 2,122,586 total fans passed through the turnstiles for a 12,787 per game average. The Big Ten set the national record in 2000-01 as the League drew a record 2,342,022 fans, or 13,383 per game. The Big Ten saw six of its programs rank among the top 25 nationally, including ILLINOIS, which ranked ninth with an average of 16,072 fans per game.

Six times the Illini have played before a crowd of over 30,000 fans. On Dec. 6, 1997 the Illinois-Saint Louis game drew a crowd of 32,429 at the TWA Dome in St. Louis. It was the largest crowd to ever watch a basketball game in the state of Missouri and it ranks as the sixth-largest crowd to ever watch a Fighting Illini game.

THE FLYING ILLINI REUNION

The Flying Illini of 1989 returned to the UI campus on June 24, 2000 to play in a charity celebrity basketball game. Key members of the '89 team, including Kenny Battle, Nick Anderson, Kendall Gill and Steve Bardo, took on a celebrity team consisting of several former Illini basketball and football players. Proceeds from the game established a Flying Illini Basketball Scholarship.

Others from the '89 team that advanced to the NCAA Final Four who were in attendance included P.J. Bowman, Travis Smith, E.J. Manzke, Tyler Cottingham, Mark Shapland, Pat Kennedy and Mike McDonald. The Flying Illini posted a 72-65 victory in front of thousands at the Assembly Hall with Gill leading in scoring with 16 points.

FIGHTING ILLINI IN THE PROS

Illinois has made a name for itself in the professional ranks. Sixty-four players have been drafted and 37 Illini have seen playing time in the NBA. John Kerr, Wally Osterkorn, and Steve Kuberski all earned championship rings in the league. The list of Fighting Illini who are currently in the NBA includes one senior from 2003, Brian Cook, and one senior from 2002, Frank Williams, along with NBA veteran Kendall Gill.

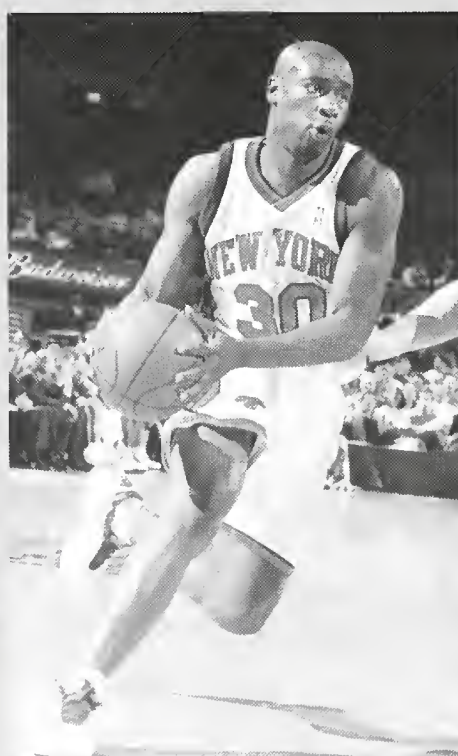

In 2003, Illinois senior Brian Cook became the 10th Illini Basketball player to be a first-round choice in the NBA draft. Cook, taken by the Los Angeles Lakers, was the 2003 Big Ten Player of the Year and a 2003 All-American. Below is an all-time list of Illinois' NBA first-round draft picks.

FOUR OF THE LAST SEVEN RESIDE IN CHAMPAIGN

Illinois has won 16 Big Ten Championships, including four titles in the last seven seasons. Here is a list of the number of Big Ten Titles each school has won:

1. Purdue-21; 2. Indiana-20; 3. Ohio State-17; 4. Illinois-16; Wisconsin-16;
6. Michigan-12; 7. Michigan State-10; 8. Minnesota-9; 9. Iowa-8; 10. Northwestern-2.

SCHEDULING TOUGH OPPONENTS

As always, Illinois faces a challenging non-conference schedule, along with the rigorous Big Ten grind. The Illini schedule was rated among the toughest in the nation each of the past few seasons. The level of competition will be tough again this season, with at least eight games scheduled against NCAA Tournament teams from a year ago. The nonconference slate features Gonzaga, Wake Forest, Arkansas, Georgetown, Oregon at the United Center in Chicago, the annual Braggin' Rights game against Missouri in St. Louis and the Las Vegas Holiday Classic. The Fighting Illini will appear on national television at least 11 times this season, with at least seven appearances on ESPN, one on ESPN2, and at least three national appearances on CBS. The Big Ten Tournament is scheduled for March 10-13 at the United Center in Chicago.

Over the last four seasons, Illinois' schedule has included match-ups with 41 NCAA Tournament teams, two eventual national champions and seven Final Four teams, including six games against the two teams that played in the national championship games.

HOMES AWAY FROM HOME

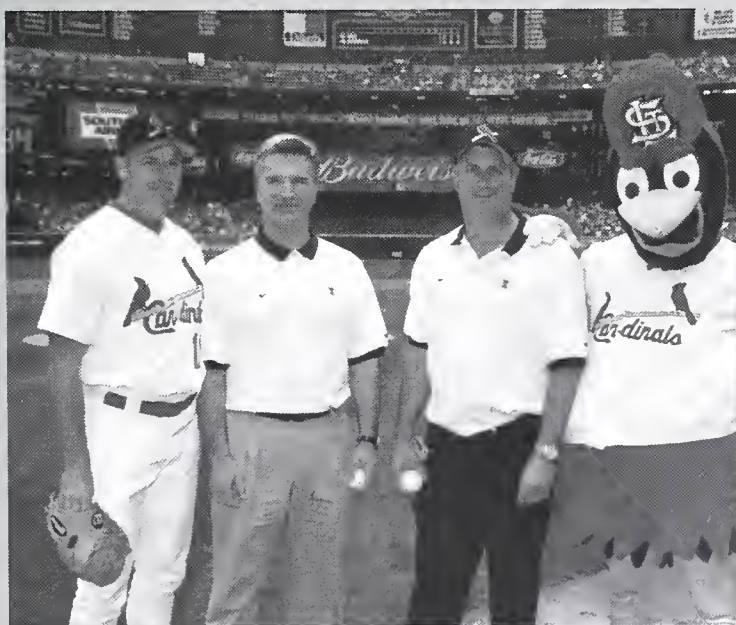

Chicago, the Illini's home away from home, welcomed the team to the friendly confines of Wrigley Field in June to celebrate yet another Big Ten Championship.

An early June Sunday afternoon at Wrigley Field with the Cubs facing the Pittsburgh Pirates - what better day than that to celebrate the annual Illini Day at Wrigley Field? When Illini fans arrived they found the field's famous marquee congratulating the Fighting Illini on another Big Ten Championship. Prior to the game, head football coach Ron Turner threw out the ceremonial first pitch. Not to be outshone, Coach Bruce Weber and Illini players Dee Brown, Roger Powell, Luther Head, James Augustine, Jack Ingram and Jerrance Howard took over the microphones during the seventh-inning stretch to lead the stadium in the singing of "Take Me Out to the Ballgame".

St. Louis, where Illinois annually squares off with Missouri in the Braggin' Rights game, was equally welcoming, hosting the Illini Family in May during a Cards/Cubs weekend.

The Cardinals family rolled out the red carpet for the Illini last May during a Cards/Cubs weekend. Both Coach Weber and football head coach Ron Turner threw out the first pitch as over 2,000 die-hard Illini celebrated Illinois Day at Busch Stadium.

ILLINI IN THE PRESEASON SPOTLIGHT

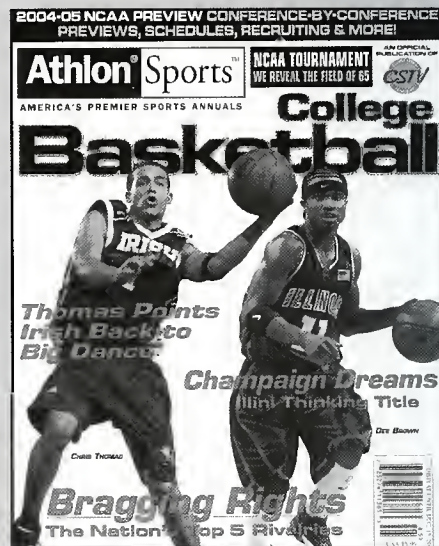

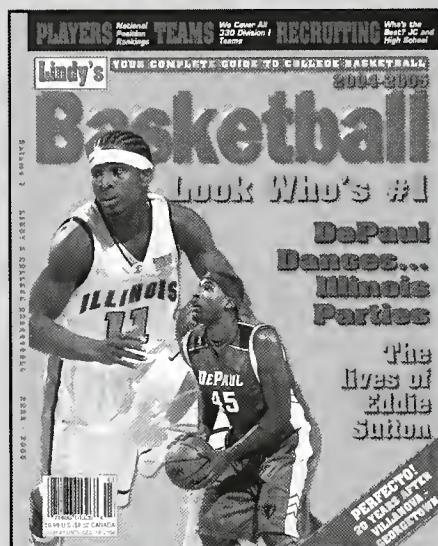

Each year the Illinois Basketball team is prominently featured in a number of preseason publications. This year it's guards Dee Brown and Deron Williams gracing the covers of college basketball magazines. A number of publications, including Lindy's, has Illinois ranked No. 1 in the nation in their preseason polls.

ILLINOIS IN THE AP RANKINGS

The University of Illinois has been ranked in the Associated Press Top 25 in 40 of the 55 years the poll has been in existence. That ranks eighth all-time among teams in Division I basketball.

MR. BASKETBALL

The Fighting Illini have landed four of the state's last nine Mr. Basketball honorees. Sergio McClain, the 1997 winner, started the trend when he signed with the Illini and teammate Frank Williams, the 1998 winner, followed suit. Brian Cook, the 1999 honoree from Lincoln High School, followed Williams and Dee Brown became the fourth when the 2002 honoree enrolled at Illinois.. When McClain, Williams and Cook suited up together for the first game of the 1999-2000 season, Illinois became the first school to have three of the state's Mr. Basketballs on the roster at the same time.

RED RIBBON CAMPAIGN

The message from the Illini is to, "Put the Slam on Drugs!" Illini Head Coach Bruce Weber and the team are honorary chairpersons for the Red Ribbon Campaign, a national week-long effort promoting a drug-free community. In addition to speaking to local elementary and middle school students on the dangers of drugs, Illinois also welcomed several groups of students to their practices. The Fighting Illini are in their eighth year as honorary chairpersons for the Red Ribbon Campaign.

The Fighting Illini paid a visit to Carle Hospital in Urbana last season.

HOMETOWN HEROES

The University of Illinois Hometown Heroes program offers student-athletes the opportunity to speak to young people regarding a variety of messages including goal setting, the importance of getting a good education, staying away from drugs and being a role model. Throughout the year student-athletes from all 19 Illinois varsity sports have an opportunity to make a difference in the lives of the youth of Urbana-Champaign through the Hometown Heroes program.

Luther Head greets some young fans prior to departing for the NCAA Regionals.

ALL-CENTURY TEAM

As part of its celebration commemorating the 100th year of basketball as a varsity sport this season, the University of Illinois Division of Intercollegiate Athletics has unveiled its All-Century Team. This 20-man team was selected after voting by thousands of fans on www.fightingillini.com and the Illinois Basketball Centennial Committee. The team will be honored during the Illinois Basketball Centennial Reunion Weekend, Jan. 28-30, 2005, and banners displaying the names of the All-Century Team will hang permanently at the Assembly Hall.

One of the most dramatic and dignified traditions in college athletics is the performance of Chief Illiniwek at the University of Illinois. Since 1926, this symbol has stirred pride and respect in audiences at Memorial Stadium, the Assembly Hall and Huff Hall.

Illiniwek (pronounced "ill-EYE-nih-wek") was the name of the loose confederation of Algonquin tribes that once lived in the region. The French changed the ending to "ois" in naming what became the state of Illinois. Illiniwek means "they are men" and former Illinois football coach Robert Zuppke is believed to have suggested calling the UI symbol Chief Illiniwek.

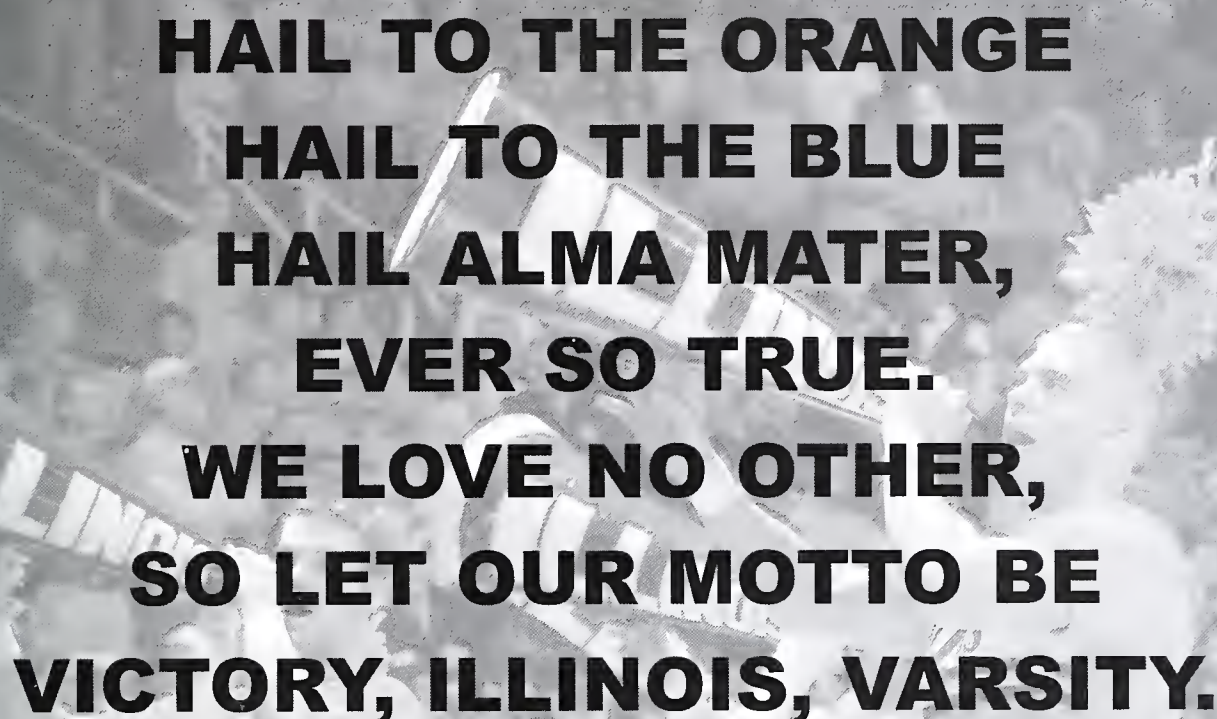

In 1926, Assistant Band Director Ray Dvorak conceived the idea of performing an American Indian dance during half-time of the Illinois vs. Pennsylvania football game in Philadelphia. Lester Leutwiler, a student interested in Indian lore, was chosen for the role. Leutwiler's performance, done in a homemade costume, was received so well that he was asked to continue his dance through the 1928 season.

Webber Borchers, the second Chief Illiniwek, was the first to appear in authentic American Indian regalia. He initiated a campaign to raise money to replace his homemade outfit with an authentic one, but with the Depression on, he received just $15 dollars. However, a Champaign merchant stepped in to fund the rest and Borchers was off.

He recalled: "In the summer of 1930, I went, at my own expense, to the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota. I hitchhiked out, called an Indian agent and explained my mission. He and an Indian trader called in an older Sioux woman. She and two younger women made the suit."

On Nov. 8, 1930, in New York's Yankee Stadium, Illinois faced Army in the seventh game of the season. It was there that Borchers made the first appearance of Chief Illiniwek in that outfit. Since then, five different authentic outfits have been used by Chief Illiniwek. The one used in performances now was purchased in 1983 from Sioux Chief Frank Fools Crow, and is topped by a headdress of turkey feathers.

This year marks the 78th year of Chief Illiniwek.

HAIL TO THE ORANGE
HAIL TO THE BLUE
HAIL ALMA MATER,
EVER SO TRUE.
WE LOVE NO OTHER,
SO LET OUR MOTTO BE VICTORY, ILLINOIS, VARSITY.

ILLINOIS LOYALTY

We're loyal to you Illinois
We're "Orange and Blue," Illinois
We'll back you to stand
'gainst the best in the land
For we know you have sand,
Illinois
Rah! Rah!
So crack out the ball Illinois
We're backing you all Illinois
Our team is the fame protector;
On boys, for we expect a Victory from you Illinois
Chehee, Cheha, Cheha-ha-ha
Go Illini Go
Illinois, Illinois, Illinois
Fling out that dear old flag of Orange and Blue
Lead on your sons and daughters,
Fighting for you;
Like men of old, on giants
Placing reliance, shouting defiance
Oskee-wow-wow!
Amid the broad green plains
That nourish our land,
For honest labor and for learning we stand,
And unto thee we pledge our heart and hand,
Dear Alma Mater, Illinois

OSKEE-WOW-WOW

Old Princeton yells her tiger
Wisconsin her varsity
And they give the same old Rah!
Rah! Rah!
At each university
But the yell that always thrills me,
And fills my heart with joy,
Is the good old Oskee-wow-wow,
That they yell at Illinois
Chorus
Oskee-wow-wow, Illinois
Our eyes are all on you
Oskee-wow-wow, Illinois
Wave your Orange and Blue, Rah! Rah!
When your team trots out before you
Ev'ry man stand up and yell
Back the team to gain a victory
Oskee-wow-wow, Illinois

MARCH OF THE ILLINI

We are marching for dear old Illini
For the men who are fighting for you
Here's a cheer for our dear Alma Mater may our love for her ever be true
While we're marching along life's pathways,
May the Spirit of old Illinois
Keep us marching and singing
In true Illini spirit
For our dear old Illinois

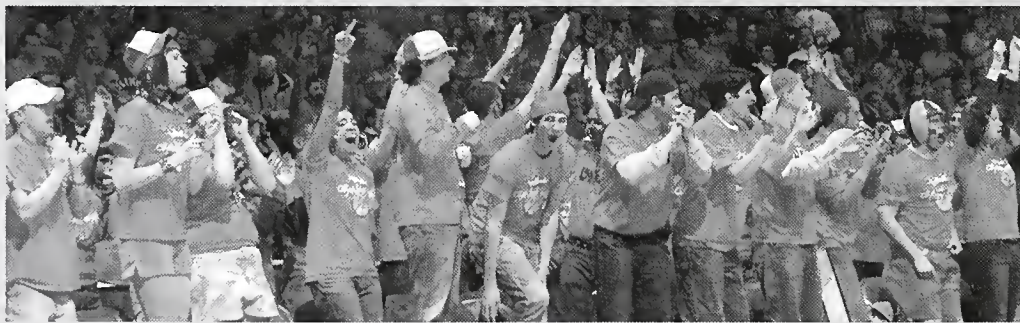

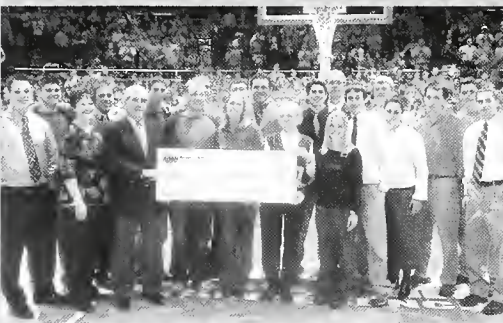

"The votes have all been gathered and counted, and we have tabbed the Orange Krush - the rabid group of orange-shirted Illinois students - for our Fans-of-the-Year Award."

-Rob Meich, CBS Sportsline.com (2000)

Orange Krush is a student-run cheering section of dedicated Illini students who love basketball. Krush membership has risen dramatically to well over 700 screaming Illinois students sitting courtside, supporting Head Coach Bruce Weber and the Illinois men's basketball team. Members arrive hours before the game to get the best seats on the floor on game day, with the line of Orange Krush students waiting for the doors to open extending nearly halfway around the Assembly Hall.

Not only is the Orange Krush considered the nation's premier basketball student section, but it is a charity foundation as well. All students interested in membership in the Orange Krush must participate in the Orange Krush 3-point shot program, which raises money for local charities.

Founded in 1998, the Orange Krush Foundation (formerly Team Krush Foundation) is a University of Illinois student-run Foundation intent on improving the quality of life for the youth and young adults of the Champaign-Urbana and campus community by providing financial support and contributing community service to area not-for-profit organizations.

Since the inception of the Orange Krush Foundation six years ago, Krush members have raised and donated over $600,000 to charity. The Orange Krush Foundation is almost entirely student-run and has donated funds to worthy causes including The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, Make-A-Wish Foundation, and Developmental Services Center.

Rod Cardinal, who was the University of Illinois men's basketball athletic trainer for 30 years. This endowment benefits all student trainers at the University of Illinois, which in turn benefits all varsity athletic teams.

Visit www.illinipride.com to view a list of all charities that have benefited from the Orange Krush Foundation and how each group has utilized their donation.

In addition, the Orange Krush Foundation created the Matthew Heldman Memorial Scholarship Fund, which honors Matthew Heldman, a point guard for the 1997-1998 Big Ten Championship Team, who was tragically killed in a car accident in 1999. The fund, in his name, endows a scholarship for a future Illini basketball player. After five years, the Orange Krush fulfilled the $250,000 commitment, and the fund is fully endowed.

During the 2003 season, the Orange Krush Foundation announced the formation of the Rod Cardinal Sports Medicine Fund. This fund pays tribute to

100 Years of Illinois Basketball

This season marks the 100th anniversary of basketball at the University of Illinois. Special events include a game with throwback jerseys, the announcement of a 20-player All-Century team, the release of a book entitled A Century of Orange and Blue, a centennial DVD, and many other promotions and activities throughout the year. The centennial culminates Jan. 28-30, 2005 when Illinois will host a reunion weekend for hundreds of former players, coaches and support staff members. A reunion celebration will be held at the Assembly Hall on Jan. 29 following Illinois' game vs. Minnesota.

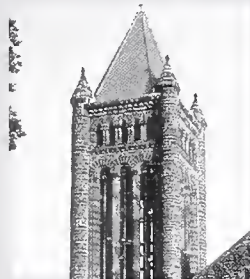

Alma Mater

The Alma Mater statue is one of the most recognized landmarks on the Illinois campus. It was given to the university in 1928 by Illinois graduate and sculptor Lorado Taft. The inscription at the base of the statue reads "To thy happy children of the future, those of the past send greetings." The statue was moved to its present location in front of Altgeld Hall in 1962 and it now serves as a welcome at the entrance of the Quad.

The Altgeld Bells

The 132-foot tall Altgeld Hall bell tower is another well known campus landmark. The tower houses 15 bells that weigh in at a combined 15,625 pounds. The bells, which were installed in 1920, chime on the hour and at fifteen minute intervals automatically while other selections, including the UI Alma Mater 'Hail to the Orange,' are played at special concerts that take place during the course of the year, Quad Day, Homecoming week, the Illini Union's anniversary and Commencement weekend.

The Flyin' Illini

The 1989 Illinois basketball season was a fitting end to the '80s Belong to the Illini' decade. The 1989 team, dubbed the Flyin' Illini, went 31-5, earned a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Region and advanced to the Final Four. Illinois was the 14th winningest program in the nation in the 1980s, posting a record of 233-90 (.721). Illinois enjoyed nine 20-win seasons and finished in the top four of the Big Ten eight times.

Hail to the Orange

The Illinois Alma Mater and the centerpiece of the Marching Illini's "Three-In-One" halftime performance is one tradition almost every Illini fan knows. While Chief Illiniwek stands at attention on the 50-yard line or at center court, alumni, students and diehard Illini fans alike link arms across the stands while singing the Alma Mater.

Homecoming

Homecoming, a tradition on just about every college campus in the United States, all began at the University of Illinois.

The Homecoming celebration was conceived in 1909 by UI students C.F. (Dab) Williams and W. Elmer Ekblaw, members of the Shield and Trident senior society. Homecoming is now coordinated by the Chancellor's Committee to Support Homecoming and the Student Alumni Association. The week-long celebration now includes campus decorations, a Homecoming 5K race, student service projects, "Lunch on the Quad," special "Comeback Guests," the traditional Friday night parade and pep rally on the UI campus and post-game social events.

Orange Krush

Orange Krush, one of the most recognizable student cheering sections in the nation, numbers over 700 screaming students courtside at all Illinois home games. In 1998, the group started the Orange Krush Foundation, and to date they have raised over $600,000. The Foundation supports one endowed scholarship, the Matthew Heldman Memorial Scholarship, for a men's basketball player, in honor of the late point guard from Illinois' 1997-98 Big Ten Championship Team, and the Rod Cardinal Sports Medicine Fund ($300,000) to benefit the Sports Medicine program at the UI, in honor of the long-time Illini basketball trainer.

Think Orange. Wear Orange.

Over the past four seasons, a sea of orange has appeared on Game Day at Assembly Hall as Illini fans dress in all orange. It all started on Feb. 6, 2001, when a sold-out crowd responded to 'Paint the Hall Orange' night by showing up in all orange and cheering Illinois to a 77-66 win over Michigan State at home en route to the 2001 Big Ten Championship.

The Whiz Kids

To this day the Whiz Kids remain one of the most storied teams in Illinois history. In 1942-43, Art Mathisen, Jack Smiley, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance and Ken Menke came together to capture the attention of the entire nation while winning back-to-back Big Ten titles and combining for a 35-6 record, 25-2 in the conference. The team broke up on March 1, 1943, when all five starters headed to active duty in the armed forces.

Conveniently located in the center of campus, it offers the very best in academic services to Illinois student-athletes. In addition to the academic offices, it houses study areas, an expansive computer room, and meeting rooms that over 600 student-athletes use throughout the year.

The Illini basketball coaching staff places academics at the top of the list when it comes to priorities and the results are overwhelming. In the past seven years, 19 basketball players have earned their degree.

As part of the academic services department, the academic support staff members also coordinate programs that enhance the college experience and prepare each student-athlete for life after college. Some of the programs that are included are a workshop on alcoholism on college campuses, time management workshops and seminars on note taking skills and preparing for exams.

JASON HOLTMAN

Academic Counselor

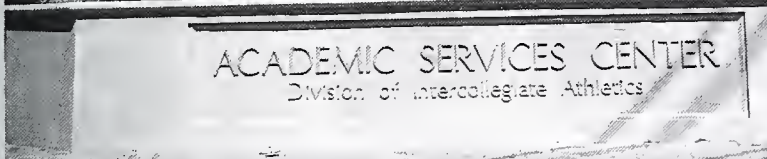

Jason Holtman joined the Illinois academic staff in 2002.

A native of Kalamazoo, Mich., Holtman came to Champaign after serving as Assistant Director of Athletic Academic Services at Central Michigan University for three-and-a-half years.

Holtman graduated from Bowling Green State University in 1994 with a degree in sport management. He served as an intern in the Athletic Academic Services office at Rice before accepting a full-time position as Assistant Director of Academic Services for the Indiana State University athletic department.

He completed a master's degree in sports administration in 1998 from Indiana State before moving to Central Michigan in January, 1999.

Holtman is the academic counselor for men's and women's basketball and wrestling at Illinois. He, and his wife, Jodie, and son, Bryce, live in St. Joseph.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

There is no question that physical and mental dominance of an opponent is the goal of every major basketball program in the country and a sports specific strength and conditioning program plays a vital part of the success of any basketball team. Jimmy Price, the strength and conditioning coordinator for men's basketball, is committed to the physical and mental development of each and every Illini basketball player.

"The bottom line is that the team which dominates its opponent physically and mentally is going to win the game," Price said. "It is our personal mission to put each player in the best possible position to be successful on the basketball court."

The strength and conditioning program is designed to make each student-athlete a better basketball player. There are many different contributing factors to physical dominance in the sport of basketball, but the one consistent factor is the need for power production. Basketball athletes require a training program that has a main focus on the development of power. Incorporating the Olympic lifting techniques (clean, jerk, squats and variations of each) into training gives the student-athlete the ability to increase the power that a student-athlete can produce.

The Basketball Strength and Conditioning program philosophies are based on 10 key principles:

1. Ground Based Activities: Select lifting exercises and conditioning drills that apply force with the feet against the ground such as cleans, jerks and squats.
2. Multiple Joint Actions: Multiple joint actions improve your athletic performance by coordinating simultaneous muscle contractions and movements.
3. Three Dimensional Movements: Sport skills involve movements in three planes of space simultaneously: forward-backward, up-down, and from side-to-side. In strength training only free weights allow movements in three dimensions simultaneously.
4. Train Explosively: The amount of force required for a given activity is regulated by the use of two different types of motor units found in the body: fast twitch and slow twitch. These factors combined mean a fast twitch fiber can generate up to four times greater force than a slow twitch fiber, which is key to being explosive on the basketball court.

5. Progressive Overload: Application of the load has crucial impact on maximizing performance and keeping sport injuries to a minimum. Overload occurs when the body responds to training loads greater than normal. Intensity and volume are the key factors used to progressively increase the overload. The use of heavier loads increases the intensity, which increases the tensile strength of the muscle group being trained.

6. Application and Periodization: Use different combinations of volume and intensity to generate different body responses. Volume and intensity will be determined by the season of the sport.
7. Split Routine: The split routine allows good recovery and rebuilding as well as at least two full days of recovery from each exercise.
8. Speed Day/Strength Day: Each training day is designated by the type and velocity of the movements being performed.
9. Train the Correct Energy System: The primary objective of conditioning is to improve your energy capacity and, therefore, improve your performance. This means that if your sport requires explosive movements, then the training should be tailored around this principle.
10. Proper Sports Nutrition: This concept is of the utmost importance and is often most overlooked by student-athletes. Each and every variable in this area affects the outcome of the training day and the future of the next training session. Many student-athletes take this area for granted, which is a critical mistake because it is vital to completely replenish used energy stores. If this does not happen, recovery for the next workout will be compromised.

"The use of these 10 principles is key in the process in developing explosive athletic basketball players," Price said. "It is crucial for basketball student-athletes to maximize their explosive potential on the court. We think this type of training will have the greatest effect not only on the vertical jump but also the other vital skills that it takes to become a superior basketball athlete."

Working closely with athletic trainer Al Martindale and the coaching staff is the most effective way to implement and monitor an effective workout regime that best suits the individual needs of the student-athlete. Price uses a hands-on method of coaching for teaching proper techniques and lifting methods.

"Toughness begins with practice and training. You cannot expect to be mentally tough in a game if you are not mentally tough during practice and training," Price said.

Basketball Training Program Goals:

- Maximize basketball athleticism by increasing the vertical jump.
- Increase lateral speed and explosion.
- Increase absolute strength.
- Increase explosive power through Olympic lifting.
- Increase sports specific agility.
- Increase level of anaerobic basketball conditioning and mental toughness.
- Strengthen joints and poorly developed muscle groups in order to prevent injuries.
- Enhance nutritional habits to optimize lean body mass to fat mass ratio.

"It is a long and rigorous season," Price concluded. "The team that is in the best shape mentally and physically will rise above the competition at the end of the season. All of our training and practices are focused around one goal: winning in March and April."

Basketball Strength Room

Fighting Illini basketball players have the opportunity improve their strength and conditioning at a state-of-the-art facility within the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility. Located just a few steps from the practice floor, the strength and conditioning room has the latest equipment to help UI players maximize their potential and prepare them for the long and demanding college basketball season.

The latest addition is the Vertimax, a machine that increases a player's vertical jump and overall body explosiveness. Players work out with a variety of free weights and other strength machines under the supervision of a full-time strength and conditioning coach.

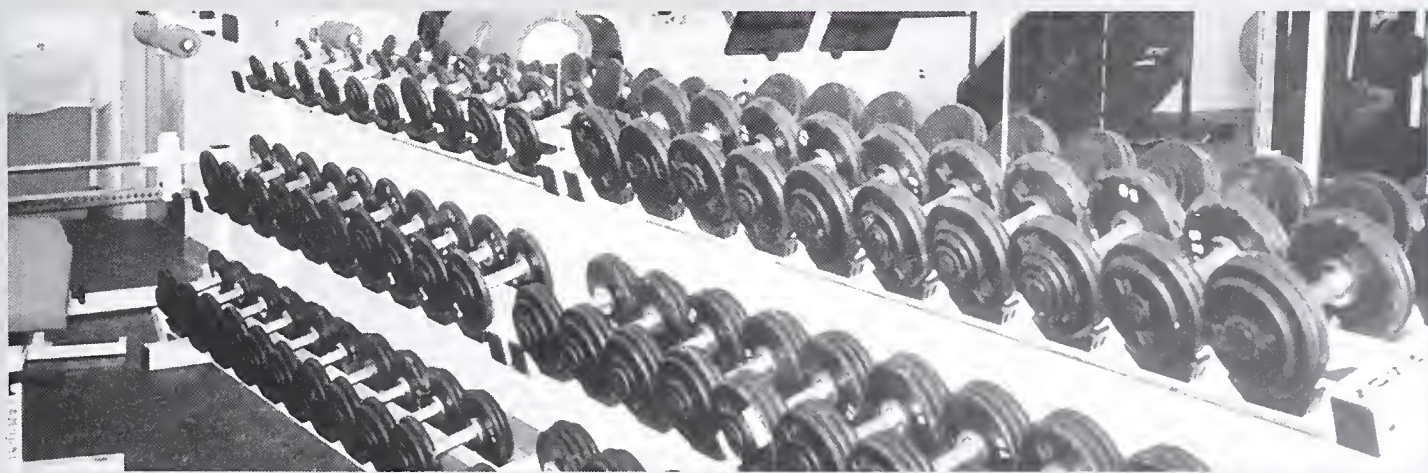

"We feel that the strength and condition of our team is vital to competing at the highest level," Illinois head coach Bruce Weber said. "The Big Ten is a strong and physical conference and our players work very hard in the weight room to be prepared for each game. If you look over time in this League, the strongest, toughest and most explosive teams are usually the most successful."

JIMMY PRICE Strength & Conditioning Coach

Jimmy Price, CSCS, SPN is in his second year with the Illini as an assistant strength and conditioning coach and sports nutritionist under Jim Zielinski. Currently, Price serves as the basketball Strength and Conditioning Coordinator as well as the Sports Nutritionist for both basketball teams. Prior to joining the staff at Illinois, Price served as an Assistant Strength Coach and Sports Performance Nutritionist at Texas Tech University where he spent five years working with the football, men's and women's tennis, track and field, and, most recently, the men's basketball team under Coach Bob Knight. Price earned his bachelor's degree in exercise sports science with an emphasis in fitness, wellness and nutrition from Texas Tech University.

A native of Amarillo, Texas, Price served in the United States Marine Corps from 1996-2002, where he was a physical training and nutritional liaison for the Marines of his detachment. After graduation he worked for the Red Raiders in the areas of Strength and Conditioning and Sports Nutrition. Price currently holds certifications as a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist and Specialist in Performance Nutrition.

UBBEN BASKETBALL COMPLEX

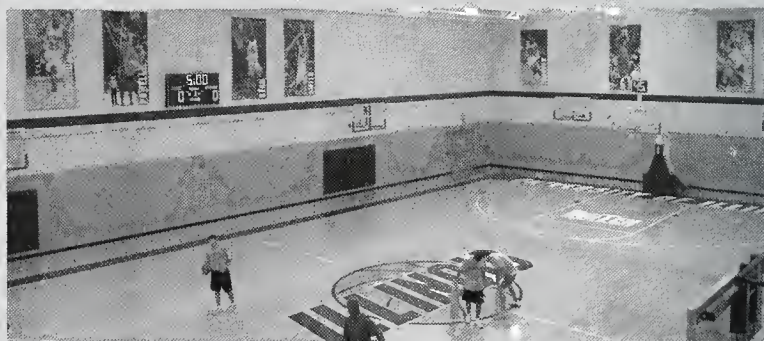

In October 1998, Illinois moved into the state-of-the-art Richard T. Ubben Basketball Complex on the campus of the University of Illinois. This $5.5 million dollar facility is a direct result of the university's commitment to excellence in athletics. It houses not only a full-sized practice court, but its features include locker rooms for the coaches and players, a players' lounge, video review room, training room and weight room. The 40,000-square-foot facility is home to everything the players need to make it through the day. After classes, players can spend time studying or using the computers in the video room. The locker room has lockers for each player and is adjacent to the players' lounge and video room.

When it's time to get taped before practice, the players just walk across the hall to the fully equipped training room which is located next to the practice court. In the area of strength and conditioning, the players have use of the weight room which has free weights, Nautilus equipment, treadmills and Stairmaster. The team utilizes both the weight room at the football stadium and at the Ubben Complex.

Banners hang over the practice court for all of Illinois' Big Ten Championships.

The basketball players enjoy their own lockerroom and lounge in the Ubben Basketball Complex.

The Ubben Basketball Complex gives the Illini a practice court all their own.

The college experience for a student-athlete is meant to encompass everything from the educational experience inside the classroom, to the experiences associated with athletics, to the extracurricular activities. It is important to finish college as a well-rounded individual with a variety of experiences and at the University of Illinois the list of opportunities both in and out of the educational realm is endless.

Scott Hall is one of the dorms that houses Fighting Illini freshmen.

Illinois offers first-rate residence halls with good food, as well as the nation's largest fraternity and sorority system, and independent housing options. Residence halls have 12 computer centers, accessible to residents 24 hours a day. Every University residence hall room has a computer outlet directly connected to the University's "backbone," enabling you to hook up your own computer to do your homework and class projects, and access e-mail and surf the Internet from your room. The Fighting Illini freshmen live in one of 22 residence halls on campus, while the upperclassmen share apartments both on and off campus.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics fields 19 sports teams and student-athletes are very active in supporting all of the teams throughout the year. There is always an opportunity for a sporting event on campus, either on week nights or on weekends. Whether it is volleyball, football or soccer games in the fall, or going to watch the Fighting Illini women's basketball team or tennis team play, the men's basketball players have plenty of opportunity to enjoy watching their fellow student-athletes in action.

The Intramural-Physical Education Building is one of the largest complexes on any campus, with four gymnasiums, 23 handball/racquetball courts, weight and exercise equipment, indoor and outdoor pools, tennis courts and more. The UI has one of the most comprehensive intramural sports programs in the nation.

In addition to hosting the men's and women's basketball teams in action, the Assembly Hall has hosted concerts, circuses, ice shows, and Broadway musicals. Beautifully restored Foellinger Auditorium on the Quad also is home to concerts, films and speakers. The Krannert Center for the Performing Arts holds four theaters for plays, dance, and concerts by famed individuals and groups, such as the Chicago Symphony.

There are approximately 850 registered student organizations at the University of Illinois to meet the individual needs and desires of each student. Quad Day, during the first week of school, offers a chance for students to sample the various activities available to them through the numerous organizations on campus.

If your interests include activities such as movies, bowling, or golf, the Champaign-Urbana area can accommodate you. There are several movie theaters, including a 16-screen theater about five minutes from campus. The U of I Orange and Blue Golf Course is open seven days a week and is also just minutes away from campus.

Additionally, the Champaign-Urbana community offers a large number and variety of restaurant choices. With a population of 110,000 the area houses plenty of shopping opportunities and other big-city amenities while still retaining a Midwestern college-town atmosphere.

The recently renovated Campustown is filled with student apartments, shopping and restaurants.

Founded in 1969, the African American Cultural Program provides a support system for students by advising, counseling, and offering programs that have an appeal to the students as well as the entire community. Some of the program efforts include recognition of Martin Luther King Holiday, Black History Month, Mom's Day programming and the Black Congratulatory program. The African American Cultural Center is located on the University of Illinois campus and hosts activities on a regular basis. Student workshops revolving around the cultural arts are in place throughout the school year and some are offered for course credit.

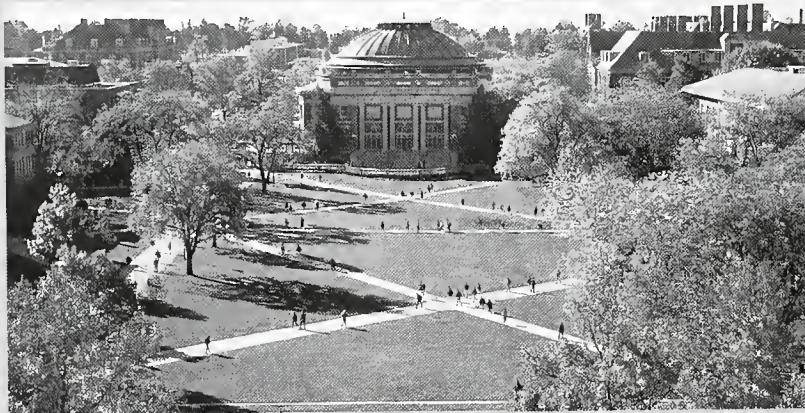

THIS IS ILLINOIS

A WORLD-CLASS UNIVERSITY

Discover how the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign Earns Its Reputation as a World-Class Leader in Research, Teaching and Public Engagement.

Since its founding in 1867, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has earned a reputation of international stature. Its distinguished faculty, outstanding resources, breadth of academic programs and research disciplines, and large, diverse student body constitute an educational community ideally suited for scholarship and research.

The Quad is the center of activity on campus.

Among the University's most significant resources is its talented and highly respected faculty. Many are recognized for exceptional scholarship with memberships in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Sciences, and the National Academy of Engineering; with the National Medal of Science and the Fields Medal in Mathematics; as National Science Foundation Young Investigators and as recipients of Presidential Early Career Awards for Scientists and Engineers; and by such organizations as the National Endowment for the Humanities, Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, National Academy of Education, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation.

Academic resources on campus are among the finest in the world. The University Library is the largest public university collection in the world, housing 22 million items in the main library and in the more than 40 departmental libraries and units. The library's computerized cataloging system was the first in the world to serve as the primary access to a large academic library. More than one million users worldwide access the online catalog each week.

A world leader in supercomputing design and applications, the University is home to the National Center for Supercomputing Applications, developer of the hypermedia browser Mosaic™, which revolutionized the use of the World Wide Web. Students have access to thousands of computer terminals in classrooms, residence halls, and campus libraries for use in classroom instruction, study, and research.

Students and scholars find the University an ideal place to conduct inter- and multi-disciplinary research. The most visible example of the University's commitment to such study is the Beckman Institute for Advanced Science and Technology, where eighteen research groups from sixteen University departments work within and across three broadly defined themes: biological intelligence, human-computer intelligent interaction, and molecular and electronic nanostructures.

The University has a fundamental commitment to undergraduate education. Over 28,000 undergraduate students are enrolled in nine undergraduate divisions, which together offer some 4,000 courses in more than 150 fields of study. The divisions are the College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences; College of Applied Life Studies; College of Business; College of Communications; College of Education; College of Engineering; College of Fine and Applied Arts; College of Liberal Arts and Sciences; and Institute of Aviation.

Undergraduate admission is highly selective. In a typical freshman class, students in the middle 50% had ACT scores between 25 and 30 and ranked between the 83rd and 96th percentiles of their high school graduating classes.

The University enrolls over 9,000 graduate and professional students in more than 100 disciplines. It is among the top five universities in number of earned doctorates awarded annually in the United States.

Also integral to the University's mission is a commitment to public engagement.

Each year about 65,000 Illinois residents participate in scores of conferences, institutes, credit and noncredit courses, and workshops presented on campus and statewide. The University's Cooperative Extension Service comes into contact with nearly two million Illinois residents, providing 4-H, nutrition intervention, and other programs in rural and urban settings.

Research and class projects take students and professors outside their classrooms and laboratories to share expertise and technical support with Illinois farmers, manufacturing firms, and businesses. In a typical year, student volunteers log more than 60,000 volunteer hours in blood drives, day care centers, prisons, senior citizen centers, and tutoring programs.

Another prime indicator of the University's excellence is the success of its alumni: 13 alumni are Nobel laureates and another 18 have won Pulitzer Prizes.

A major center for the arts, the campus attracts dozens of nationally and internationally renowned artists each year to its widely acclaimed Krannert Center for the Performing Arts. Designed by alumnus Max Abramovitz, an architect of New York City's Lincoln Center, the facility has four indoor theaters and an outdoor amphitheater. Together, they host more than 350 performances each year. The University also supports two major museums: the Krannert Art Museum and Kinkead Pavilion, second only to the Art Institute of Chicago among Illinois public art museums; and the Spurlock Museum, a museum of world history and culture.

Other major facilities include the multipurpose Assembly Hall (16,500 seats), which hosts concerts, convocations, theater, and sporting events; Memorial Stadium (70,000 seats), site of Big Ten Conference football games; and the Intramural-Physical Education Building, one of the largest recreational facilities of its kind on a university campus.

Located in east central Illinois in the twin cities of Urbana and Champaign (combined population 100,000), the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is the state's flagship public university.

ILLINOIS STUDENT-ATHLETES SUCCEED IN THE CLASSROOM

- The Fall 2003 cumulative Grade Point Average for student-athletes was a 3.0 on a 4.0 scale.
- In the Fall 2003 semester, nine athletic teams had GPAs of 3.0 or higher.
- In the Fall 2003 semester, 16 student-athletes from 10 different sports earned perfect 4.0 GPAs and nearly 50 percent of student-athletes earned GPAs better than 3.0.
- Student-Athletes posted a 3.0 GPA in the Spring 2004 semester, with 52 percent of all student-athletes ending with 3.0 or better GPA.
- 23 student-athletes in 13 different sports posted a perfect 4.0 GPA in the Spring 2004 semester.
- In the Spring 2004 semester, 11 athletic teams had GPAs of 3.0 or higher.
- Men's basketball celebrated the graduation of its lone senior from the class of 2004: Jerrance Howard.

Illinois' most recent graduates wait in long lines to have their picture taken at the Alma Mater statue on Graduation Day.

Year In and Year Out, the University of Illinois Fields Some of the Most Competitive Teams in the Big Ten Conference - and the Nation as Well.

BASEBALL

- Sophomore catcher Chris Robinson was selected to the All-Big Ten team after a banner season. He led the Illini with a .359 overall batting average, .342 in the Big Ten. Senior pitcher Tim Gorski and junior third baseman Chad Frk each were named third-team All-Big Ten.
- Gorski and senior hurler Ted Rowe both won Big Ten Pitcher of the Week awards in 2004. Rowe earned the honor after throwing five perfect and seven shutout innings in his season-opening start against Western Kentucky. Gorski snagged his award after tossing his first career shutout, a 3-0 win over Big Ten-leading Michigan State.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

- The Illini finished 26-7, 13-3 in the Big Ten. That conference mark gave Illinois its fourth Big Ten Championship in the last seven years and its first outright conference championship since 1952. The Illini garnered a No. 5 seed in the NCAA tournament, advancing to the Sweet Sixteen for the third time in the last four seasons. Illinois' 26 wins tied for the third-most in school history.
- The Orange and Blue had to win its final 10 games of the regular season to clinch the Big Ten title, six straight on the road. The Illini's 12-game winning streak was its longest after Jan. 1 since winning 13 straight in 1943.
- Illinois' 63-3 record at the Assembly Hall is the best mark in Division I over the last five seasons. Similarly, Illinois is one of two schools nationally to win at least 25 games in each of the past four seasons.
- Sophomore Deron Williams was a first-team All-Big Ten selection, while sophomore Dee Brown was named to the second team and sophomore James Augustine and junior Roger Powell were honorable mention selections. Brown was also named an honorable mention All-American.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

- Forward Cindy Dallas won the Big Ten rebounding title for the third consecutive year, becoming the only player ever to win the title three straight years. She also became only the sixth player in Big Ten history to record 1,000 rebounds, and just the second since 1988. Dallas finished her career with 1,014 boards. She was selected 21st in the WNBA draft by the San Antonio Silver Stars.
- Dallas also earned second-team All-Big Ten honors by the media and honorable mention by the coaches. Angelina Williams was named third-team All-Big Ten by the media and honorable mention by coaches, and Tiffanie Guthrie was selected honorable mention All-Big Ten by the media.
- Illinois built a 16-point lead and held on to defeat No. 20/22 Ohio State on Jan. 8, giving Illinois a victory over a ranked opponent in eight straight years.

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

- Freshman Trent Hoert earned a spot on the U.S. Junior Men's Cross Country team and was the fifth scorer at the World Cross Country championships in Brussels, Belgium. Hoert is Illinois' first runner to compete on the squad.
- Sophomore Jason Bill was Illinois' top finisher in each of the six races he ran, winning the Pack-It-Up Illini Challenge and the Missouri Cross Country Challenge. He earned Big Ten male runner of the week of Sept. 9. Hoert finished third at the Pack-It-Up Challenge.

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

- Illinois placed third at regionals, the highest finish by a Big Ten team in the region. It was the Illini's best finish since 2000.
- Cassie Hunt won the Big Ten Freshman of the Year, the first Illinois runner to win the award. Hunt ran at the NCAA championships, the first Illini freshman to do so. She set a school record for freshmen in the 6,000m race at the NCAA meet.
- Illinois also won the Pack-It-Up Illini Challenge.

FOOTBALL

- Four Illini were named All-Big Ten: OT Sean Bubin, LB Matt Sinclair, DE Derrick Strong and PK Steve Weatherford.

The men's tennis team won its eighth straight Big Ten title and also claimed the ITA National Indoor Championship.

- True freshman E.B. Halsey ranked in the Big Ten in four categories – rushing, all-purpose yards, receptions and kickoff return yards.

MEN'S GOLF

- Ranked in the Top 25 for most of the season, Illinois finished second in the Big Ten for the third consecutive season, also earning its third straight trip to NCAA Regional competition.
- Senior Joe Affrunti was named first-team All-Big Ten and sophomore Patrick Nagle earned second-team All-Big Ten honors.
- Nagle tied the second-lowest round in school history on Oct. 13, shooting a 6-under-par 65 during the second round of the Alister MacKenzie Invitational.

WOMEN'S GOLF

- Illinois' top finish of the season came at the Illini Spring Classic where the Orange and Blue finished second, missing the team title by just one stroke. Illinois shot its lowest round of the season during the final round of the Classic, a 296, which tied the third-lowest team score in school history.
- Senior Marla Cox led the Illini in scoring average during the 2004 season. She finished her UI career ranked fourth in school history for career stroke average.
- Senior Michelle Carroll captured medalist honors at the Illini Spring Classic with a score of 145, the second-best 36-hole score in school history.

MEN'S GYMNASTICS

- Illinois won the Big Ten title at Huff Hall and finished third at the NCAA championships, which were held at Assembly Hall. The Big Ten championship was Illinois' first in 15 years and the NCAA third-place finish was Illinois' highest since 1998.
- Sophomore Justin Spring and senior Bob Rogers each won individual national titles. Spring won the high bar and Rogers won pommel horse. Spring and junior Ben Newman also won individual Big Ten titles. Spring took the conference floor exercise crown, while Newman won pommel horse.
- Five Illini earned All-America honors on seven events, the most since 1957. Spring, Newman, Rogers, Adam Pummer and Peter Shostchuk were the 2004 All-Americans.
- Coach Yoshi Hayasaki was named Big Ten and Central Region Coach of the Year, while assistant coach Jon Valdez won National Assistant Coach of the Year.

WOMEN'S GYMNASTICS

- Junior Ashley Williams and freshman Cara Pomeroy became the first Illini gymnasts to compete at the NCAA championships since 1987. Pomeroy competed on the uneven bars after winning the event at the South Central regional with a perfect 10.0 – the first in Illinois history. Williams advanced in the all-around after scoring a 39.275 at the regional meet.

- Illinois advanced to regional competition as a team for the first time since 1998 and ended the season ranked No. 22 nationally.
- Williams and Pomeroy each earned second-team All-Big Ten honors. It was Williams' third consecutive All-Big Ten award after being named to the first team in 2002 and the second team in 2003.

SOCCER

- Illinois finished with the best record in school history – 16-4-2 – and won its first-ever Big Ten Tournament title with three consecutive 2-0 wins to advance to the NCAA tournament for the third time in four years.
- Junior GK Leisha Alcía earned first team All-America honors from three different organizations (NSCAA, SoccerBuzz and CSTV) and fellow junior Tara Hurless was a second-team All-America selection by NSCAA. Alcía, Hurless and senior Meghan Kolze were all selected as first-team All-Great Lakes Region and first-team All-Big Ten honorees.
- With one of the top defenses in the nation, the Illini reached their best ranking in school history – No. 7 by SoccerBuzz and No. 9 by NSCAA – and set school records for shutouts (13), consecutive shutouts (6), lowest goals-against average (0.53), best road record (5-1-1) and best regular-season Big Ten finish (second).
- Coach Janet Rayfield was named Great Lakes Region Coach of the Year by SoccerBuzz.

SOFTBALL

- Illinois finished its best season in school history, taking second place in the Big Ten regular season and tournament, as well as second in the Baylor regional and compiling a 45-21-1 record.
- The Illini nearly upset Team USA on its "Aiming for Athens" tour, falling 3-2 to the Olympic Team. Senior Erin Montgomery hit a two-run home run off Lisa Fernandez to give the Illini a 2-0 lead.
- Senior pitching ace Amanda Fortune was named first-team All-Big Ten, the first Illini pitcher to earn the honor. Sophomore first baseman Jenna Hall earned first-team All-Big Ten honors for the second straight season. Fortune also was named first-team All-Great Lakes Region.
- Coach Terri Sullivan, assistants Donna DiBiase and Mike Larabee and volunteer assistant Larry Crews were named the Chicago Bulls/White Sox Training Academy 2004 College Coaching Staff of the Year.

SWIMMING & DIVING

- Junior Ilkay Dikmen qualified for her third-straight NCAA championships, competing in both the 100 and 200-meter breaststroke.
- Illini diver Lisa Fish qualified for the NCAA Zone Diving championships for the third straight season.
- The Orange and Blue set 19 records on the season, 17 by swimming and two by diving.
- Freshman sprinter Barbie Viney set a pair of school records in the 50 and 100-meter freestyles.

MEN'S TENNIS

- Advanced to the Final Four of the NCAA championships after being ranked No. 1 nationally all season. Finished the regular season 25-0 overall and 10-0 in the Big Ten, giving Illinois its eighth-straight regular-season conference championship and third straight conference tournament title.
- Won the ITA National Indoor Championship for the second straight year.
- Senior Brian Wilson became Illinois' first No. 1-ranked player in school history.
- Carried an NCAA-record winning streak of 64-straight dual match victories into a Final Four match-up against UCLA before falling to the Bruins.
- Senior Michael Calkins became the winningest player in UI history with 246 combined singles and doubles victories.
- Phil Stolt was selected to the All-Big Ten team for the first time. In addition, Stolt won the prestigious Big Ten Medal of Honor at the annual UI Scholar-Athlete Banquet.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

- Illinois reached its highest-ever national ranking in program history - No. 16 - and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the second year in a row and the fifth time in the last six years.
- Finished the season at 17-6 (.739), which was the highest winning percentage since Illinois' first women's tennis team went 6-0 in 1975.
- Senior Jennifer McGaffigan became the winningest player in program history with 209 combined singles and doubles victories. McGaffigan won the prestigious Big Ten Medal of Honor at the annual UI Scholar-Athlete Banquet.

The men's gymnastics team won the 2004 Big Ten Championship and placed third at the NCAA Championships.

MEN'S TRACK AND FIELD

- Twelve Illini athletes qualified for the NCAA Regional meet, with four advancing to the NCAA Championships. Abe Reed-Jones and Adrian Walker both earned All-America honors in the 400 hurdles.
- Illinois finished fourth at the Big Ten Indoor championships and fifth at the Outdoor Championships in coach Wayne Angel's first season, the team's best finish in both meets since 2000.
- Abe Reed-Jones was the Big Ten Champion in the 400m hurdles at the Outdoor Championships. The Illini had six All-Big Ten honorees during the indoor season and 10 during the outdoor season.

WOMEN'S TRACK AND FIELD

- After qualifying seven athletes for the NCAA Regional meet, four Illini moved on to compete at the NCAA Championships, with Carlene Robinson earning All-America accolades in the 800 meters and Cassie Hunt in the 3000 steeplechase.
- Illinois finished third at the Big Ten Outdoor Championships after taking seventh at the Indoor Conference Championships.
- Yvonne Mensah won the 60m hurdles at the Big Ten Indoor championships, was named first team All-Big Ten and won the Big Ten Freshman of the Year award. At the Outdoor championships, Camile Robinson won the 400m hurdles crown and the 4x400 relay of Robinson, Carlene Robinson, Mensah and Shanna Pickett took home the title as well. In all, 12 Illini earned first or second team All-Big Ten status for the outdoor season.
- The team of Mensah, Pickett and the Robinson sisters won the sprint medley relay at the Drake Relays.

VOLLEYBALL

- Illinois posted a record of 26-7 on the season and tied for second place in the Big Ten with a 15-5 mark. Both records were Illini bests since 1992. The Orange and Blue reached the NCAA Sweet Sixteen and finished the season ranked No. 15 in the nation.
- Coach Don Hardin was named Big Ten Coach of the Year.
- Senior MB Lisa Argabright was named a third-team All-American, first-team All-Big Ten and All-Region selection after leading the Illini in kills, hitting percentage and blocks on the year.
- Junior setter Erin Virtue was a first-team All-Big Ten and All-Region selection, and received honorable mention All-America honors. She ranked second in the Big Ten and 11th in the nation in assists while leading the team in service aces and ranking second in digs.

WRESTLING

- Illinois won the Big Ten regular-season dual meet title.
- The Illini had a school-record five All-Americans (Pete Friedl, Brian Glynn, Mark Jayne, Kyle Ott and Alex Tirapelle).
- Tirapelle and Jayne each won Big Ten titles. Tirapelle at 157 and Jayne at 133.
- The Orange and Blue won the Midlands Tournament title for the first time in the event's 41-year history.
- The Illini earned their first No. 1 team ranking in the school's history in two polls during the season.

Coch Weber Has Been A Part Of 22 Postseason Appearances And 10 Conference Championships During His 25-Year Coaching Career.

It took just one season for Bruce Weber to etch his name in the Big Ten and Illinois record books after leading the Fighting Illini to their first outright Big Ten title in 52 years during the 2003-04 season. In leading his young team that featured just one senior on the roster, Weber became just the third coach in the history of the Big Ten to win an outright title in his first season at a school.

Illinois had to win 10 straight to end the regular season to claim the championship, including six-straight wins on the road. It marked the first time since 1956 that the Illini won at least 10 conference games in a row.

Weber joins Wisconsin's Guy Lowman in 1918 and Minnesota's Bill Musselman in 1972 as the only league coaches to win an outright title in their first seasons. He is also just the 11th Big Ten coach to at least share a Big Ten title in his first season. Weber also became just the sixth coach in the conference since 1951 (when Michigan State joined the league) to defeat every other conference team in his first season.

Illinois' 26 wins in 2003-04 tied the third winningest season in school history, and Weber also led Illinois to its third Sweet Sixteen appearance in the past four years with NCAA Tournament victories over Murray State and Cincinnati.

Weber took charge as the 16th Fighting Illini men's basketball coach on April 30, 2003, after spending the previous five seasons as head coach at Southern Illinois University. He led the Salukis to the top of the Missouri Valley Conference with championships in 2002 and 2003 before continuing the trend at Illinois where the Illini have now won four Big Ten titles in the last seven seasons.

Weber came to Champaign-Urbana after compiling a 103-54 (.656) record in five seasons as the head coach at Southern Illinois University. He gained 18 years of experience in the Big Ten Conference as an assistant at Purdue under Gene Keady, helping the Boilermakers to six Big Ten championships and 17 postseason appearances.

Energetic and personable, Weber has appeared on numerous national radio and television programs on networks such as ESPN, Fox Sports and CNN. Fame and success have not changed Weber. He remains generous and humble. On road trips, no job is beneath him as he often helps team managers load the bus or passes out drinks and sandwiches to his players and staff.

HEAD COACH BRUCE WEBER

“People talk about dream jobs. For me, I had a dream of being a Big Ten head coach, and this is that opportunity - not only to be a Big Ten coach, but also to be in a program that I believe is one of the best in the country, one that has a chance to win a national championship. That’s a mouthful, but I believe it can be done.”

-Illini Head Coach Bruce Weber

Weber's warm personality has made him a popular figure in the state of Illinois, as he is a frequent guest at civic clubs, booster club meetings, golf outings and many other speaking engagements.

In his five seasons at SIU, Weber took the Saluki program to the top of the Missouri Valley Conference, winning league titles in 2002 and 2003. He posted records of 28-8 and 24-7 in his last two seasons, leading the Salukis to back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances including a run to the Sweet Sixteen in 2002 with wins over Texas Tech and Georgia at the United Center in Chicago. Weber's 52 wins combined in 2002 and 2003 ranked among the Top 5 in the nation. His .689 (62-28) winning percentage in MVC play ranked 12th in the long history of the league. Weber earned Missouri Valley Conference Coach-of-the-Year honors following the 2003 season.

The trademark of the Bruce Weber-led teams has been fundamentally sound defense, holding opponents to 40 percent shooting from the field in 2002 and 2003 and to 42 percent this past season. On the offensive end, the Salukis averaged 75.5 points in 2002 and 74.5 points last season, while Illinois led the Big Ten in scoring this past season, averaging 72.8 points.

At the age of 48, Weber has 25 years of coaching experience at the collegiate level with one season at Western Kentucky under Keady before moving with the long-time Boilermaker coach to West Lafayette the following year. He was named the Southern Illinois head coach prior to the 1998-99 season. In his one season at Western Kentucky, the Hilltoppers won the Ohio Valley Conference and advanced to the NCAA Tournament. In his 18 years at Purdue, the Boilermakers won six Big

Last season, Bruce Weber became just the third coach in the 99-year history of the Big Ten Conference to win an outright Big Ten Championship in his first season.

Weber's association with Keady also allowed Weber to gain experience on the international level. He was an assistant coach for the USA Team at the World University Games in 1989 and head court coach for the Pan American team trials in 1991. Weber assisted Gene Keady in preparation for the Jones Cup, World University Games and Pan American Games.

—Bruce Weber

Wayne McClain begins his fourth year with the Fighting Illini coaching staff after a legendary prep career at Peoria Manual High School. He came to Illinois following an illustrious seven-year career as head coach at Manual where he led the Rams to three-straight AA state championships in his first three years as coach. USA Today named his 1997 squad, led by future Illini Sergio McClain, Marcus Griffin and Frank Williams, National High School Champions, and the senior McClain was named National High School Coach of the Year.

The Rams had records of 32-2, 31-2 and 31-1 in his first three seasons as head coach, winning state titles each season. McClain also earned Illinois Basketball Coaches Association Coach of the Year in 1995, '96 and '97. The Rams won Midstate Six Conference titles in each of his first five years as head coach, while Manual also advanced to the Sweet Sixteen of the AA state tournament in 1998 and 1999.

He began his high school career in 1977, serving as an assistant basketball coach to the legendary Dick Van Scyoc for 18 years until being named head coach in 1995. McClain helped the Rams to the first of four straight state titles in 1994. His teaching career includes teaching at the sixth grade level, teaching high school physical education and as the Manual High School Dean of Students.

Wayne's son, Sergio, was a player on all four Manual state championship squads prior to his career at Illinois, where he helped the Illini to two Big Ten titles. While at Manual, McClain coached four future Illini players including Jerry Hester, Marcus Griffin, his son, Sergio, and Frank Williams.

“Wayne has given us continuity in the program and is a person who is known and respected throughout the state of Illinois because of his program at Manual,” Weber said. “Add to the fact that both his son and daughter attended the university and it shows he has great pride in Illinois.”

McClain earned a master's degree in physical education at Illinois State University in 1982 while teaching at Manual.

McClain has two children. His son, Sergio, competed four years as a student-athlete on the UI men's basketball team from 1998-2001 and graduated from Illinois, and his daughter, Brindeshie, is a senior at the UI this fall.

Wayne McClain is in his fourth season as an Illini assistant coach.

—Bruce Weber

Jay Price begins his second season at Illinois after he joined the Fighting Illini basketball staff on May 14, 2003. In addition to his coaching and scouting responsibilities, Price handles a number of administrative duties for the Illini program.

Price came to Illinois after spending 10 years as an assistant coach at Purdue under Gene Keady. Price served as Purdue's recruiting coordinator and oversaw camps, team travel and scheduling along with his coaching duties. During his time at Purdue the Boilermakers compiled a record of 220-105 (.677), winning three Big Ten championships and earning eight NCAA Tournament berths. Weber and Price worked together as assistants on the Purdue staff for five seasons, from 1994-98.

"Jay is one of the most experienced coaches in the Big Ten and knows what it takes to be successful in our conference," Weber said. "He is a very hard worker who has proven to be quite an asset, as he has experience in every aspect of helping run a college program, including recruiting, scheduling, travel, summer camps, scouting and player development."

Price began his coaching career with a two-year stint as an assistant at Oklahoma under former coach Billy Tubbs before going to Purdue. During that time, he also served as manager for the U.S. Olympic men's basketball "Dream Team" while the squad practiced in the United States during the summer of 1992.

A native of Oklahoma City, Okla., Price was a basketball manager at Kansas for four years under former coaches Larry Brown and Roy Williams, serving as head manager for Williams as both a junior and senior. During his time at Kansas, the Jayhawks won the national championship in 1988 and finished as national runner-up in 1991.

Price is the vice president of the NABC assistant coaches committee.

Price received a bachelor's degree in journalism from Kansas in 1991. He and his wife, Beth, have a daughter, Katherine.

-Bruce Weber

Tracy Webster is in his first season as an assistant coach with the Illini after being hired on May 17, 2004.

A native of Harvey, Ill., Webster came to Illinois after serving as an assistant at Purdue last season.

Prior to coaching in the Big Ten Conference, Webster spent three seasons as an assistant at Ball State from 2001-03. While in Muncie, Ind., he helped Ball State to the school's first outright Mid-American Conference West Division Championships and the Elite Eight of the National Invitational Tournament in 2002.

"Tracy brings a great connection to Chicago after a terrific career at Thornton High School. He knows the Big Ten Conference, after playing at Wisconsin and working as an assistant at Purdue. In his career at the Division I level, Tracy has had the opportunity to branch out and recruit many areas of the country, making him even more valuable. Our assistant coaches played a big part in the search, and all were strongly in favor of Tracy joining the Illini."

Webster was a three-year letter-winner and three-time team captain at the University of Wisconsin from 1992-94. He was team MVP and earned second-team All-Big Ten honors in 1992, was a third-team all-conference pick in '93 and earned honorable mention honors in '94.

Webster is the school record holder for career assists (501) and ranks No. 2 in career steals (183). He also stands 11th on the Badgers' career scoring chart with 1,264 points. He owns two Wisconsin season records, setting marks for 3-point percentage

After wrapping up his playing career, Webster served as the coordinator of community outreach programs at Wisconsin from 1994-97. He began his coaching career as the head freshman and varsity assistant coach at Verona High School in Wisconsin from 1997-98. He then served as an assistant at the Division II level at Wisconsin-Parkside during the 1998-99 season.

Prior to his tenure at Ball State, Webster spent 1999-2000 as the director of Webster Extramural Basketball Productions and as a care coordinator at Willowglen Academy in Milwaukee.

Webster earned his bachelor's degree from Wisconsin in 1995. He is married to the former Shenetta Richardson.

Bruce Weber hired Gary Nottingham as assistant to the head coach for the program on June 11, 2003.

Nottingham, who worked with Weber as a graduate assistant at Western Kentucky, was head coach at Glenville State College from 1983-1997 and at the University of South Carolina-Spartanburg from 1997-2002, compiling an overall record of 272-262. At the end of the 2002 season at Spartanburg, Nottingham ranked among the Top 50 in career wins among the 290 active NCAA Div. II basketball coaches.

Nottingham was just 26 years old when he earned his first head coaching position at Glenville in 1983. He was the 1993 West Virginia Conference Coach of the Year after leading Glenville to a 21-5 record and No. 18 ranking in NAIA, the school's best season since 1942. The Pioneers finished second in the WVC that season with 17 league wins (a school record), the school's highest conference finish since '42. Nottingham led Glenville to second place at the 1995 WVC Tournament and to five semifinal appearances in his 14 seasons.

His best season at South Carolina-Spartanburg came in 1998 when he led the Rifles to a 22-7 mark, the NCAA Div. II Regional Semifinals and Top 20 national ranking. Spartanburg won the 1998 Peach Belt Championship.

“Gary has brought a ton of experience to our program,” Weber said. “Since he was named a head coach at the age of 26, he had to deal with many things that I never did, even as an assistant in the Big Ten.

He has been a trusted friend since we were together at Western Kentucky, and a person I have always felt comfortable in talking to about basketball. If I needed an in-bounds play or advice about strategy, I could always call him and pick his brain about ideas. Gary gives our staff a different mixture than most, and is someone I use as another consultant about any issue on a daily basis.”

Nottingham earned a bachelor's degree from Glenville State in 1979 and a master's degree from Western Kentucky in 1980. He and his wife, Jennifer, have two children, Paulina and Jacob Quin.

SPORTS MEDICINE

When it comes to sports medicine, the University of Illinois has the finest in medical personnel to keep the Fighting Illini basketball players healthy and on the court. The sports medicine staff's No. 1 goal is the prevention of injuries, but in the unfortunate event of an injury the staff works diligently to get the athlete back into playing condition as quickly as possible.

The sports medicine team would not be complete without the team physicians, who tend to the medical needs of the student-athletes.

Dr. Jeff Kyrouac is the head team physician and Dr. Robert Gurtler is the team orthopedic surgeon.

Kyrouac is in his second season in this capacity for the UI basketball program, and has served the Fighting Illini football program since January 2001. He directs the drug-education and drug-testing programs, and provides consultations to the athletic training staff. He received his M.D. from Southern Illinois University, School of Medicine in 1980 and is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine. He serves as a clinical Assistant Professor of Medicine at the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

Gurtler has been on the team's medical staff since 1983. He is responsible for treating orthopedic injuries to athletes in varsity sports. In addition to his duties with the U of I, Gurtler has a private practice at Carle Hospital, focusing primarily on sports-related injuries.

The Sports Medicine Staff: Dr. Jeff Kyrouac, Al Martindale and Dr. Robert Gurtler.

AL MARTINDALE Athletic Trainer/ Director of Sports Medicine

The basketball athletic training staff is headed by Director of Sports Medicine Al Martindale, who is in his 25th year as a head trainer at the Division I level, his 22nd year at Illinois and his second with the Illini basketball squad.

The native of Postville, Iowa, spent six years at the University of Hawaii, including three as head trainer, before accepting the Illinois position.

Martindale received his B.S. in physical education from Upper Iowa University in 1973. From UIU he went to Indiana State, where he earned a master's degree in 1974. His next stop was Moline (Ill.) High School, where he spent three years before taking the position at Hawaii.

In addition to working with the basketball team, Martindale's responsibilities include the prevention and treatment of injuries for athletes in all 19 of Illinois' varsity sports. He also supervises seven full-time assistants, two graduate assistants and more than two dozen student trainers.

Martindale and his wife, Lisa, have two children, Meghan and Marc, and live in Champaign.

ROD CARDINAL

Director of Basketball Operations

After 30 years as head athletic trainer of the Fighting Illini men's basketball team, Rod Cardinal is in his second year as director of basketball operations. Cardinal handles many aspects of the basketball program, including coordinating all travel plans for the team. He is also in charge of preparations for the centennial celebration of Illinois basketball that will take place throughout the 2004-05 season.

Cardinal joined the Illinois staff as assistant athletics trainer at the UI in July 1973 and retired from that position in the summer of 2003 as one of the most respected athletic trainers in the nation. Prior to his appointment at Illinois, he served in a similar capacity as athletic trainer at the U.S. Military Academy.

A native of Blaine, Minn., Cardinal graduated from Southwest State University (Minn.) in 1971 with a B.S. in health and physical education. He was a student trainer in high school, and in college for three years prior to his West Point position. He also played varsity basketball in college.

Cardinal earned a master's degree in 1977 from Illinois in physical education and sports medicine with an additional emphasis in educational administration. He received the Alumni Achievement Award from Southwest State University in 1995 and has been honored as an Honory Varsity "I" member at Illinois.

Mary and Rod Cardinal

Cardinal, along with his wife, Mary, have three grown children and reside in Tolono. Their youngest son, Brian, was an All-Big Ten selection at Purdue and is a member of the NBA's Memphis Grizzlies.

EQUIPMENT STAFF AND MANAGERS

Basketball Equipment Managers (L-R): Steve Bode, Jesse Ratliff and Andy Dixon.

These three men have the all-encompassing job of keeping up with the Fighting Illini's equipment needs. Jesse Ratliff is in his 18th year with the equipment staff. Ratliff and his wife, Barbara White, have three children. Steve Bode joined the staff in 1993 after working for the UI Division of Campus Recreation the previous five years. He is married to the former Nancy Edwards. Andy Dixon oversees the entire athletics equipment staff and has been on the UI staff since 1980. He and his wife, Cheryl, have two daughters, Whitney and Andrea.

Richmonds Endow Basketball Coach's Position

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has been close to Jack Richmond all his life.

The Champaign resident, U of I graduate, retired businessman, is a longtime benefactor to his alma mater. A lifelong Fighting Illini fan, Jack Richmond and his wife, Marge, endowed the salary of the men's basketball head coach position with a gift of $2 million. This gift significantly increased their previous seven-figure commitment to the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Their generosity extends across the U-C campus. In May 2004, Jack made a six-figure gift creating the Jack C. Richmond Scholarships for the benefit of student athletes who are members of the men's varsity gymnastics team. In September 2003, the couple made a $1.5 million gift that will name and dedicate the Richmond Family Gallery, the first floor reception area of the planned University of Illinois Alice Campbell Alumni Center. The Richmonds also provided a $2 million gift to the College of Communications in 1998 that created the Richmond Journalism Teaching Studio, a broadcast facility for journalism students in Campbell Hall for Public Telecommunication. The Richmond Studio and the Richmond Family Gallery honor Jack and Marge as well as the memory of Jack's parents, Arthur Dean and Mildred Hummel Richmond.

"The Richmond Family Endowed Men's Head Basketball Coach" is another example of the generations-long benevolence of the Richmond family. Jack, whose ancestors helped settle Champaign County, said his parents contributed to the U of I for the construction of Memorial Stadium. Seven-year-old Jack was on hand for the dedication of Memorial Stadium on Oct. 18, 1924, a day forever highlighted by Red Grange's five touchdowns during an Illinois romp over top-ranked Michigan. Jack has been hooked on Fighting Illini sports ever since.

But before Jack could attend the U of I, he learned a few lessons in life. The Richmonds were devastated by the Great Depression, losing their significant holdings of farmland and other assets. The dramatic change in lifestyle had a profound effect on Jack.

It also made him further appreciate the University of Illinois.

His years at the U of I were greatly satisfying. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity and was active in sports. As a freshman gymnast who earned his numerals with the U of I team, Jack said he broke his sternum following a dismount from the flying rings. No longer able to compete as a gymnast, he focused his attention on weight training. At that point, weights weren't popular and were nonexistent at the U of I.

"I always thought that weight training, if done properly, would help athletes. Nobody believed me," he said.

Still, he convinced Seward Staley, director of the U of I School of Physical Education, to purchase a set of Olympic weights. A small but dedicated weight lifting team was formed, and the sport spread to first to the intramural level and then was adopted by the physical education department as a P.E. course.

Today, the benefits of weight training are widely recognized and top-notch equipment is readily available across campus. Jack smiles and says, "I feel like I was 60 years ahead of my time."

And those muscles paid off for Jack, who was a railroad worker, wrecking crew member, meat truck driver, corn detassler, lifeguard, bouncer and even a model for the U of I art school to pay for his education. He graduated in 1943 with a bachelor's degree in agriculture.

He followed up his four years of ROTC at the U of I with a tour in the Army. Then he put his degree to work when he joined the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service as a county farm planner, opening district offices in Macon County and Clark County.

Later, Jack was recruited by a former member of the U of I gymnastics team as a salesman for Marchant Calculators. His capacity to sell was exceptional, and he soon had clients from area grain elevator operators to the U of I. He remained with Marchant, which was acquired by Smith Corona and became known as SCM Corp., until 1972. Then he was ready to embark on a new course — the stock market.

He had dabbled in the market since 1955, but by the early 1970s he had the time and resources to become more active in the stock market. He enjoyed success in this realm as well, and was more than willing to share. A donor since 1965, his generosity to the U of I increased significantly over the years. Jack and his mother became members of the Presidents Council in 1976 and Marge became a member in 1990. The Richmonds are lifetime members of the Alumni Association as well.

Always interested in athletics at the U of I, Jack and Mildred Richmond had made a $1 million commitment to the Athletic Department in 1981. He became an honorary member of the I Man's Association and has been a member and former president of the Illini Quarterback Club since 1955. He also joined the Rebounders Club shortly after former head coach Lou Henson founded it. Jack is also a life member of the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund.

The Richmond name will be forever associated with athletics at the U of I through the endowment of the men's basketball head coach position. Jack said he hopes his gift ensures success for the Fighting Illini basketball program for future generations through the Richmond Family Endowed Men's Head Basketball Coach.

For lifelong Illini fan and generous supporter Jack Richmond, it just doesn't get any better.

2004 BIG TEN CHAMPIONS

THE FIGHTING ILLINI

2004-05 OUTLOOK

The top 10 scorers return from the 2004 Big Ten championship squad, and expectations for the 2005 season are flying high in Champaign-Urbana. In fact, several preseason prognosticators have the Fighting Illini standing alone April 4 in St. Louis. Bruce Weber begins his second season at the helm after leading the Illini to their first outright conference title in 52 years with a 13-3 mark last season. Illinois is in a period of unprecedented success with four Big Ten titles in the last seven seasons, including three in the last four years. The Fighting Illini advanced to the Sweet Sixteen in the 2004 NCAA Tournament and are looking for more in 2005.

"Last year was such a transition season; now that's over," said Weber. "We fought through it and had success at the end. Now there is no feeling-out period. Here it is. We know our goal. We know each other, and now we're going after it. Our focus is a little different. It's not selling our players on a new system. We have our system, now we have to perfect it so we can play on in late March and April. The kids are much more focused than a year ago."

When assessing Weber's squad, one has to start with the backcourt of juniors Dee Brown and Deron Williams, and senior Luther Head. The Illini backcourt enters the season rated among the best in the nation by several preseason publications. Williams is coming off a breakout season where he was named First-Team All-Big Ten and is a preseason All-American entering his junior season. Brown used a strong stretch run to earn Second-Team All-Big Ten and honorable-mention All-America honors in 2004. Head made one of the key plays of the 2004 season at the end of an overtime victory at Purdue that clinched a share of the Big Ten title, and scored in double figures in eight of 10 games to end the regular season. Brown and Williams are both on the Wooden preseason list of Top 50 players.

"When people compare our backcourt to some of the best around the country, the element that might separate us is Luther Head, kind of the x-factor," Weber said. "They complement each other well. We're able to play them together against anybody. Then, to solidify that, is (the fact) that the current sophomore class has been through the wars and can help provide quality depth."

Williams, a preseason All-America pick by Playboy Magazine, led the Big Ten in assists with an average of 6.2, led the Illini in scoring at 14.0 points per game and ranked second in the Big Ten in assist/turnover ratio. The 6-foot-3-inch Williams enters his junior season as one of the top point guards in the nation and has proven himself as perhaps Illinois' top defensive player.

"The thing people noticed most about Deron last year was his shooting," Weber said. "He can make an even bigger jump this year by becoming more consistent. His biggest step is the consistency factor and maturity level, and not following up a great game with a below-average game."

Brown, playing the final month of the 2004 season with a painful stress fracture, finished second on the team with 13.3 points per game and 4.5 assists per game. He ranked third in the Big Ten in assist/turnover margin and led the Illini with 51 steals while ranking fourth on the team in rebounding at 3.7 boards per game. The 6-foot Brown, nicknamed the "One-Man Fastbreak," spent much of the summer recovering from the stress fracture and hopes to enter the season in good health.

"I don't think people appreciate how much pain he played through last year," Weber said. "The last 10 games of last season when he bought in, started working on his game a little more and figured out what things in his game he needed to start working on, his numbers were pretty incredible. That was a key to our success."

"One thing we are missing from last year is Jerrance Howard and his leadership. To fans, Dee and Deron are leaders, but internally, they need to lose themselves to the team and lead."

Head enters his senior campaign after averaging 11.0 points and 2.6 assists per game. He combines with Williams, Brown and sophomore Rich McBride to give the Fighting Illini an outstanding three-point shooting attack.

One of the most athletic guards in the nation, Head gives Weber great flexibility on the perimeter with his defensive ability.

"The first three weeks of practice last year he was better than Dee and Deron before stepping back a bit," Weber said. "But he made big strides as the season went along and there is no reason he can't be mentioned in the same breath as the other two. He needs to play at a high level the entire season. I don't think he realizes how good he is."

Dee Brown

cism," Weber said.

Sophomore Brian Randle is coming off shoulder surgery after the 2004 season and adds great size and athleticism to the perimeter. The 6-7 swing forward earned nine starts as a freshman and shot 57 percent from the field. Randle is a terrific leaper and has shown great potential as a defender.

"It was too bad for him that he had to miss the summer with his shoulder, because he had figured out what he needed to work on to raise the level of his game," Weber said. "Being out three or four months, he was frustrated. He brings athleticism and defense that maybe nobody else on our team can bring to the court. He can rebound, he can run the court, and he just needs to improve on things he could have worked on over the summer like strength and skills."

Senior Roger Powell, Jr., was third on the team in scoring last season at 11.6 points per game and is looking forward to a big final campaign. A mismatch for most teams, Powell uses his strength and post-up ability against smaller defenders, and his quickness and ability to shoot outside against bigger opponents. Powell ranked second on the team in rebounding last year at 5.0 boards per game and shot 59.5 percent from the field.

"I loved the way Roger played against Duke in the NCAA Tournament last season," Weber said. "He took the ball out and hit a couple of jumpers, he took the ball to the basket, he rebounded, he battled good players, which is what he needs to do in all games. He can use his strength and explosiveness on the inside and when he has bigger people guarding him, he can take them outside and use his quickness and athleticism. He's really improved his shooting from last year and has made some strides going into his senior season."

Junior James Augustine and seniors Nick Smith and Jack Ingram return as Weber's most-experienced interior players. The 6-10 Augustine averaged 9.6 points and a team-leading 7.3 rebounds per game last year, and spent much of the summer working on improving low-post moves and his jump shot. Augustine led the Illini by making 63.5 percent of his field goal attempts and totaling 42 blocked shots.

"I said last year that our post play and how much they improved would determine how far we would go," Weber said. "James needs to be a consistent force. I don't think he realizes how good he is. He has to play with the confidence that he's a good player. Nick and Jack both had good stretches of play last season. If we can get to the point where we can get into a rotation with those guys and not lose anything, we can be in pretty good shape. They all give a little different look. Roger has the athleticism, James can run and jump, Nick is big, but he also can McBride showed his ability to impact games by coming off the bench to knock down six three-pointers and score 22 points in a tough win over Memphis at the Assembly Hall in December. McBride worked hard in the off-season to improve his ball-handling skills and adds great depth to a strong position for the Illini.

"Rich's best attribute is shooting, but now he has to add some element to advance his game," Weber said. "He really worked on handling the ball more and he has a good feel for the game. His athleticism improved over the summer and he had the biggest improvement on the team in the vertical jump."

Freshman Calvin Brock adds another terrific athlete to the mix on the perimeter. The 6-4 swing guard from Chicago Simeon High School was named the Chicago Player of the Year as a senior.

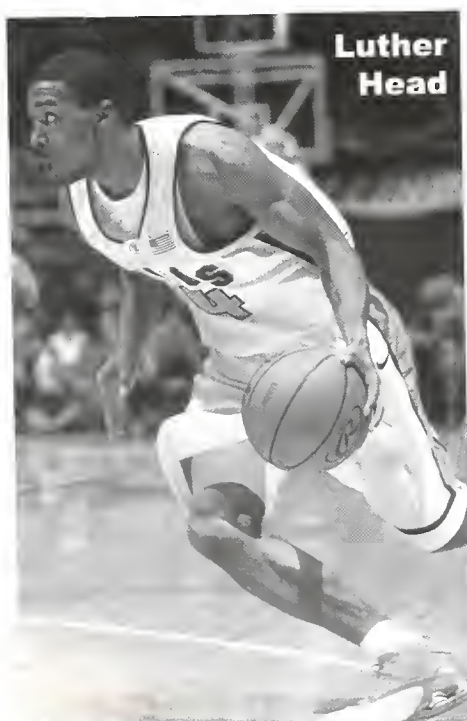

"We'll have to wait and see how much Calvin can contribute this season, but he is very competitive, he doesn't back down, and he has good size and athletishoot very well, and Jack has a big body and a good feel for the game. They all give you something different and you can keep coming at people. You hope that Warren Carter, Brian Randle and Shaun Pruitt can be added to that list."

At 7-2, the tallest player in 100 years of Illini basketball, Smith averaged 6.8 points and 3.2 rebounds last year. An outstanding shooter, Smith gained 20 pounds during the summer and is looking forward to an outstanding senior season.

"He had some real good games during the season last year," Weber said. "His body is way better than last year. He's been able to keep the weight on while conditioning. There are few players his height who can step out and shoot as well as he can."

Ingram earned more playing time as the season went along and became an important front-line player off the bench. The 6-10 senior shot 57 percent from the field and helped give the Illini an experienced physical presence off the bench.

"Jack had a good finish last year and accepted his role," Weber said. "Once he accepted his role he began having success. He's got a big body, he is intelligent and those are things he needs to bring to our team."

Sophomore Warren Carter has shown great promise and had a solid trip to Europe during the Big Ten Conference Tour. An athletic 6-9 forward, Carter is looking to earn more minutes in 2004-05 after averaging 1.2 points per game as a freshman.

"Warren needs to continue working on his strength as he learns what it takes to play at this level," Weber said. "He's just now starting to figure out how he can use his athleticism and his skills to help us. The trip to Europe helped and the coaches said he was one of the top players on that team. So, I hope that experience will carry over to our season."

Freshman Shaun Pruitt was considered the best high school big man in the state of Illinois as a senior and enters his first season expecting to add depth to an experienced front line.

"He's got a good body and has a knack of knowing how to score," Weber said. "Strength and conditioning are what will determine how quickly he will come along and contribute."

Illinois again played one of the nation's toughest schedules last season and has several traditional powers on the 2004-05 slate as well. The Illini take on Gonzaga, Wake Forest, Arkansas, Georgetown, Oregon and Missouri, as well as Valparaiso and Cincinnati in the Las Vegas Holiday Classic during the non-conference portion of the schedule before moving into the always-tough Big Ten.

"We will play a variety of styles from all over the country," Weber said. "We have someone from each of the power conferences on our schedule. We're playing in several different venues, which should hopefully prepare us for postseason play. We'll be tested early. We get a Top 5 team in the first two weeks of the season, but it's certainly not the end of our season. The kids need to realize it is a marathon and we need to make strides to be there at the end of the year."

The Fighting Illini and their fans have turned the Assembly Hall into maybe the toughest road arena in the nation. Illinois has posted a 63-3 home record over the past five seasons, the best home court record in the nation over that period.

"The Assembly Hall is very intimidating for opponents," Weber said. "If you look at the record over the last five years, yes, Illinois has had good players, hopefully good coaches, but at the same time, other places have had that as well. But, the combination with very fanatic fans, great students right on the court, the openness of the arena, has made it a very tough place for opponents to visit."

2004 BIG TEN CHAMPIONS

YEAR IN REVIEW

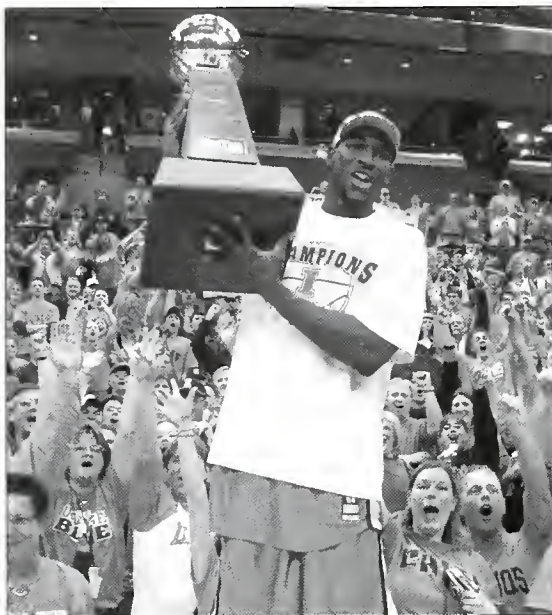

2003-04 SEASON IN REVIEW

The Bruce Weber Era of Illinois Basketball began with a bang in 2003-04. Weber led his squad to Illinois' first outright Big Ten title in 52 years with a 26-7 overall record, 13-3 in the Big Ten.

The Fighting Illini advanced to the Sweet Sixteen for the third time in the last four seasons. The 26 victories tied for third most in school history.

Illinois won its last 10 games of the regular season, including six road games, to clinch the Illini's third Big Ten title in four seasons. A dramatic overtime victory at Purdue clinched a share of the title in one of the most exciting games in Illini history. Luther Head made the winning basket after rebounding a blocked shot with just seconds remaining.

Illinois swept past Murray State and Cincinnati in the first two rounds of the NCAA Tournament before dropping a tough 72-62 decision to Duke in the Sweet Sixteen. The victory over fourth-seed Cincinnati was Illinois' first-ever win over a higher-seeded team in the tournament.

Sophomore Deron Williams earned first-team All-Big Ten honors after leading the Illini in scoring at 14.0 points per game, and leading the Big Ten with 6.2 assists per game. Running mate Dee Brown was named second-team All-Big Ten after averaging 13.3 points. Junior Roger Powell and sophomore James Augustine both earned All-Big Ten honorable mention honors.

A key point in the early season came on Dec. 13 when the Illini posted a 74-64 win over Memphis. Illinois had lost badly to Providence in New York, and Williams suffered a broken jaw in the next game against Maryland-Eastern Shore. The Illini pulled together in the win over Memphis, held on to defeat 11th-ranked Missouri in St. Louis and downed Illinois-Chicago at the United Center before Williams returned in heroic fashion during an overtime win over Illinois State on Jan. 3.

An early home loss to Purdue and losses on the road to Northwestern and Wisconsin pushed Illini backs to the wall for any hopes of a Big Ten title. A victory over Michigan following the loss to the Badgers ignited a 12-game winning streak until the championship game of the Big Ten Tournament.

Four of the final five games of the regular season were road games at Penn State, Iowa, Purdue and Ohio State. Orange became the fashion during the unlikely streak, as the six-game Big Ten road game winning streak was Illinois' longest since 1956.

Illinois entered the NCAA Tournament as a No. 5 seed and promptly ran over Murray State by a score of 72-53, setting up a second-round game against Cincinnati. In perhaps the most dominating Illini performance of the season, Illinois posted a 92-68 victory over the Bearcats. The Illini shot 64 percent from the field, including 58 percent (11-19) from three-point range in winning. Williams led all scorers with 31 points.

Deron Williams was named the 2004 Most Valuable Player. Jerrance Howard was named the Kenny Battle Most Inspirational Player. Dee Brown won the Matto Award. Luther Head was named Most Improved Player. Roger Powell won the Lou Henson Courage Award. Nick Smith was the team's top free throw shooter and James Augustine won the Illini Rebounders Award.

Howard was the only senior on the squad and ended his career with three Big Ten Championships and one Big Ten Tournament Championship on his resume.

Game #1

#12 Illinois 94 Western Illinois 66

Nov. 22, 2003

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Bruce Weber was nervous when he walked into the Assembly Hall for his first game as Illinois coach.

"You're kind of getting a little antsy because you don't know what's going to happen, you're a little bit short-handed and crazy things happen," Weber said, referring to his depleted team.

But the 12th-ranked Illini had little trouble beating Western Illinois 94-66 despite having only nine players available. Luther Head, Aaron Spears and Rich McBride spent the game on the bench, serving suspensions for violating team rules.

Dee Brown scored 23 points to lead five Illini players in double figures as they built a 37-9 lead in the first 14 minutes and were never threatened.

Western (0-3) put together a 12-2 run in the closing minutes of the first half, but that was the most pressure it could put on the Illini all night.

But the Illini started the second half with a 16-6 run to push a 49-28 halftime lead to 65-34. They were able to keep the spread at about 30 points throughout the second half.

Roger Powell added 14 points, Nick Smith 13 and James Augustine 12 for the Illini, who hit 52 percent of their shots and were 7-for-22 from behind the 3-point line. Deron Williams added 11 points, nine rebounds and eight assists, nearly a triple-double.

Augustine added 13 rebounds, a career high, and the Illini extended their Assembly Hall winning streak to 18 in a row.

Game #2

#12 Illinois 93 Mercer 61

Nov. 26, 2003

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Dee Brown scored 18 points and Roger Powell added 16 points and 10 rebounds to lead No. 12 Illinois to a 93-61 Wednesday night over Mercer.

The Illini (2-0) used a 24-7 first-half run to build a 30-10 lead in dominating the Bears (1-3). Mercer made only three-of-eight shots and committed six turnovers over that nine-minute span as the Illini pushed a 6-3 lead to 20 points.

Illinois led by as many as 36 points and never led by fewer than 30 after the break. Deron Williams scored 14 points and Nick Smith had 13 for the Illini, who have scored more than 90 points in each of their two games this season.

Mercer lost its third straight game despite 15 points from Jacob Skogen. Scott Emerson scored 14 points for the Bears, who shot only 40 percent from the floor and committed 21 turnovers.

Illinois' speed and motion offense was too much for Mercer from the start. The Illini were able to move the ball to their front line for short shots, which let Brown roam free on the perimeter.

Game #3

#12 Illinois 75 Temple 60

Nov. 29, 2003

The Palestra, Philadelphia, Pa.

Roger Powell had 19 points and 10 rebounds. Deron Williams added 18 points and Dee Brown 16 to lead No. 12 Illinois to a 75-60 victory over Temple.

Illinois opened the game on an 18-5 run, keyed by four 3-pointers, including three by Williams. The Illini broke Temple's zone by making almost all their baskets early from the outside. The Illini raced to a 27-7 lead and made eight of their first 12 shots.

Powell was 6-for-7 from the floor, Williams 6-for-8 and Brown 6-for-15. Williams and Brown each made four 3's. When the outside shot wasn't open, Powell was there with a bucket in the paint or an offensive rebound and put-back after a miss.

David Hawkins led Temple with 28 points on 10-for-18 shooting. No other Owl was in double figures.

Temple was smothered by Illinois' man defense and had few good looks at the basket in the first half.

Temple had little ball pressure until switching to a 1-2 trapping zone early in the second half which forced two straight turnovers and led to four points. Still, that only made the score 52-40. Williams then sank his fourth 3-pointer on Illinois' next possession to push its lead back to 15. The Illini rolled from there, getting two more 3-pointers to finish with nine.

Game #4

#11 Illinois 81 #10 North Carolina 88

Dec. 2, 2003
Greensboro Coliseum, Greensboro, N.C.

The 10th-ranked Tar Heels remained undefeated with an 88-81 victory over No. 11 Illinois in the ACC-Big Ten Challenge, outlasting one of the nation's deepest teams behind Sean May's 23 points and 14 rebounds.

May got plenty of help from Rashad McCants, who added 20 points, and Jawad Williams, who played with a hip pointer, had 18 as all five North Carolina starters logged at least 31 minutes.

Illinois PG Dee Brown had a chance to tie the score twice late with 3-pointers, but missed and finished 3-for-17 from the field for just eight points. Deron Williams led Illinois (3-1) with 22 points, while Roger Powell added 20.

North Carolina led 79-78 before Williams sank a follow shot and McCants hit a free throw. He missed his second from the line with 46.7 seconds left, but got the rebound and the Tar Heels closed out Illinois from the foul line.

The Tar Heels hit five of their first seven shots to open the second half to build the lead to nine. But Powell brought the Fighting Illini back with a shot in the lane and a hook to start a spurt that saw Illinois score 13 points in 3:12 minutes to retake the lead at 55-54 with 13:43 remaining.

It remained close until Powell picked up his fourth foul with 6:19 left and the score tied at 69. With Powell on the bench, the Tar Heels hit four foul shots, got a follow from Jackie Manuel and a layup by McCants to go up by eight before a late charge by Illinois.

Illinois had trouble from the outside against North Carolina's tough defense, going 0-for-7 in the first half from 3-point range and 6-of-24 for the game. The Illini also had trouble at the line, missing 11-of-18.

Game #5

#11 Illinois 84 Arkansas 61

Dec. 6, 2003
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Deron Williams sat front and center, not looking at all comfortable as he answered questions after another standout performance for Illinois.

He better get used to the attention.

The sophomore guard had 17 points and 10 assists as No. 11 Illinois rebounded from its first loss of the season with an 84-61 victory over Arkansas.

Williams, who had a career-high 22 points in the loss to North Carolina, left the game with five minutes to go and Illinois (4-1) leading by 27 points. He was greeted by a loud ovation from the partisan crowd.

Sophomore James Augustine had 12 points and 12 rebounds for the Illini. Illinois committed just 13 turnovers for the game and forced Arkansas (4-1) into 21 turnovers that led to 25 points.

The Illini led by 15 at halftime and scored three straight baskets to open the second half. Nick Smith hit a jumper, Williams caught a lob underneath the basket for a reverse layup, and then made a nice pass to set up Roger Powell to extend the lead to 21.

Arkansas shot just 33 percent and trailed by at least 20 points for most of the second half. The Razorbacks, under second-year coach Stan Heath, were off to their best start in five years.

Illinois is 22-6 and has won nine straight at the United Center.

Game #6

#14 Illinois 51 Providence 70

Dec. 9, 2003
Madison Square Garden, New York, N.Y.

Ryan Gomes had 24 points and 12 rebounds, Donnie McGrath scored all 15 of his points in the second half and Providence beat No. 14 Illinois 70-51 in the opening game of the Jimmy V Classic.

The Friars (4-1) overcame a terrible start and a 30-24 halftime deficit behind the offense of Gomes and McGrath and the effectiveness of their 2-3 zone that shut down the backcourt of the Illini (4-2).

Providence, coming off a loss at Rhode Island, didn't score for the opening 7:12 minutes, falling behind 12-0. Despite getting within 12-11, the Friars were down six at halftime and it seemed like it could have been a lot worse.

Gomes and McGrath scored all the points in an 11-0 run that gave Providence a 44-35 lead with 13:07 to play. Illinois, could not get good perimeter shots against the zone and the Friars pulled away to the easy victory.

McGrath finished 5-for-7 from the field, including 4-for-5 from 3-point range, and had five assists. He hit three 3s in the opening 5:12 minutes of the second half. Rob Sanders added 15 points and eight rebounds for the Friars.

James Augustine had 16 points and 11 rebounds for the Illini, while Roger Powell had 13 points. The starting backcourt of Deron Williams and Dee Brown entered with a combined scoring average of 32.0.

Brown had four points on 2-of-9 shooting, while Williams had three points on 1-for-8 shooting. The Illini finished 2-for-15 from 3-point range compared to Providence's 7-for-16. Illinois committed 22 turnovers, with Williams having nine.

2003-04 GAME RECAPS

Game #7

#14 Illinois 85 Maryland-Eastern Shore 43

Dec. 11, 2003
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Roger Powell scored 19 points and Illinois scored the first 16 points in an 85-43 victory over Maryland-Eastern Shore. Illinois has won 20 in a row at home.

Just over seven minutes into the game, it was 16-0 and the Illini (5-2) were rolling.

Luther Head had 16 points for Illinois, which rebounded from their 19-point loss to Providence in the Jimmy V Classic on Tuesday.

James Augustine scored six points in the opening run and Illinois had four dunks while Eastern Shore missed its first 12 shots.

Jason McKinnon's short jumper with 12:53 left in the half gave the Hawks (0-2) their first points - on their 13th possession. Illinois pushed the lead to 27 on Dee Brown's layup with 1:55 left in the half. Powell scored 13 points in the first half, which ended with Illinois leading 46-19 and the Hawks with 17 turnovers.

Illinois' lead grew as large as 45 points in the second half. Illinois guard Deron Williams left the game with 18:57 remaining after colliding with an Eastern Shore player near midcourt. Williams, holding his jaw, immediately left for the locker room and later had X-rays taken at a hospital.

Trotter scored 12 points for Eastern Shore, which was playing its first game in 18 days, and McKinnon added nine points and 10 rebounds.

Game #8

#14 Illinois 74 Memphis 64

Dec. 13, 2003
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Freshman Rich McBride took his coach's challenge for somebody to replace the injured Deron Williams and scored 22 points to lead No. 14 Illinois to a 74-64 win over Memphis.

McBride hit six 3-pointers, including a buzzer-beater at the end of the first half and three more during a crucial five-minute stretch of the second half as the Illini (6-2) turned a two-point deficit into a 15-point lead. He also had five rebounds, five assists and went without a turnover while playing 29 minutes.

James Augustine scored 21 points for the Illini, who won for the 21st straight time at Assembly Hall. Williams sat on the bench with a broken jaw sustained in Thursday's game against Maryland-Eastern Shore.

Rodney Carney scored 18 points and Antonio Burks scored 16 for Memphis.

A McBride 3-pointer gave Illinois a 40-34 lead with 15:27 left to play, and it opened up the inside for the Illini. Three straight baskets, one by Nick Smith and two by Augustine, the last a 3-point play, put the Illini up 47-37 with 13:13 to play.

McBride hit his fourth 3-pointer of the night coming out of the ensuing timeout. Then Augustine hit a layup on a feed from Smith to put the Illini up 52-37 with 12:16 to go.

Poor shooting was as contagious as the flu in the first half. Illinois fell behind 19-9 with 10:18 left and were 4-of-25 at one point.

But the Tigers' shooting eyes weren't much better. Memphis made only 11 of 30 shots in the half as it watched that 10-point lead vanish. The Illini tied the score at 21, and Richard McBride's 3-pointer at the buzzer put the Illini up 28-27 at the break.

Game #9

#21 Illinois 71 #11 Missouri 70

Dec. 23, 2003
Savvis Center, St. Louis, Mo.

Barely into his first season at Illinois, head coach Bruce Weber was told about the significance of the "Braggin' Rights" game against Missouri. And, after a 71-70 win over No. 11 Missouri in the annual neutral-site battle, he was able to understand it even more.

Guard Dee Brown led Illinois with 18 points and six assists while playing 39 minutes.

It was one that almost got away for No. 21 Illinois, which held a 21-point lead late in the first half only to have Missouri tie it with 1:30 to play on a 3-pointer by Travon Bryant.

Sophomore forward James Augustine scored on a layup with 58.5 seconds to play to put Illinois back on top for good. Augustine had 14 points and 10 rebounds.

Illinois hadn't played for 10 days, but if there was any rust, it didn't show. The Illini dominated the early going, outrunning and outshooting Missouri.

Despite a size advantage for the Tigers, Illinois worked the ball inside for layups, hooks and short jumpers and built a 40-19 lead with 4:20 to go in the first half. Missouri committed 11 of its 18 turnovers in the opening half.

But Missouri chipped away, eventually tying the game at 67-67 on Bryant's 3-pointer.

After Augustine's basket, Missouri's Arthur Johnson had a chance to tie the game again, but missed a short jumper with 23 seconds left. After Brown made two free throws with 19.7 seconds left, Missouri's Jimmy McKinney hit a 3-pointer with 0.4 seconds left. After a timeout, the Illini iced the game by simply inbounding the ball.

Illinois has won the last four "Braggin' Rights" games and 15 of the series' 23.

Game #10

#20 Illinois 75 Illinois-Chicago 60

Dec. 30, 2003

United Center, Chicago, Ill.

A quick start got Illinois a comfortable lead and the 20th-ranked Illini used their long arms and inside rebounding strength to coast past Illinois-Chicago 75-60 Dec. 30 at the United Center.

Using a 19-4 run, the Illini raced to a 32-14 lead midway through the first half and beat UIC for the 11th time in 12 meetings.

Illinois had a 52-34 rebounding edge and also blocked 11 shots, throwing the Flames' offense into disarray.

UIC was playing in the United Center for the first time ever, even though its campus is only a mile away. Illinois is now 23-6 at the building where it has often played well, especially in the Big Ten tournament.

Luther Head and James Augustine each scored 13 points for the Illini, while Brian Randle had 11 rebounds.

Williams scored 14 to pace UIC. Cedric Banks, the Flames' leading scorer, had nine, well under his 19.6 average, as Illinois played strong defense on him and quick point guard Martell Bailey, who had just three points and two assists.

Head hit three 3-pointers and the Illini shot 53 percent in the first half to take a 44-27 lead. Roger Powell, who finished with a game-high 17 points, led the Illini with 13 points and seven rebounds in the first half.

UIC missed 20 of its first 27 shots and made only 11 of 38 in the half - 29 percent. For the game, the Flames were 24-of-67 (36 percent).

Game #11

#20 Illinois 80 Illinois State 73

Jan. 3, 2004

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Deron Williams expected an easy day his first game back after breaking his jaw. It was anything but easy.

Williams wound up playing 34 minutes and scored 20 points to lead No. 20 Illinois back from an 11-point second-half deficit to an 80-73 overtime win over Illinois State.

Williams hit four 3-pointers, grabbed four rebounds and had three assists while playing with his jaw still wired shut, forcing him to breathe only through his nose.

The Illini needed all the help they could get from a sellout crowd of 16,618 during their comeback, which started with Nick Smith's dunk with 7:33 left in the second half. The Illini outscored ISU 19-10 from there, with Williams connecting for 10 points, and Smith's two free throws tied it at 68 at the end of regulation.

Illinois hit its free throws in the extra period to earn its 22nd straight victory at Assembly Hall.

Williams missed three shots before his first basket gave the Illini their first lead of the afternoon, 26-25, with 4:31 left in the first half.

Illinois State was led by Marcus Arnold, who got the better of Illinois' big men all afternoon and scored 23 points. Trey Guidry scored 16 and Gregg Alexander had 14 for the Redbirds (4-6).

Dee Brown scored 16 points, Luther Head had 15 and Smith 14 for the Illini in a game that saw seven ties and seven lead changes.

The Redbirds gave the Illini all they could handle, jumping out to a 10-point lead in the first half. The Illini caught up and the game was tied 32-32 at halftime.

Jan. 7, 2004

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Reserve Nick Smith scored a career-high 22 points without missing a shot and No. 19 Illinois opened its Big Ten season with an 85-63 win over Ohio State.

Smith, a 7-foot-2 center, was 6-for-6 from the field, including one 3-pointer, and went 9-for-9 from the free throw line. He grabbed nine rebounds.

Dee Brown scored 16 points for Illinois, which ran its Assembly Hall record to 43-1 over the past four seasons. Richard McBride and Roger Powell each scored 11 points, while Brian Randle and James Augustine each scored 10 for the Illini (10-2).

Terrance Dials had 11 points for Ohio State (8-6, 0-1), while Tony Stockman added 10. The Buckeyes never recovered from a first half in which they went 6-of-21 from the field.

The Illini outscored the Buckeyes 30-8 over a 12-minute span of the first half to go up 37-13. Ohio State went on a 27-14 run and trimmed the Illini lead to 53-42 with 12:47 to go in the game.

But McBride's 3-pointer started a 9-0 run that put the Illini up 62-42 with 9:51 remaining. Ohio State never got closer than 17 points.

The Buckeyes were ice-cold in the first half, going without a field goal over a 7:39 stretch. They scored seven of their last 11 points of the half from the foul line and trailed 39-22 at halftime.

2003-04 GAME RECAPS

Game #13

#19 Illinois 54 #24 Purdue 58

Jan. 10, 2004

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

David Teague led a balanced scoring attack with 15 points as Purdue defeated Illinois 58-54 in a defensive struggle.

Purdue's 11-2 second-half run made the difference for the Boilermakers, who handed Illinois (10-3, 1-1) its first home loss in 24 games.

After Illinois' Dee Brown hit a 3-pointer to give the Illini a 42-40 lead with 10:01 to go, Teague scored five of the next nine points to put Purdue up 49-42 with 7:06 left. The Illini would get no closer than four points.

Matt Keifer scored 12 points and Brandon McKnight had 11 for Purdue, which held Illinois to 37 percent shooting, far off its 46 percent season average.

The game was the first matchup ever between Keady and Illinois' Bruce Weber, who spent 19 seasons as Keady's assistant.

James Augustine scored 16 points and grabbed 12 rebounds, his eighth career double-double, for Illinois, while Brown had 14 points and Nick Smith added 10.

Purdue had an advantage at the free throw line, going 14-of-16, while Illinois was only 3-of-6.

The Illini were tight early, missing five of their first six shots as Purdue took a 15-6 lead. Illinois scored eight points off 10 turnovers in the half and a 6-2 run cut the deficit to 22-20 at halftime.

Game #14

#25 Illinois 60 Northwestern 70

Jan. 14, 2004

Welsh-Ryan Arena, Evanston, Ill.

Davor Duvancic scored a career-high 22 points to help Northwestern upset No. 25 Illinois 70-60 and snap an eight-game losing streak to its in-state rival.

Jitim Young had 15 points and 10 rebounds for Northwestern and T.J. Parker added 13 points and five assists.

Duvancic, a reserve forward, scored 17 points in the second half. He was 7-of-10 from the field, including 4-of-6 on 3-pointers, and had three assists.

Illinois led 38-29 at halftime, but struggled to find good looks at the basket. Northwestern went on a 15-5 run early in the half to take a 44-43 lead when Mohamed Hachad banked in a 3-pointer from the right side. Duvancic scored seven in a row during the run.

The game was tied at 52 when Young and Duvancic put Northwestern back on top — this time for good.

Northwestern outscored Illinois 18-8 down the stretch and held the Illini to 38 percent shooting for the game.

Dee Brown had 19 points and James Augustine had 10 points and 14 rebounds for Illinois, which missed 7-of-10 free throws over the final six minutes of the game.

Game #15

#25 Illinois 88 Iowa 82

Jan. 17, 2004

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

A diving save by Deron Williams and a key steal from Dee Brown in the second half displayed the grit Illinois coach Bruce Weber was looking for.

"All we talked about at halftime was fighting," Weber said. "Our kids played with a lot more energy in the second half."

And that was the difference in No. 25 Illinois' 88-82 victory over Iowa.

Roger Powell scored 20 points, and Williams had 17 as the Illini came back from a 43-38 halftime deficit to snap a two-game skid.

Illinois let a nine-point lead in the first half slip away, but came out of halftime with a 10-0 run and scored 50 points.

Williams' diving save with just over 7 minutes remaining proved to be a key play, even though the Illini didn't score. Brown's steal came with 59.4 seconds remaining, and he called timeout as he dove out of bounds after stripping the ball from Jeff Horner.

That kept the Illini lead at four, and they converted 9-of-10 free throws in the final minute to seal the victory.

Brown scored 14 points and had eight assists and two steals. Nick Smith added 18 points for Illinois.

Pierre Pierce scored 26 points while playing all 40 minutes and Brady Boyd added 20 for the Hawkeyes.

Game #16

Illinois 80 Penn State 37

Jan. 21, 2004
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Roger Powell scored 16 points and Deron Williams scored 12 points and had 8 assists to lead Illinois to an 80-37 win over Penn State Wednesday.

Powell hit six of his seven shots from the field and was 4-of-7 from the free throw line as the Illini won their second straight game.

Williams, a 6-3 guard, had seven of his assists in the first half and scored eight points after halftime while defending man-to-man against Penn State's tallest player, 7-footer Jan Jagla. Jagla scored only five points and spent most of the second half on the bench after picking up his fourth foul with 13:43 to go.

Aaron Johnson led the Nittany Lions with 13 points. Penn State shot only 21 percent for the game, marking the lowest field goal percentage by a team in Assembly Hall history.

The Nittany Lions hit only 5-of-37 shots in the second half.

Illinois put together a 12-3 run early in the first half and was never in trouble again. The Illini outscored the Nittany Lions 21-7 over the final ten minutes of the half and had a 41-21 lead at the break.

Penn State hit only one field goal in the final eight minutes of the half and didn't connect from the field until more than four minutes had elapsed in the second half. By then, Illinois was up 53-21.

The Illini, who played reserves for the final 10 minutes, built the lead to 46 points, 77-31, with 3:37 to go.

Game #17

Illinois 56 #21 Wisconsin 76

Jan. 24, 2004
Kohl Center, Madison, Wis.

Devin Harris and Mike Wilkinson combined for 54 points with Harris scoring a career-high 30 and Wilkinson adding a career-high 24 as No. 21 Wisconsin defeated Illinois 76-56.

Harris and Wilkinson were a combined 19-of-30 from the field as the Badgers shot 52 percent to win their 24th straight home game. Harris was 9-of-15 from the field, including 4-of-7 on 3-pointers. Wilkinson was equally aggressive on the offensive end for the Badgers. He was 10-of-15 from the field and led the Badgers with nine rebounds.

Roger Powell scored a career-high 24 points to lead Illinois.

The Illini shot 37 percent as a team and were held almost 21 points below their season scoring average. Illinois' starting backcourt of Dee Brown and Deron Williams were a combined 5-of-21 from the field.

After trailing by 12 points early in the second half, Illinois pulled within 44-40 after scoring eight straight points, including consecutive three-point plays by Powell.

But Wisconsin responded with a 15-2 run to take a 59-42 lead with 10:18 left in the game. Wilkinson scored seven points during the run and Harris added four, including two free throws after Illinois' Nick Smith was whistled for a technical foul.

Game #18

Illinois 67 Michigan 52

Jan. 31, 2004
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Luther Head hit a career-high five 3-pointers and scored 18 points, and Deron Williams scored 15 points and had five assists to lead Illinois to a 67-52 win over Michigan.

Head hit two of the 3-pointers during a 13-3 second-half run that turned a three-point game into a double-digit Illini lead with 12:21 to go.

Six minutes later, Williams keyed a five-point burst that broke a 4-0 Michigan run, hitting a three and then flipping a nice pass to Roger Powell for a layup on the next possession to put Illinois up 55-44. The Wolverines couldn't get within double digits again.

The Wolverines hit only one of five shots from the field in the last six minutes of the game as Illinois outscored them 14-8 and held Michigan to a season-low scoring total. Michigan shot only 35 percent from the field and was just 3-of-18 from behind the 3-point line.

Williams also had five rebounds and Dee Brown scored 13 points for Illinois.

Bernard Robinson Jr. led Michigan with 14 points and Lester Abram scored 12 for Michigan, which saw its three-game winning streak snapped.

Illinois ran into foul trouble early in the second half as big men James Augustine and Nick Smith each picked up his fourth foul in the first 5:05. But reserve Jack Ingram gave coach Bruce Weber 12 minutes of solid play and Michigan was unable to take advantage inside.

2003-04 GAME RECAPS

Game #19

Illinois 51 Indiana 49

Feb. 3, 2004

Assembly Hall, Bloomington, Ind.

Deron Williams scored all 12 of his points in the second half and Nick Smith hit two long jumpers late in the game, helping Illinois rally for a 51-49 victory over Indiana.

The Illini entered the game as the Big Ten's highest-scoring team but hardly resembled it against the Hoosiers. Illinois shot just 39 percent from the field and was just 2-of-16 from 3-point range. Roger Powell led the Illini with 15 points.

A.J. Moye had 14 points and Marshall Strickland 12 for Indiana, which shot a dismal 15 percent from the field in the second half and lost its second straight game. The Hoosiers made just 4-of-26 field goal attempts in the second half, and none after a 10-footer by A.J. Moye with 9:53 remaining.

Indiana had two chances to win in the final seconds, but Bracey Wright's first 3-pointer was blocked by Smith and his heave from near midcourt was off the mark.

The Illini overcame a 20-point first half and won despite tying a season-low for points.

Williams' burst to open the second half and an Indiana scoring drought of nearly five minutes kept Illinois close.

Smith took care of the rest. His 19-footer with 3:28 left gave Illinois its first lead, 49-48, and after Indiana's Sean Kline tied the score by making 1-of-2 free throws, Smith answered with a 17-footer with 2:41 to go. Neither team scored again.

Game #20

Illinois 79 Minnesota 69

Feb. 8, 2004

Williams Arena, Minneapolis, Minn.

Deron Williams had 19 points and 11 assists, and Dee Brown added 18 points as Illinois came from behind to defeat Minnesota 79-69.

Nick Smith scored 13 points for the Fighting Illini, who won for the fifth time in six games despite trailing by as many as 15 points in the first half.

Kris Humphries had 23 points and nine rebounds for Minnesota.

Trailing 44-43, Illinois used seven quick points from Williams and a 16-10 run to retake the lead and take control of the game.

Michael Bauer hit a shot for Minnesota to cut the deficit to 59-56 with 12:44 left, but the Gophers then went cold for the next nine minutes.

The Illini were more aggressive on defense in the second half, forcing eight turnovers and converting them into fastbreak baskets.

Brown made two straight layups along the baseline, including a three-point play, to make it 66-57 Illinois with 8:26 left. The Gophers could not get closer than eight points the rest of the way.

Stan Gaines scored half of Minnesota's first 22 points as the Gophers hit their first seven shots, including five three-pointers. His three-pointer at the 15:22 mark capped a 14-0 run and gave the Gophers a 22-7 lead.

But the Illini put together a 13-0 run of their own to take a 32-30 lead with 7:29 left. Brown hit two 3-pointers during the stretch.

Neither team led by more than three points the rest of the half, as Minnesota went into the break ahead 44-43.

Game #21

Illinois 75 Michigan State 51

Feb. 10, 2004

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Luther Head scored 17 points and James Augustine scored 16 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Illinois past Michigan State 75-51.

Fifteen of Head's points came on 3-point shots as the Illini bumped the Spartans out of the Big Ten Conference lead and into a second-place tie with Illinois, a half-game behind Wisconsin.

Deron Williams added 15 points, and the Illini defense shut down Michigan State's league-leading shooting. The Spartans, who had hit 56 percent of their shots in their first nine conference games, were held to just 42 percent from the field.

Shannon Brown was the only Spartan player to break double-figures, scoring 12 points. Michigan State's leading scorer, Paul Davis, scored only 8 points and played just 22 minutes. Davis averages about 16 points per game and the 22 minutes tied his low for the season.

Illinois broke the game open with a 16-0 run over the final 5:41 of the first half and first 1:30 of the second half.

Williams sank a basket and a free throw to build the lead to six. Then Head hit a 3-pointer from the left wing and, after a missed dunk attempt by Davis at the other end, Dee Brown hit another three from the top of the key to put the Illini ahead 32-20. James Augustine's basket and free throw gave Illinois a 35-20 lead at the break.

Game #22

Illinois 65 #12 Wisconsin 57

Feb. 18, 2004
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Deron Williams scored a career-high 31 points to lead Illinois to a 65-57 win over No. 12 Wisconsin.

Williams' scoring from the perimeter – he hit five 3-pointers – opened up the inside game for the Illini and they fought off a six-point deficit to avenge a 76-56 loss to the Badgers on Jan. 24. He also had four steals.

Illinois won its fifth straight game. Both teams are now 17-5 overall and 8-3 in the Big Ten, tied for second place, a half-game behind Michigan State.

Williams scored seven during a 12-4 run that turned a 24-18 deficit into a 30-28 halftime lead.

"He shot it a lot better than he did at our place," said Wisconsin coach Bo Ryan. "You've got to give him credit. What was the difference in the game? It was him."

Illinois held Wisconsin's leading scorer, Devin Harris, to 16 points after he scored 30 in Madison. Mike Wilkinson, who had a career-high 24 points in the first game, scored only seven.

The Badgers took a 31-30 lead when Wilkinson hit a 3-pointer to start the second half. But Illinois quickly regained the lead for good as a 13-3 run put the Illini up 44-36 with 12:38 to go.

The Badgers were able to put together a 7-0 run that cut their deficit to 50-49 with 5:32 remaining, but Illinois responded with eight straight points and made its free throws down the stretch to seal the victory.

Game #23

Illinois 66 Penn State 58

Feb. 21, 2004
Bryce Jordan Center, State College, Pa.

Dee Brown hit six three 3-pointers, including three in a crucial second-half run, to help Illinois hold off a second-half rally and beat Penn State 66-58 at State College.

Penn State (9-14, 3-9 Big Ten) opened the second half with a 14-5 run, taking the lead on Aaron Johnson's 3-pointer and going up 34-31 on Marlon Smith's layup with 15 minutes left. The Nittany Lions made nine of their first 11 shots in the second half.

The lead changed five times in the next 5 1/2 minutes, but the Illini (18-5, 9-3) went up for good on a three-point play by Deron Williams. Brown hit 3-pointers on three consecutive possessions, the last making it 50-43 with 6:55 left.

The Nittany Lions stayed in the game by hitting 12 free throws in the last 8 1/2 minutes, but could not pull ahead again. Jan Jagla's fade-away jumper with 2:17 left got Penn State within 62-56, but PSU would get no closer.

Brown led four Illini in double figures, scoring a season-high 24 points. Luther Head scored 14, Williams scored 12 and Roger Powell had 10.

Smith led Penn State with 16 points, Ben Luber scored 14 and Jagla had 10.

Illinois held Penn State scoreless for more than four minutes in the first half, using an inside jumper by Nick Smith and a Brown 3-pointer to turn a 10-10 tie into a 15-10 lead. Illinois pushed its lead to 20-13 after a 3-pointer from Williams, but the Nittany Lions pulled within 26-20 by halftime.

Game #24

#23 Illinois 78 Iowa 59

Feb. 25, 2004
Carver-Hawkeye Arena, Iowa City, Iowa

Dee Brown took care of the offense. He let his Illinois teammates take care of the other end of the court.

Brown had 18 points and 10 assists while frustrating Iowa with his speed in the 23rd-ranked Illini's 78-59 victory.

Illinois (19-5, 10-3) held the Big Ten's top scoring team 14 points below its season average in its seventh straight win.

Luther Head had 16 points and 10 rebounds for Illinois, while Deron Williams added 13 points, including three 3-pointers in the second half that all came before the shot clock expired. Roger Powell had 12 and the Illini shot 58 percent, including 47 percent on 3-pointers.

Brown, who was 7-of-14 from the field, was dangerous outside and inside, and his 3-pointer with 12:47 left in the second half put Illinois in control with a 55-39 lead.

Unable to crack the relentless Illinois defense, the Hawkeyes never cut the lead below double figures the rest of the way.

Illinois, which came into the game with the Big Ten's third-best scoring defense, shut down Iowa's outside shooters and slowed its transition game – essentially challenging the Hawkeyes' smaller front-court to score inside.

The victory kept Illinois in second place in the Big Ten, one-half game behind Michigan State.

Brown had 11 points in the first half as Illinois shot 53 percent in taking a 39-28 lead. The Illini closed the half with a 14-5 run.

2003-04 GAME RECAPS

Game #25

#23 Illinois 66 Northwestern 56

Feb. 28, 2004

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

What a difference a month makes.

Illinois was hung with a 20-point loss at Wisconsin on Jan. 24 that dropped the Illini to 3-3 in the Big Ten before. They haven't lost since, winning eight in a row and finishing February with a perfect 7-0 record after beating Northwestern 66-56 to avenge one of those earlier losses.

Dee Brown scored 20 points and the frontcourt duo of Nick Smith and Roger Powell combined for 27 points as the Illini (20-5, 11-3) broke open a close game in the second half. Smith and Powell scored all the points in a decisive 12-6 run that put the Illini up 55-44 with 8:52 to go.

Brown then hit two 3-pointers during an 8-2 run that put the Illini up 63-46 with 5:31 to go.

Brown has shaken off a scoring slump with 62 points in his last three games. Smith finished with 14 points and Powell had 13, 11 after halftime.

Northwestern (12-13, 7-7), which beat Illinois 70-60 earlier in the season, got only four points from centers Ivan Tolic and Davor Duvancic. Duvancic scored 22 against Illinois in January. Vedran Vukusic and Jitum Young each scored 16 points, while Mohamed Hachad scored 14 for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats shot 52 percent in a close first half that included eight lead changes, but they hit only 37 percent in the second half.

Illinois, which shot only 38 percent in the game at Northwestern, shot 58 percent Saturday.

Game #26

#18 Illinois 81 Purdue 79

March 3, 2004

Mackey Arena, West Lafayette, Ind.

Nick Smith hit two key 3-pointers in overtime and Luther Head converted an offensive rebound as he was falling to the floor with nine-tenths of a second left to give No. 18 Illinois its ninth straight win, 81-79 over Purdue.

The big shots by Smith and Head clinched a share of the Big Ten Championship for Illinois (21-5, 12-3). The Illini are one-half game in front of Michigan State (12-4) and one game in front of Wisconsin (11-4) in the conference standings. A win Sunday at Ohio State would give Illinois its first outright conference title since 1952.

Purdue's Kenneth Lowe tied the game at 79 with a 3-pointer with 22 seconds left, but Roger Powell beat everyone down the floor and had an open look at a layup. His shot was off the mark, and Head followed it with an acrobatic one of his own to cap a thrilling game.

Smith scored eight of his 12 points in overtime. The 7-foot-2 junior started the overtime with a 3-pointer for a 72-69 lead. He added another that bounced off the front of the rim and rolled in for a 77-73 lead with 2:01 to play.

David Teague answered with a 3-pointer for Purdue, and Lowe hit his 3-pointer 90 seconds later. That set up Head's heroics, and the Illinois players mobbed the court and celebrated with thousands of their fans who made the trip.

Head had 19 points for the Illini, while Deron Williams had 16 points and 10 assists. Dee Brown added 15 points and seven rebounds.

Lowe scored 23 points and Teague added 17 for Purdue, which shot 55 percent from the field, but came up one play short.

Game #27

#18 Illinois 64 Ohio State 63

March 7, 2004

Value City Arena, Columbus, Ohio

During the darkest moments of the season, the Illinois players still believed. The payoff came in the final regular-season game at Ohio State.

Deron Williams' free throw with 16.5 seconds left provided the final margin in No. 18 Illinois' 64-63 win over Ohio State, securing the Illini's first outright Big Ten title in 52 years.

The Illini (22-5, 13-3) dominated most of the game, leading by as many as 16 points in the first half and 17 in the second, before a furious Ohio State comeback in the final nine minutes.

Williams hit a free throw to give the Illini a 64-60 lead. Ohio State countered on a 3-pointer by Tony Stockman with 6.2 seconds remaining.

After a timeout, the Illini inbounded to Williams, an 86 percent free-throw shooter, who was fouled with 5.2 seconds left.

Williams missed the first of a one-and-one situation, however, and Ohio State's Terence Dials rebounded. Brandon Fuss-Cheatham brought the ball the length of the floor as time slipped away.

He tried to slide past Illinois center James Augustine, but ran into his right side, the ball squinting loose as the final buzzer sounded.

The Illini have won at least a share of a Big Ten title in three of the last four seasons and four of the last seven.

Dee Brown led the Illini with 18 points, Williams had 14 and Luther Head 13 as the Illini won their 10th in a row - their longest streak since winning the first 11 games of the 1989-90 season.

It was also their 10th consecutive conference win, the best for the school since winning 13 in a row at the end of the 1954-55 season and the beginning of the 1955-56 Big Ten season.

Game #28

#12 Illinois 71 Indiana 59

March 12, 2004

Conseco Fieldhouse, Indianapolis, Ind.

Deron Williams felt sick just before Illinois' game against Indiana. Fortunately for the Illini, he recovered just in time.

Williams scored 12 of his 20 points in the final five minutes to lead Illinois past Indiana 71-59 in the Big Ten tournament quarterfinals.

He went 7-of-16 from the field, made three 3-pointers, 3-of-3 free throws, grabbed five rebounds and had seven assists. And he was the catalyst in Illinois' closing run after Indiana tied it at 54.

Although Luther Head scored a career-high 29 points and helped seal the win with free throws, Williams was the difference.

Illinois won its 11th straight game to advance to the tournament semifinals for the seventh straight year.

Mark Johnson led Indiana with 16 points and A.J. Moye added 13 points and nine rebounds in his final college game.

The Hoosiers fought their way back after trailing 28-21 at halftime and falling behind 45-32 midway through the second half.

Johnson hit two free throws, Wright a 3-pointer and Johnson two more free throws to make get the Hoosiers within 47-42 with 8:36 left. Johnson's fourth try of the game with 5:44 left tied the score at 52.

That's when Williams took control. He broke a 54-54 tie with a driving layup, a play that turned the game.

Illinois got a defensive stop and on its next possession, Williams hit a 3-pointer. After Jack Ingram hit one of two free throws, Williams hit another 3 to make it 63-54 with 2:45 left, and Indiana was finished.

#12 Illinois 74 Michigan 60

March 13, 2004

Conseco Fieldhouse, Indianapolis, Ind.

Dee Brown scored 21 points and 12th-ranked Illinois held off a second-half comeback to beat Michigan 74-60 Saturday in the Big Ten tourney semifinals.

Michigan cut a 15-point Illinois lead to two points midway through the second period, mainly with the 3-point shooting of Daniel Horton.

But Brown countered with his second 3-pointer, then added two free throws and another basket on a goaltend as the Illini pulled away for good. A dunk by James Augustine off one of Brown's five assists gave Illinois its biggest lead of the game at 72-56 with under two minutes to go.

Early errors were costly for the Wolverines, who had four turnovers in the first four minutes. Two of them were on consecutive possessions, leading to fast-break layups by Jack Ingram and Brown.

Two straight 3-pointers by Richard McBride started an 11-2 run to give Illinois its biggest lead of the half at 28-13. Michigan trailed 37-29 at halftime.

A pair of 3-pointers by Horton helped cut the lead to 39-37, the closest Michigan had come since the early minutes of the game. The Wolverines still trailed just 47-44 after another three by Horton before Illinois began to pull away.

A deep 3-pointer by Brown pushed the lead to 10, then three minutes later another 3-point basket by Luther Head made it 64-51, and Michigan came no closer than 11 points in the final four minutes.

#12 Illinois 53 Wisconsin 70

March 14, 2004

Conseco Fieldhouse, Indianapolis, Ind.

Wisconsin defeated Illinois 70-53 to win its first Big Ten tournament title and end the Illini's 12-game winning streak. Illinois lost for the first time since falling to the Badgers in Madison, Wis. on Jan. 24.

Devin Harris led the Badgers with 29 points on 10-of-16 shooting and was named the tournament MVP.

Wisconsin held Illinois to a season-low 32.7 percent shooting.

"We couldn't get shots, couldn't get a run, couldn't get momentum," Illinois coach Bruce Weber said. "We just could never get over the hump."

Harris scored Wisconsin's first 11 points of the second half and also had three steals.

Dee Brown led Illinois, scoring 15 points on 6-of-12 shooting.

The Illini were outrebounded 34-27 and outscored 12-2 on fast-break points.

The Badgers set the tone in the first seven minutes of the game, shooting over 50 percent from the field and outrebounding Illinois 9-1. Clayton Hanson's hook shot gave Wisconsin a 16-6 lead.

Illinois shot 29 percent in the first half. Brown kept Illinois in the game with 11 points on 4-of-6 shooting.

Mike Wilkinson added 11 points and five rebounds for Wisconsin.

Game #31

#13 Illinois 72 Murray State 53

March 19, 2004
Nationwide Arena, Columbus, Ohio

Dee Brown scored 21 points as the fifth-seeded Fighting Illini advanced in the NCAA tournament Friday with a 72-53 victory over 12th-seeded Murray State. Illinois won on the same floor where it claimed its first outright conference title in 52 years earlier this month.

Roger Powell added 11 points and James Augustine 10 for Illinois (25-6), which took control of the Atlanta Regional matchup with a late run in the first half, pulled away and cruised into the second round for the second straight year.

The Racers (28-6) were led by Cuthbert Victor's 15 points and Chris Shumate's 13. But the Ohio Valley Conference champions couldn't handle Illinois' size or strength inside and dropped to 0-12 against Big Ten schools.

The Racers couldn't get closer than six points in the second half and shot just 34 percent (17-of-49) from the field while being outrebounded 44-27.

With his team leading by eight in the second half, Brown hit a 3-pointer to make it 48-37. Three minutes later, the speedy point guard hit another three to put the Fighting Illini up 15.

Murray State tried to chip away, but Illinois challenged every shot, and any thought of an upset disappeared with 6:27 left when Luther Head hit a 3-pointer and Augustine scored on a putback to make it 62-47.

Game #32

#13 Illinois 92 #11 Cincinnati 68

March 21, 2004
Nationwide Arena, Columbus, Ohio

Deron Williams hit his first seven attempts, setting the tone for a can't-miss attack, and fifth-seeded Illinois rolled to a 92-68 victory over Cincinnati Sunday in the second round of the Atlanta Regional.

Williams matched his career high with 31 points, going 10-of-13 from the field, and Illinois (26-6) shot a season-high 63.6 percent as its two slick guards dominated from outside.

Brown, nicknamed the "One-Man Fastbreak," had 14 points, eight assists and two sleight-of-hand plays that helped Illinois take control. The Fighting Illini starters went 32-of-47 from the field.

Illinois beat a higher-seeded team for the first time in its history and moved into the round of 16 for the third time in the last four years.

The Fighting Illini made 13 of their 14 shots during a 10-minute span of the first half, exploiting Cincinnati's perimeter defense. Williams had a perfect touch, making his first seven shots — five of them from behind the arc.

Williams set a career high with six 3s in eight attempts, and Illinois went 11-of-19 from behind the arc overall. Roger Powell added 22 points.

Illinois became the first team to shoot 60 percent against the Bearcats since Stanford beat them by 13 points in the 2001 tournament, which was Huggins' worst tournament loss until Sunday.

Game #33

#13 Illinois 62 #6 Duke 72

March 26, 2004
Georgia Dome, Atlanta, Ga.

Illinois' season came to an end in the NCAA Regional Semifinals after a 72-62 loss to the No. 1 seeded Duke Blue Devils at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta.

James Augustine and Roger Powell led the Illini with 15 points apiece, and Dee Brown added 14. But the other guards, Deron Williams and Luther Head, combined to go just 7-of-24 for 16 points.

The Illini came out running, scoring in the opening minutes and building a quick 8-2 lead. The Blue Devils responded with 3-pointers by Daniel Ewing and Deng to tie it up, and the teams spent the rest of the half trading punches.

The game was tied three more times before Duke finally snatched its first lead. Redick got a wide-open look from beyond the arc and made a 3, giving the Blue Devils an 18-17 lead and sparking a spurt of nine straight points.

But Williams, who played only 11 minutes in the first half after picking up two quick fouls, stemmed the damage with a 3. Duke pushed the margin back to seven again before Illinois ran off eight straight points to reclaim the lead.

The Blue Devils went to the break with a lead after Sheldon Williams got inside for a basket with 47 seconds remaining. Duke was up 31-30 at the half and never relinquished its lead. Illinois missed four straight free throws at one point, hurting its chances to get back in the game.

Redick sealed the victory with a 3-pointer, putting the Blue Devils ahead 67-57 with under seven minutes remaining. Illinois never got closer than seven points the rest of the way.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RECORDS

Head Coach Elwood Brown (1 year, 6-8, .429)

Leo Hana was put in charge of building the basketball program at Illinois after a women's program had existed for years. A team, led by its playing captain Roy Riley, beat Champaign High School Jan. 6, two weeks before Hana was able to replace Riley with a "professional" coach. Elwood Brown became Illinois' first basketball coach Jan. 20, 1906, and proceeded to turn in a commendable coaching job, especially since the squad lost two of its mainstays during the season. "The results of the season were on the whole satisfactory. In the future, there will not be such a lack of material as hampered the coach (Brown) this season," wrote the 1907 Illio.

Big Ten: 5th place

Head Coach Fletcher Lane (1 year, 20-6, .769)

Fletcher Lane's all-time best winning percentage among Illinois coaches is misleading, since he only coached for one year. His 20-6 team of 1908 benefited from a long Southern trip in which the team beat several YMCA and club teams from Tennessee, Texas, Alabama, and Georgia. The club was billed as a closely-knit group, due in part to the long trip. The players, however, did not appear to appreciate Lane's coaching style. M.G. Dadant, the 1908 captain wrote, "Handicapped as they were by the lack of any competent coaching, the players went through the season in perfect harmony, each one relinquishing any personal feelings that the team might be better as a whole."

Big Ten: 3rd place

Head Coach H. V. Juul (2 years, 12-10, .545)

H. V. Juul became the first Illinois basketball coach to stay for more than one year. He also became the first former Fighting Illini player to head the Illinois basketball program and was captain of the 1907 squad. After leading Illinois to a 12-10 record over two years, he departed to become a professional baseball player, enjoying sprints with the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds. Juul was the son of a former Illinois Congressman and, prior to his death in 1928, was a committeeman in the 35th Ward in Chicago as well as campaign director for the Republican Party headquarters at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago.

Big Ten: 4th place

Head Coach F.L. Pinckney (1 year, 1-10, .090)

Pinckney took over the coaching reins for a year in 1907. There was promise for a good season after the solid start the program had made in 1906. More than 100 men tried out for the team. Pinckney found at least three freshman he thought would help the team and placed them on the varsity squad. However, the Western Conference Committee declared the three ineligible, leaving Pinckney with a much depleted team and Illinois with its worst record ever. The decision to make the freshmen ineligible gave Pinckney the same problem Brown faced the year before - turning out a winning team with limited talent.

Head Coach T.E. Thompson (2 years, 14-14, .500)

T. E. Thompson also had a two-year career as head basketball coach at Illinois, compiling a 14-14 record. Thompson claimed, at the time, to be the only player in Western Conference history to have played five years of collegiate basketball. He was at Northwestern for one year before playing at Illinois for four additional seasons. In addition to his duties as basketball coach at Illinois in 1911-12, he also served as Athletic Director George Huff's only assistant in the athletic department, doubling as the school's general manager of athletics and as ticket manager. After leaving the university, he founded The Thomas Thompson Company in Highland Park, Ill., a manufacturer of enamel products.

Head Coach Ralph Jones (8 years, 85-34, .714)

After arriving at Illinois from Purdue, Ralph Jones left an impressive legacy behind in Champaign. Besides coaching freshman football and baseball during his tenure at Illinois, he was credited by some with originating the fast break in basketball. After leading the Fighting Illini to one outright crown and the sharing of one other conference championship, Jones left to coach at Lake Forest Academy. In addition,

Jones was head coach of the Chicago Bears from 1930-33, where, among other achievements, he was credited with the revival of the T-formation and the use of a man in motion to throw off the defense.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RECORDS

Ralph Jones' 1916-17 squad won the second men's basketball Big Ten Championship in school history with a 10-2 conference mark.

Head Coach Frank Winters (2 years, 25-12, .676)

While in his two-year stint as coach of the Illinois basketball team, Frank Winters was faced with having only a handful of veteran players available and was forced into installing an entirely new system of play. His 25-12 record in two years was a testament to the way Winters made negatives into positives. Upon arriving as head coach in the fall of 1920, he inherited a team whose best player, Chuck Carney, had just severely injured his knee in the last football game. Nonetheless, the team went on to an 11-7 record and improved to 14-5 in the 1922 campaign.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RECORDS

Head Coach J. Craig Ruby (14 years, 148-95, .609)

J. Craig Ruby was known as one of the great basketball tacticians of his time. He and legendary Kansas coach Phog Allen actively campaigned together for higher baskets to offset the advantage of tall centers. Ruby alone advocated the elimination of the dribble to do away with stalling, and wanted the hoop enlarged to 20 inches in diameter rather than the standard 18.

Ruby's second season at Illinois produced a tie for the Big Ten Championship in 1924, but it was not until 1935 that he could lead his team to tie for top conference honors again.

Head Coach Douglas R. Mills (11 years, 151-66, .696)

Doug Mills was not only an extremely successful basketball coach at Illinois, but one of the University's most prolific and long-standing administrators. He began his association with Fighting Illini athletics as a standout in both football and basketball in the late 1920s. Mills became the first Illinois head basketball coach to lead his squad to three Big Ten crowns. Also included in his 11-year coaching tenure was the formation of the legendary

"Whiz Kids" team of 1942 and '43. That team won back-to-back Big Ten crowns. After retiring from the coaching ranks in 1947, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

Head Coach Harry Combes (20 years, 316-150, .678)

Harry Combes only had to move across town after accepting the job as head coach at Illinois. Prior to joining the Illini, he had been head coach at Champaign High School where he posted an astounding 254-46 record, including winning the state title in 1946. Once at Illinois he won three Big Ten titles in his first five seasons ('49, '51 and '52). It was also Combes who led the Fighting Illini to three third-place finishes in the NCAA Tournament in the four-year period from 1949-52. The squad won 79 of the 100 games during those four years. Illinois' 1952 Final Four appearance was the first officially recognized Final Four and the only Final Four appearance Illinois made until 1989. Until Lou Henson broke the record in 1990, Combes' 316 wins were the most wins ever by an Illinois head basketball coach.

Head Coach Harv Schmidt (7 years, 89-77, .536)

Harv Schmidt, a former all-time great player at Illinois, returned to his alma mater in 1968 after serving as an assistant at New Mexico for three years. Within three years of his arrival, he had brought Illinois back to among the elite programs in the Big Ten. The beginning of his tenure marked what possibly was the high-water mark in fan enthusiasm. Illinois led the nation in attendance in 1970, averaging 16,128 per home contest, as students routinely camped out for tickets outside the newly opened, state-of-the-art Assembly Hall.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RECORDS

Head Coach Gene Bartow (1 year, 8-18, .308)

Brought to Illinois to continue the magical rebuilding jobs he had undertaken at Valparaiso and Memphis State, Gene Bartow was counted on by Athletic Director Cecil Coleman to restore the successful level of play fans had become accustomed to in the past few decades. However, Bartow's stay in Champaign was short-lived, lasting only one year and producing an 8-18 record. The lure away from Illinois was a strong one for Bartow; he was hired away by UCLA to replace legendary Bruin coach John Wooden.

Head Coach Lou Henson (21 years, 423-224, .654)

Lou Henson, the all-time winningest coach in Illinois basketball history, came to Champaign-Urbana after successful head coaching stints at Hardin-Simmons and New Mexico State Universities. He finished his Illinois career No. 12 on the NCAA all-time victory list with 663 wins. Illinois became a national power under Henson, being selected to the NCAA tournament 11 times. The highlight of the postseason competition came in 1989 when the spectacular Flying Illini team won a school-record 31 contests and advanced to the Final Four. Henson's Illini were also seeded among the top four in their regional for six consecutive years (1984-89) for the second-longest such streak (next to North Carolina) ever. Illinois finished in the upper division in the Big Ten nine consecutive seasons (1983-91), and had 11 straight years of producing a plus-.500 Big Ten record from 1981 to 1991, the fifth-longest streak of that kind in Big Ten history. Henson led the Illini to a 1984 Big Ten co-championship and No. 1 national ranking in 1989. He coached Illinois to nine straight 20-win seasons from 1983 to 1991 and finished his UI career as the third-winningest coach in Big Ten history with 214 victories.

YEAR-BY-YEAR RECORDS

Head Coach Lon Kruger (4 years, 81-48, .628)

Lon Kruger was named the 14th men's basketball coach at the University of Illinois on March 21, 1996, succeeding Lou Henson, who retired after 21 seasons at Champaign-Urbana after six seasons at Florida, where he led the Gators to their first Final Four in 1994. His previous head coaching experience includes a four-year stint at his alma mater Kansas State (1987-90) and at Pan American (1983-86). In 1998, Kruger led the Illini to a share of the Big Ten championship, the school's first since 1984. He guided Illinois to NCAA Tournament appearances in 1997, 1998 and 2000. Kruger left Illinois to become the head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks.

Head Coach Bill Self (3 years, 78-24, .765)

Bill Self was named the 15th men's basketball coach at the University of Illinois on June 9, 2000, succeeding Lon Kruger, who was named head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks. Self came to Champaign-Urbana after three seasons at Tulsa, where he led the Golden Hurricane to an NCAA Final Eight appearance in 2000. His previous head coaching experience included a four-year stint at Oral Roberts (1994-97).

Self became the first Big Ten coach since 1912 to win Big Ten titles in each of his first two seasons. In his first season, Self led the Illini to a share of the Big Ten championship and a trip to the NCAA Elite Eight after the squad earned a No. 1 seed. Illinois' 27 wins in 2001 were the second-most in school history. His second team saw the Illini again share the Big Ten title and advance to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen with a 26-9 record. With 25 wins in his third season, Self compiled 78 wins, most ever in three-consecutive seasons at Illinois. Illinois won its first Big Ten Tournament title in 2003. He left Illinois to become the head coach at Kansas in April, 2003.

Head Coach Bruce Weber (1 year, 26-7, .788)

Bruce Weber was named the 16th men's basketball coach at the University of Illinois on April 30, 2003, succeeding Bill Self, who was named head coach at Kansas. Weber came to Champaign-Urbana after five seasons as head coach at Southern Illinois, where he led the Salukis to consecutive Missouri Valley Conference titles in his last two seasons, and to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen in 2002. Weber became just the third coach in Big Ten history to win an outright Big Ten championship in his first season in the league after leading the Illini to 10-straight wins to end the regular season en route to the title. In his first season, Weber led the Illini to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen and a final record of 26-7, tying the third-most wins in school history.

The 2003-04 Illini won the school's first outright Big Ten Championship since 1952.

Last year, Bruce Weber became just the third coach in Big Ten history to win an outright conference title in his first season.

Deron Williams earned first-team All-Big Ten honors last season after leading the Illini in scoring (14.0 ppg) and ranking first in the conference in assists (6.2 apg).

Last December, Illinois won its fourth straight Braggins' Rights Game over Missouri in St. Louis. The lone senior from the 2003-04 Illini squad, Jerrance Howard, is pictured with the Braggins' Rights trophy following Illinois' 71-70 victory over the Tigers.

Men's Old Gym and Huff Gym Records

Illinois compiled an all-time record of 339-79 (.811) while playing games at famed Huff Gym over 38 years from 1925-63. Huff had a capacity of 7,000, about the size of its predecessor, the Men's Old Gym Annex. Illinois compiled a single record of 27-30 (.649) from 1906-14 at Men's Gym, the Illini's first home, and 78-20 (.796) at Men's Old Gym Annex (now Kenney Gym Annex), from 1915-25.

BASKETBALL TRADITION

ILLINOIS TIMELINE

1906

Illinois basketball tradition begins with a 71-4 win over Champaign High School on January 12th.

1918

Big Ten Champions.

1925

Dec. 12, 1925 Illinois opens the season against Butler at the new gymnasium, which would later be renamed George Huff Gymnasium before the 1937 season.

1915

Big Ten Champions.
Illinois posts a perfect 16-0 record and is named national champion by the Helms Foundation.

Big Ten Champions.

Over the course of 100 years, the University of Illinois has enjoyed the creation of a stellar basketball tradition that includes Final Four appearances, All-Americans, Academic All-Americans, NBA first-round draft selections, and a place among the nation's elite basketball programs year-in and year-out. The University of Illinois basketball tradition got its start when the Big Ten Conference officially began playing basketball in 1906. At the time the member schools of the "Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives," or "Western Conference," or "Big Ten Conference" as it was known were University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, Northwestern University, Purdue University, and the University of Wisconsin.

1906-1909 (34-30)

The first official game in Illinois history was a 71-4 romp over Champaign High School in Urbana on Jan. 12, 1906. The first four years of Illinois hoops saw four different coaches who combined for a 34-30 record. In the first season of Illinois basketball the Illini went 6-8, 3-6 in the Big Ten under head coach Elwood Brown. The following season the Illini's record dropped to 1-10, 0-8 under E.L. Pickney. A new coach, Fletcher Lane, and a new season arrived in 1907-08 and the Illini posted a 20-8 record and went 6-5 in the conference. Despite a successful season, the Illini underwent its fourth coaching change in as many years and new mentor Herb V. Juul stayed two seasons (1909 and 1910) and was 7-6 his inaugural year and 5-4 the next season.

- Big Ten grows to eight teams with the addition of Iowa in the 1907 season.

1910-1919 (95-48)

The new decade brought the program an extended period of success. In the 1910s Illinois won two Big Ten titles, in 1915 and 1917, and compiled a 95-48 record including a perfect 16-0 record in 1915. That 1915 season was the third in the eight-year tenure of head coach Ralph Jones and it produced the only unbeaten season in Illini history and the first Big Ten title for the Illinois basketball program. Following the perfect season the Illinois team was named national champions by the Helms Foundation. Jones' 1915 team scored twice as many points as its opponents and won the conference title by three games over Chicago.

The arrival of the Woods brothers in 1915 had a lot to do with the success of this era. Guard Ray Woods was named first-team All-America all three years he competed (1915-17), and brother Ralf, a forward, led the team in scoring in both 1916 and 1917. His consistency at the free throw line led to the establishment of the Ralf Woods Award, which is still given annually to the Fighting Illini player with the best free-throw percentage.

Illinois followed up its conference championship season with a second-place finish after posting a 13-3 record. The Illini dropped two games to Northwestern and one to eventual champion Wisconsin, but the first loss to the Wildcats was the Illini's first-ever overtime game as Northwestern scored two points in the overtime period to beat Illinois, 23-21, Feb. 12, 1916, at what is now the Kenney Gym Annex.

In 1918, Jones and the Illini picked up their second conference championship crown in three years as Illinois went 13-3 overall and 10-2 in league games. The 1917 team featured a starting guard named George Halas. The professional football pioneer and former Chicago Bear owner and head coach was known on the team for his gritty defense and he was named captain of the 1918 squad before entering the armed forces Jan. 18, 1918.

Jones led the Illini into the decade of the 1920s and started off this period with a 9-4 record and a third-place finish in the Big Ten in 1920. The following season a new mentor, Frank Winters, was in Champaign-Urbana and his two-year stay produced an 11-7 mark in 1921 and a 14-5 record in 1922.

Illinois Athletic Director George Huff replaced Winters with J. Craig Ruby, whose 14-year tenure at Illinois is the third longest in program history. In his first three seasons, Ruby led the Illini to a 31-18 record and a share of the conference title with Wisconsin in 1924. In 1924, Illinois was 11-6 overall and 8-4 in the Big Ten.

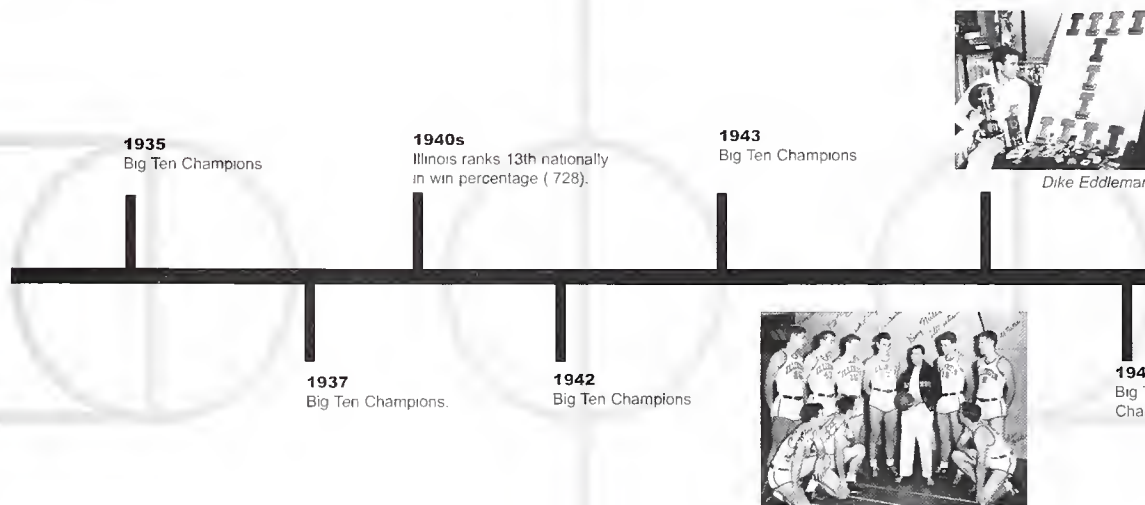

After winning Illinois' third conference title in 1924, Ruby's Illini matched the win mark the following year (11-6, 8-4) but dropped to third place in the standings. The Illini opened the 1926 season on Dec. 12, 1925, against Butler in the newly built Men's Gymnasium, which would later be renamed George Huff Gymnasium after Illinois Athletic Director George Huff. Illinois won its first game at the new gym, 23-22. The remainder of the decade saw Illinois go 10-7 in both 1927 and 1929 taking fourth and fifth in the league standings, and 9-8 in 1926. The only losing season in Ruby's Illinois career came with a 5-12 mark in 1928 and it is one of only 12 losing seasons in the University's 100-year history.

TIMELINE

1930-39 (120-61)

In the decade of the 1930s Illinois picked up Big Ten championships number four and five in 1935 and 1937. In 1935 the Illini squad was 5-3 after its first eight games, but rallied in the closing stretch of the season and won its last four contests to grab a share of the conference title.

A new star on the playing floor emerged in the 1935 season with the addition of Harry Combes to the roster. Combes, a three-year letterwinner, starred for the Illini from 1935-37 and later returned to his alma mater as head coach of the Illini in 1948. Combes helped lead Illinois to both its Big Ten titles in the 1930s.

Ruby closed out his coaching tenure in 1935-36 leading Illinois to a 13-6 record, 7-5 in the Big Ten, and third place in the league standings.

The man chosen to replace Ruby was Douglas Mills. In his 11-year tenure as head coach, Mills established himself as the first coach in Illinois history to win or share three Big Ten championships.

In his first season, 1936-37, Mills' Illini squad captured a share of the Big Ten championship with a 10-2 league record. The Illini were 14-4 overall. Following that season, the men's gymnasium got a new name, George Huff Gymnasium, after former Illinois athletic director George Huff, who passed away on Oct. 1, 1936. During the championship season, future major league baseball Hall of Famer Lou Boudreau led the team in scoring with 8.7 points per game.

1940-49 (150-56)

The decade of the 1940s brought much success to Illinois basketball. Head Coach Doug Mills led the Illini to consecutive Big Ten titles in 1942 and 1943. The Illini would add another league championship under Harry Combes in 1949.

The Illini were the 13th-winningest Division I team in the nation in the 1940s. Illinois' 150-57 record and .725 winning percentage was the best in the Big Ten. In 1941, Mills added to his coaching duties when he was named the school's director of athletics. That same year Art Mathisen arrived in Champaign in what would soon become the creation of the famed "Whiz Kids." In 1942, joining Mathisen were Jack Smiley, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance and Ken Menke, who captured the attention of the entire nation while winning back-to-back conference titles and combining for a 35-6 record, 25-2 in the Big Ten over those two seasons. To this day the "Whiz Kids" remain one of the most storied teams in Illinois history. They dazzled crowds everywhere averaging 58 points per game, while most teams were averaging in the low 40s.

The team was broken up March 1, 1943, when all five starters headed to active duty in the armed forces. All but Mathisen went on the play professionally, and Phillip became a member of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

After the departure of the Whiz Kids, Mills faced a major rebuilding job. Mills closed out his time as head coach at Illinois in the 1947 season. That mark coincided with the return of the "Whiz Kids" from military service. A crowd of 7,785, the largest home crowd to that point in Illinois history, jammed into Huff Gym to see their return on Dec. 6, 1946, against Cornell. The Whiz Kids played only the first half of the game in building a 49-13 lead, and the Illini won 87-39. The Illini opened league play with two losses and dug their way back to a second-place finish by winning eight of their last 10 games.

After retiring from coaching, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

Former Illini Harry Combes was re-associated with the program when he was selected to replace Mills as head coach of the Fighting Illini. He had previously served as head coach at Champaign High School. In his first nine seasons at Illinois, he won three Big Ten titles and compiled an amazing record of 164-44 overall (.788) and 94-30 in the Big Ten (.758).

Combes first team at Illinois in 1947-48, led by Dike Eddleman and Jack Burmaster, set a Big Ten scoring record with 1,530 points, en route to a 15-5 overall record and 7-5 league finish. His second year as head coach, Combes collected his first of four Big Ten championships as a head coach. He finished his Illinois career with a total of six championships as a player and coach.

The four-year period between 1949-52 brought the University of Illinois three Big Ten championships, three 20-win seasons, and a 42-10 Big Ten mark. The 1949 squad, led by Eddleman, Bill Erickson, and Walter Osterkorn, was Illinois' first 20-game winner since 1908, finishing 21-4. That year, Illinois beat Yale, 71-67, to advance to a national semifinal showdown with Kentucky at Madison Square Garden in New York City. The Illini fell to the Wildcats, 76-47, forcing Illinois to defeat Oregon State, 57-53, in Seattle for third place.

Two of the first three years in this decade saw Illinois bring home Big Ten championships. Illinois won the title in 1951 with a 13-1 league record and produced another 20-win season with a 22-5 record. That season featured a rematch with Kentucky, which had downed the Illini in the national semifinals in 1949. Illinois beat Columbia, 79-71, and North Carolina State, 84-70, to get to the national semifinals and a rematch with the Wildcats. In a heart-breaking loss, Kentucky nipped Illinois, 76-74, on a shot by Wildcat sub Shelby Linville with 12 seconds remaining in the game. The Illini collected third place nationally by beating Oklahoma A&M, 61-46, in Minneapolis.

The 1952 season brought Illinois another Big Ten title and introduced John Kerr, a center from Tilden Tech in Chicago. He began his three-year reign as Illinois' top scorer with a sophomore-record 357 points. The Illini recorded a 22-4 overall mark and went 12-2 in the conference. Once again, Illinois advanced to the national semifinals and ran into underdog St. John's. The Redmen fought their way to a 61-59 victory in the NCAA's first Final Four, in Seattle. Illinois took another third-place award home after beating Santa Clara, 67-64, behind 26 points by Kerr.

The 1954 season was highlighted when Kerr shattered Illinois' single-season scoring record by tallying 556 points in his senior year. Kerr's 1,299 career points in three seasons currently rank 14th on the all-time Illinois scoring list. He held first place in Illini career scoring until Dave Downey passed him in 1963. After his Illinois career came to an end, Kerr started a 12-year professional career and then became the first head coach of the Chicago Bulls in 1966.

Once again the Illini hoopsters led the Big Ten in wins for a decade with a 165-64 record in the 1950s. The Illini's winning percentage, .721, ranked 11th nationally. On Dec. 17, 1956, Illinois defeated San Francisco, 62-33, snapping the Dons' 10-game regular-season win streak. Associated Press ranked Illinois basketball poll in 1949 with UPI adding Illinois to its poll in 1951 and from 1951-56 the Illini finished the season ranked in the Top 20 nationally every year. Illinois' highest final ranking in the 1950s was second in both polls in 1952.

- Big Ten grows to 10 teams with addition of Michigan State in the 1951 season.

1960-69 (145-95)

The 1960s produced Big Ten championship No. 11 for Illinois in 1963. That season the Illini were 20-6 overall, 11-3 in the conference. Senior Dave Downey led the team in scoring as he had the previous two seasons and he moved into first on the all-time scoring list. Downey also set the school record for points in a game, which still stands, with 53 in a road loss to Indiana on Feb. 16, 1963.

Illinois was a game back of first place in the league standings with only two games remaining when the Assembly Hall opened its doors on March 4, 1963. Illinois' first game at the Hall was an exciting 79-73 victory over Northwestern before 16,137 fans to stay within a game of first-place Ohio State. After Illinois edged Iowa, 73-69, in the last game of the season, the Fighting Illini would need an overtime loss two hours later by the Buckeyes at Indiana to share the title.

The 1965 season was highlighted by Illinois' season opening 118-83 victory over defending national-champion UCLA at the Assembly Hall. Combes called the game, "one of the best an Illinois team has ever played."

Combes closed out his Illini coaching career in 1967 with a 12-12 record and seventh-place Big Ten finish. The season was highlighted by a 98-97 victory over No. 3 Kentucky in Lexington on Dec. 8.

Another former Illini, Harv Schmidt, replaced Combes and led the team into the 1970s. Schmidt's Illini went 11-13 in 1968 and rebounded to a 19-5 record in 1969 and a second-place Big Ten finish.

1970-79 (129-129)

The decade of the 1970s brought two coaching changes, the second one brought Lou Henson, who would become the longest-tenured coach in Illinois history. In 1970, Illinois set an NCAA attendance record, selling out all 11 home games for an average of 16,128 fans per game.

Although the Illini recorded a losing mark in 1971 (11-12), that season welcomed Nick Weatherspoon from Canton, Ohio. "Spoon" stepped right into the starting lineup and led the team in rebounds. The next two years he led the team in scoring and rebounding before becoming a first-round draft selection and spending eight seasons in the NBA.

Harv Schmidt concluded his Illinois coaching career in 1974 as the Illini's record dropped to 5-18 and last place in the Big Ten standings. The following season, Gene Bartow served as head coach, but left to take the head coaching job in replacing the legendary John Wooden at UCLA after only one season. After Bartow's departure following the 1975 campaign, the University picked New Mexico State Head Coach Lou Henson to bring success back to the Illinois program. He did just that, taking a team that won 14 games in his inaugural season to a 19-11 record within just four years. The last years of the 1970s signaled the arrival of Eddie Johnson and Mark Smith, two players who would lead the team into the 1980s and pave the way for Illinois' return to national prominence.

In 1979, Illinois finished seventh in the Big Ten, but went 19-11 overall, including ascension to No. 2 in the national polls after starting the year 15-0. That year, Illinois upset top-ranked Michigan State and Magic Johnson, 57-55, in one of the school's most memorable games. That year, Illinois also led the nation in field-goal percentage defense (.404).

1980-89 (233-90)

Henson returned everyone for the 1980 campaign and the team gave the head coach his first of 11, 20-win seasons at Illinois. That year, Illinois made its first postseason appearance since 1963, finishing third in the NIT.

In 1981, Illinois made more strides in its return to the national spotlight with a 21-8 record, a third-place Big Ten finish and an invitation to the NCAA Tournament. The team received a first-round bye in the NCAA Tournament and beat Wyoming, 67-65, in Los Angeles to advance to the regionals in Salt Lake City, where Illinois lost to Kansas State, 57-52.

That year, the Fighting Illini led the Big Ten in scoring for the second consecutive season and were again led by Johnson and Smith. Guards Craig Tucker and Derek Harper arrived to add backcourt punch, and Harper began his Illini career being named First-Team Freshman All-America by ESPN and ABC.

The 1982 season brought Illinois another postseason appearance, in the NIT, and an 18-11 record. Harper led the Big Ten in assists and steals.

One of Illinois' best groups arrived on campus in 1983. Guards Bruce Douglas and Doug Altenberger, and forward Scott Meents and Efrem Winters joined sophomores George Montgomery and Anthony Welch to form the nucleus for a team that would win 95 games during the next four seasons.

In 1983, the Fighting Illini became the nation's 25th team to cap the 1,000-win mark with a 72-70 victory over Texas A&M in the Great Alaska Shootout. Later that year, Harper was selected First-Team All-Big Ten, falling one vote shy of being a unanimous pick, before leaving school early for the NBA draft. He was a first round selection of the Dallas Mavericks as the first pick in franchise history.

The 1984 season brought Illinois its 12th Big Ten championship in a season where Illinois had four overtime games including an epic four-overtime 75-66 victory over Michigan. The next game was a two-overtime win at Iowa, Henson's 400th victory as a college head coach. The Illini recorded a 26-5 mark and were 15-3 in Big Ten play, tying Purdue for the league title. The 1984 season also marked Illinois' first back-to-back 20 win seasons since 1951-52. The Illini would go on to record a total of nine consecutive 20-win seasons from 1983-91. Illinois advance to the NCAA Regional Finals before dropping a heart-breaking 54-51 loss to Kentucky on its home court causing the NCAA to put a rule in place not allowing a school to play in a tournament game on its home court.

The Illini started out the 1985 season ranked No. 1 nationally by Basketball Times in its preseason poll. Illinois made a return trip to the NCAA Tournament where the Illini advanced to the Sweet 16.

From 1984-87, Illinois' stingy defense ranked first in the Big Ten allowing only 54.9 points in 1984, 55.7 in 1985, 63.3 in 1986, and 70.2 in 1987. During that same 1984-87 period, Illinois also ranked first in field goal defense, and the Illini were first in three-point defense in 1987.

Junior college transfer Ken Norman highlighted the 1986 season as he set the school record for single-season field-goal percentage (.641). The next season saw the addition of an outstanding group of young players to the roster. Guards Steve Bardo, Kendall Gill and Larry Smith joined forward Nick Anderson in a highly touted recruiting class. This group produced another 20-win season (23-8) and a trip to the NCAA Tournament, where Illinois was beaten 68-67 by Austin Peay in arguably the school's most shocking upset.

The 1988 season brought Henson his 500th career victory and laid the foundation for what would be an incredible history making season in 1989. The 1989 team may very well have been the most talented team ever assembled at Illinois. The players known as the "Flying Illini," included all the important pieces of 1988 (Kenny Battle, Gill, Bardo, Lowell Hamilton, Anderson and Smith) as well as junior college All-American P.J. Bowman and former high school All-American Marcus Liberty.

The team shattered most of its all-time records including points in a season (3,110), most steals in a season (341), and most wins in a season (31). The Fighting Illini won their first 16 games and were ranked No. 2 in the nation going into a nationally televised game against Georgia Tech, whom Illinois had already beaten, 80-75, at the Rainbow Classic in December. The Yellow Jackets led, 47-31, but Illinois managed to surge back to force overtime, eventually needing two extra periods to win the game. Along with the No. 1 ranking the next day came some bad news. Illinois' catalyst, Gill, had broken a bone in his foot and would miss the next 12 games. Hurt by the loss of Gill, Illinois lost three of the next four games and its No. 1 ranking. The Illini rallied to finish second in the Big Ten with a 14-4 record and with Gill back in the lineup, the Illini were awarded a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Region of the NCAA Tournament. After rolling to victories over McNeese State and Ball State at the Flooier Dome, a power-packed regional in Minneapolis with Missouri, Louisville and Syracuse, stood in the way of Illinois' trip to the Final Four.

Louisville fell victim to Illinois, losing 83-69, which set up a regional final matchup with Syracuse. The Fighting Illini held off Syracuse to advance to the Final Four in Seattle where Illinois faced Michigan, a team it had beat twice already in 1989, in the national semifinals. Despite Battle's 29-point, 11-rebound effort, Illinois fell to eventual national-champion Michigan, 83-81.

Coming off the Final Four season, Illinois went 21-8 overall, 11-7 in the Big Ten in 1990. Gill, a senior, became the first player since Norman in 1987 to average 20 ppg and he was named a First-Team All-American by UPI. Gill led the Big Ten in scoring and was a finalist for the John Wooden Player of the Year Award. He was the fifth overall pick in the NBA draft that summer, going to the Charlotte Hornets.

Entering the 1991 season, Illinois, faced with the loss of Gill, Bardo and Liberty, who declared himself eligible for the NBA draft after his junior season, was picked to finish as low as ninth in the Big Ten by some publications. But, junior forward Andy Kaufmann burst onto the scene scoring 660 points, the second largest single-season total in Illinois history. He and the Illini proved the preseason expectations wrong by going 21-10 and finishing third in the Big Ten.

Illinois' consecutive 20-win season streak was snapped in 1992 when the Illini posted its first losing record in 19 years, going 13-15. After sitting out a season, Kaufmann returned for the 1992-93 campaign and he led Illinois to a 19-13 record and trip to the NCAA Tournament. The following season, Illinois again advanced to the NCAA Tournament and in the process, senior Deon Thomas broke a 13-year old record and became the school's all-time leading scorer. Thomas scored his record-breaking 1,693rd point in the championship game of the Illini/Pepsi Classic against American University and he went on to finish his career with 2,129 points.

In 1994 a young upstart freshman, Kiwane Garris, would begin his assault on the all-time scoring list. He notched 446 points as a freshman and would be the catalyst on the Illini team over the next few years.

After advancing to the NCAA Tournament in 1995, Illinois extended its run on postseason play with a berth in the 1996 NIT. In 1996, the Illini started the season 11-1 before losing Garris to injury. Without its leader, the Illini dropped its first five Big Ten games. Garris returned, but was never 100 percent and junior forward Jerry Hester missed games with a severely sprained ankle. The Illini finished the 1996 season 18-13 overall, 7-11 in the Big Ten. But more importantly the 1996 season marked the end of the most successful era in Illinois basketball when Lou Henson announced his retirement before the end of the season. In his 21 years at Illinois Henson notched 423 victories and guided the Illini to 11 NCAA Tournament appearances. The Okay, Okla. native coached Illinois to 11, 20-win seasons and finished his career as the third-winningest coach in Big Ten history with 214 league victories.

On March 21, 1996, a new era in Illinois basketball began when Director of Athletics Ron Guenther introduced Lon Kruger as the University's 14th men's basketball coach. Kruger came to Illinois from the University of Florida and carried a list of impressive credentials, including guiding Florida to the Final Four in 1994.

In his first year at Illinois, Kruger guided Illinois to a 22-10 record and the second round of the NCAA Tournament. His 22 wins in 1997 are the most by a coach in his first season at Illinois. Over the course of the season, Illinois defeated five ranked opponents, including No. 7 Minnesota, 96-90, at the Assembly Hall. Illinois also traveled to Bloomington and handed Indiana a 78-74 loss, the first win for Illinois at Assembly Hall in Bloomington since 1990.

During the course of the year, Garris etched his name in the Illinois record book with one of the best season performances by any Illini player in history. He finished his career second on the all-time scoring list with 1,948 points and set the single-season record for free throws made and attempted. Garris averaged 19.4 points and missed being the Big Ten's leading scorer by three one-hundredths of a point.

In 1998, Kruger did the unthinkable as he took a team picked to finish seventh in the Big Ten and guided the Illini to a share of its first Big Ten title since 1984. On the way to the league crown, Illinois went 5-0 against Indiana, Iowa, and Michigan for the first time in school history the Illini had gone undefeated against those teams during the course of a season.

Illinois advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament after earning a No. 5 seed in the West Regional. The Illini defense was the Big Ten's best as Illinois finished the year first in scoring defense, field-goal defense and three-point defense in league games.

In October 1998, Illinois moved into a state-of-the-art basketball practice facility, the Richard T. Ubhen Basketball Complex. The facility, which houses the coaches offices and practice gym, also

The Illini closed out the 1999 season with an amazing run at the Big Ten Tournament title. After entering the tournament as the 11th-seeded team, Illinois reeled off three straight victories over Top 25-ranked teams before losing in the championship game to second-ranked Michigan State. Illini freshman Cory Bradford was the Big Ten's Freshman of the Year and was also selected to the All-Tournament team. Bradford set a school record by making 85 three pointers on the season.

2000-04 (126-38)

In 2000, for the third time in four seasons under Lon Kruger, Illinois advanced to the NCAA Tournament, this time as a #4 seed. After defeating Penn in the opening round, the Illini season ended with a defeat to eventual national runner-up Florida. The Fighting Illini spent much of the season ranked in the Top 25, climbing as high as No. 15 in late December. An early three-game losing streak in Big Ten play put the Illini in a hole to start league play at 1-3. But, Illinois went on to win 10 of the last 12 league games before finishing second in the Big Ten Tournament. Cory Bradford earned second-team All-Big Ten honors after leading Illinois in scoring and the Big Ten in three-point field goals. He broke his own three-point field goal record by making 96 on the season. Forward Brian Cook was named Co-Freshman of the Year in the league and earned All-Tournament honors with strong play in the Big Ten Tournament.

In May 2000, Kruger left Illinois to become head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks. Another era of Illinois basketball was begun when the University named Bill Self its 15th head men's basketball coach on June 9, 2000. Self came to Illinois from Tulsa where he had led the Golden Hurricane to consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, including an impressive 32-5 record and tournament run to the regional finals in 2000.

Self's first season at Illinois was certainly memorable. The Illini were ranked in the Top 10 the entire season and tied for the Big Ten Championship with Michigan State before earning a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament. The Illini run was ended in the regional final to eventual national runner-up Arizona, the third meeting between the two schools on the season.

Sophomore Frank Williams became the first Illini player to earn Big Ten Player of the Year honors since 1967 and was named to several postseason All-America squads. Junior Cory Bradford set an NCAA record by making a three-point field goal in 88 consecutive games.

In 2002, Self became just the second coach, and first since 1913, to win Big Ten titles in each of his first two seasons. Frank Williams again earned first-team All-Big Ten honors as the Illini earned a four-way share of the Big Ten title before advancing to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament. The five seniors who finished their careers took the Illini from an 11th-place finish in the league in 1999 to consecutive Big Ten titles in 2001 and 2002.

The 2003 squad started three freshmen, a sophomore and one senior, and still finished with a 25-7 record and second-place finish in the Big Ten. Brian Cook earned Big Ten Player of the Year honors and the Illini won the Big Ten Tournament championship for the first time.

Bill Self left in March to take over as coach at Kansas, paving the way for Bruce Weber to be named the 16th Illinois head coach on April 30, 2003. Weber arrived in Champaign after directing the Southern Illinois Salukis for five seasons.

Weber's inaugural season directing the Orange and Blue was magical, as he became just the third coach in 109 years of Big Ten basketball to win an outright conference championship in his first season. The Illini had to win its final 10 games of the regular season to clinch sole possession of the title, with six of those wins coming away from the Assembly Hall. Weber also guided Illinois to its first NCAA Tournament victory over a higher seeded team, when the No. 5 Illini defeated No. 4 Cincinnati in the second round of the tournament. The Illini finished the year with a record of 26-7 and advanced to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen for the third time in the last four years.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois exercises final authority over the policies and governance of all three campuses of the University (Chicago, Springfield, Urbana-Champaign), within limits fixed by the Illinois Constitution and state law.

There are nine statewide trustees appointed by the governor. Each serves for six years. Their terms are staggered, with three expiring every two years. All trustees serve without pay. The governor is also an ex officio member of the board, with a vote.

In addition, three students, one each from the campuses of Chicago, Springfield, and Urbana-Champaign, serve single-year terms on the board.

Trustees elect their own chair annually in January. The chair for 2004 is Lawrence C. Eppley.

PRESIDENT JAMES J. STUKEL

James J. Stukel is in his 11th year as president of the University of Illinois. Since becoming the University's 15th chief executive officer, Stukel has taken his four-point plan to thousands of Illinois citizens, including alumni and friends of the University, through community visits and special events in Illinois and several states.

The first point of the Stukel plan is to strengthen the connections between the University and the people of Illinois, in a redefinition of the UI's traditional land-grant obligations. The second is to upgrade students' educational experience through smaller classes and best use of the educational technology. Third is to cut costs where possible, stress productivity and create a positive, business-like administration that reassures taxpayers, tuition-payers and private donors that their money is being used efficiently. And fourth is to maintain the highest quality in a niche filled by relatively few U.S. Universities – basic and applied research.

For four years before becoming president, Stukel served as chancellor and chief executive officer of the University of Illinois at Chicago, leading UIC into the first rank of research universities.

Stukel has been part of the University of Illinois family since enrolling in graduate school in 1962. He spent 23 years on the Urbana-Champaign campus as an administrator, engineering professor and researcher. He then moved to UIC, spending one year as vice chancellor for research and five years as executive vice chancellor and vice chancellor for academic affairs before assuming the chancellor position in Chicago.

Born March 30, 1937, Stukel earned his B.S. in mechanical engineering from Purdue University in 1959 and spent two years as a research engineer for the Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. In 1962, Stukel enrolled in graduate school at Illinois, earning his M.S. in mechanical engineering in 1963 and his Ph.D. in mechanical engineering in 1968.

He became assistant professor of environmental engineering and mechanical engineering at Illinois in 1968, associate professor in 1971 and full professor in 1975.

Stukel is a member of the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Institutions, as well as a member of the board and co-chair of the Council of Governmental Affairs at the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges. He also is on the executive committee of the Illinois Coalition and is a governing board member of the Illinois Council on Economic Education. In May 1997, he received an honorary doctor of engineering degree from Purdue University.

Stukel is in his final year as Illinois' president with a scheduled retirement date of Feb. 1, 2005.

Stukel and his wife, the former M. Joan Helpling, have four children and three grandchildren.

INTERIM CHANCELLOR DR. RICHARD HERMAN

Dr. Richard Herman came to the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1998 as Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. He was named Interim Chancellor in June, 2004. He served as Dean of the College of Computer, Mathematical and Physical Sciences at the University of Maryland, College Park, from 1990 to 1998, and Chair of the Department of Mathematics at Pennsylvania State University from 1986 to 1990.

At Illinois, Dr. Herman has stressed excellence in education, scientific and intellectual innovation, diversity, engagement with societal needs, and internationalizing the education of students. He has emphasized interdisciplinary research and new alliances—including partnerships between government, universities, and industry—to create opportunities for progress in basic and applied research.

Dr. Herman is a leader in national discussions of how to transform public research universities and the land-grant mission to meet the needs of the twenty-first century. In the National Council on Competitiveness and National Innovation Initiative, Dr. Herman is active in mediating between the academic world and the national business community to maximize the contributions that research universities can make in preserving U.S. competitiveness in the global economy.

Dr. Herman has also played a leading role in discussion of national science policy, consistently stressing the need to better position the sciences to engage the emerging needs of society. His experience in science and education policy includes four years of service on the National Science Foundation's Advisory Committee for the Directorate of Mathematical and Physical Sciences, including two years as its chair, and six years as Chair of the Joint Policy Board for Mathematics. He currently serves on the Mellon College of Science Advisory Board and is a member of the Observatories Council, the Management Council of the Association of Universities for Research in Astronomy, Inc., associated with the National Optical Astronomy Observatory.

Richard Herman is a mathematician whose work concentrates on mathematical physics and operator algebras. He received a Ph.D. in mathematics from the University of Maryland, and has served on the faculties of the University of California at Los Angeles, Pennsylvania State University, and the University of Maryland at College Park. He has been a visiting faculty member and fellow at the University of Marseilles, Princeton University, and the Center for Interdisciplinary Research at the University of Bielefeld (Germany). Dr. Herman's research has been supported by such agencies as the National Science Foundation, NATO and NDEA. He is a member of the Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Xi honorary societies and recipient of an Alexander von Humboldt Foundation fellowship.

Dr. Herman and his wife, Susan, are active in the Champaign-Urbana community, where Mrs. Herman helped found the 40N/80W Arts Council and Dr. Herman serves on the Boards of the United Way and the Champaign County Chamber of Commerce. The Hermans have three children and four grandchildren.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS RON GUENTHER

In 13 years as Director of Athletics at the University of Illinois, Ron Guenther has returned his alma mater to the national elite in competing for championships in 19 intercollegiate sports with outstanding coaches, staff and facilities, including a second consecutive Top-25 finish in the NACDA Director's Cup competition and an NCAA title for the Illinois men's tennis program in 2003. In 2001, he was named the NACDA/Continental Airlines Central Region Athletic Director of the Year.

The MVP of the 1966 Illinois football squad, Guenther continues to move the Illini athletic program on a breakneck pace toward a position of competing at a championship level in all programs.

Guenther has overseen a series of dramatic changes that have local, regional and national media, alumni and fans marveling at his ability to add sport programs in women's soccer and softball, recruit top-level coaches, successfully engineer and surpass a $70 million capital campaign and create a model program producing outstanding student-athletes. This year, he will begin his second major capital campaign to expand and renovate facilities, strengthen endowment and increase annual giving to offset the rising cost of tuition.

Guenther has established Illinois as a rising power among NCAA institutions by:

— Adding popular women's sports like soccer and softball as the first UI athletic programs added in two decades, while also securing funds which built the Eichelberger Softball Complex that opened in the spring of 2001.

— Hiring championship-level coaches such as Head Football Coach Ron Turner, who led the Illini to a Big Ten Championship in 2001, an astounding 10-2 record and a bid to the Bowl Championship Series.

— Hiring Illinois Head Basketball Coach Bruce Weber, who led his first Illini squad to an outright Big Ten title and Sweet 16 finish in the NCAA Tournament. The red-hot Illini basketball squad has won three conference titles in four years.

— Landing nationally recognized men's tennis coach Craig Tiley, who, in 2003, led the Illini to the school's first NCAA team title since 1989. Illinois swept the field at the national championships, taking the team, singles (Amer Delic) and doubles (Rajeev Ram/Brian Wilson) titles. Tiley's squads have won eight straight regular-season Big Ten titles and made eight consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament. In 2000, the duo of Graydon Oliver and Cary Franklin won the NCAA doubles title.

— Extending the contract of nationally prominent wrestling coach Mark Johnson, who has engineered Top-10 finishes for the program eight times in his 11-year career, including a fifth-place finish at the 2001 NCAA Championships. This past season, Illinois captured a share of the Big Ten regular-season title. The Illini have crowned seven national champions since 1995 and five in the last seven years. Johnson became the school's all-time winningest coach, accomplishing the feat in only nine years at the helm.

— Bringing the Chicago Bears to central Illinois and Memorial Stadium. With a partnership formed in the fall of 2001, the Bears played the full 2002 season and exhibition games in 2003—a total of 12 games—in Champaign while Soldier Field underwent construction. With that partnership came funds that refurbished the Irwin football complex, including new locker and meeting rooms as well as a training room and upgrades to the coaches' offices.

— Guenther also hired former Illini and member of the 1988 Big Ten Championship golf squad, Mike Small, who, in his first four seasons in charge of the men's team, has twice led the team to the NCAA Championships. The Illini have taken second in the Big Ten the past three seasons. Small is also continuing to represent Illinois on the professional circuit, playing in PGA Tour events like the Western Open and the PGA Championship.

—The Illinois track and field programs have also excelled at both the national and international level. Former Illini hurdler Perdita Felicien won three NCAA titles in two years. Felicien was named the 2001 and 2003 National Female Track Athlete of the Year, following her All-America performances in the 100-meter hurdles. She went on to win two World Championships and represented Canada in the 2004 Olympics. She is the 11th athlete head coach Gary Winckler has sent to Olympic competition. Among those standouts were 1996 bronze medalist Tonja Buford-Bailey in the 400-meter hurdles. He has also tutored 172 All-Americans at Illinois.

— First-year head men's track coach Wayne Angel got off on the right foot, instructing a pair of athletes, Adrian Walker and Abe Jones, to All-America honors in the 400-meter hurdles.

— The Illinois men's gymnastics program under head coach Yoshi Hayasaki is ranked among the Top-10 in the nation year in and year out. This year was no exception with the team placing third nationally while hosting the 2004 NCAA Championships and crowning five All-Americans. Justin Spring and Bob Rogers won NCAA titles and helped lead Hayasaki to his fifth Big Ten Championship.

— Guenther also brought back former assistant coach Don Hardin in 1996 to lead the Illini volleyball squad, which has advanced to the NCAA Tournament four times, including the Sweet 16 in 1998 and 2003. Hardin was named Big Ten Coach of the Year in 2003 after leading the Illini to its winningest season in more than a decade and a final national ranking of 15th.

—Head Coach Terri Sullivan took her 2004 squad to the NCAA Regionals for the second straight year after posting a school-record 45 wins. The Illini were ranked as high as No. 17 nationally.

— In just the seventh year of the program's existence, soccer has taken off with three NCAA Tournament appearances in 2000, 2001 and 2003. With a second-place regular season Big Ten finish in 2004, the team went on to record its first Big Ten Tournament title.

—Theresa Grentz has led the women's basketball program to national prominence with NCAA Tournament appearances in five of her 10 seasons with the Illini, including two trips to the Sweet 16. She has tutored two All-Americans during her tenure at Illinois and had the school's first WNBA draft pick in Tauja Catchings.

— Illinois women's tennis coach Sujay Lama has also returned his program to the national spotlight with trips to the NCAA Tournament in five of his first six seasons with the Illini.

— Under baseball head coach Richard "Ich" Jones, the Illini have made two trips to the NCAA Regionals in the last eight years with a close loss to Florida in the regional finals in 1998, leaving the Illini just two outs from the College World Series. Illinois has donned three Big Ten Pitchers of the Year in the last seven years.

— The Illinois swimming and diving program has tutored six current and former Illini who participated for the U.S. in the 2000 Olympic Trials, including U.S. National Team member Jessica Aveyard, who swam at the 2002 World Championships.

— Signing an exclusive $7.5 million agreement with Nike as one of only 13 Nike institutions in the United States.

— Christening new facilities like the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility, Irwin Indoor Football Facility and the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building.

— Overseeing the construction and opening of the $2.1 million Irwin Academic Center, providing 600 student-athletes with a state-of-the-art, convenient academic center to reach their full potential as students.

Under Guenther's leadership, Illinois has steadily improved its performance on the field and in the classroom. Off the field, Illinois student-athletes have continued to benefit from outstanding academic service programs, matching the overall campus grade point average and producing nearly 100 Academic All-Big Ten award winners annually in all sports. Guenther has also spearheaded a revolution for funding for championship-level programs and facilities as the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics has opened necessary additional revenue streams totaling more than $3 million through working partnerships with corporate sponsors and management of the Illini Sports Radio Network.

Guenther's aggressive plan to make the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics a valuable and enthusiastic partner in the overall education, research and service mission of the University has begun to pay dividends in the 21st century.

Now in his fourth decade with the University of Illinois, Guenther was the Most Valuable Player on the 1966 Illinois football squad under Head Coach Pete Elliott. He was a second-team All-Big Ten selection at offensive guard, also earning first-team Academic All-Big Ten honors and recognition as the University's outstanding senior in physical education. Guenther earned his bachelor of science degree in physical education from Illinois in 1967 and an M.S. in administration in 1968 before embarking on a successful career in coaching, athletic administration and business.

Guenther was named the 17th Director of Athletics in 1992 after serving for two years with the University of Illinois Foundation as Director of Major Gifts and for three years as a partner with The Barofsky Association, a Chicago-area investments and marketing firm. From June of 1988 to March of 1989, Guenther served as Interim Director of Athletics for External Operations, administering the development program, public relations, promotions, tickets, merchandise and summer camps.

Guenther spent the previous three years within the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as associate athletic director for development, coordinating the "Campaign for Excellence in Athletics." That campaign began the first major facelift of athletic facilities in nearly 60 years on campus and provided the impetus for the eventual construction of Illinois Field for baseball, the UI Outdoor Track and Field and Soccer Stadium, the Atkins Tennis Center and the Irwin Football Complex, housing coaches offices, locker rooms, sports medicine, strength and conditioning facilities and meeting rooms for Illinois football. One of the nation's top athletic fund raisers, Guenther has been instrumental in soliciting gift commitments totaling more than $50 million toward capital improvements at Illinois during the last 15 years.

Firmly committed to delivering the Illinois message across the state and Midwest, Guenther served from 1983 to 1987 as assistant athletic director for Chicago operations, renewing a commitment that continues today to reach out to the thousands of Chicago-area alumni, donors and fans. During his tenure in Chicago, Guenther created the annual statewide caravan for promotion and public relations and saw a tripling in the number of donors to Illinois athletics.

Guenther spent eight years at North Central College in Naperville, Ill., including a stint from 1975-79 as director of admissions and also as an associate head football coach. From 1979-83, he served as the vice president of development and public affairs at North Central, helping to design and implement a $15 million Capital Campaign. As associate head football coach, Guenther helped the Cardinals amass a 23-12-2 record, including the school's first winning season in 15 years.

Before moving to North Central College, Guenther was offensive line coach at Boston College from 1971-74, helping to develop nine National Football League players. From 1968-71, Guenther was a teacher and coached football, wrestling and track and field for the Evanston Township and Glenbard High School systems in suburban Chicago.

Born Oct. 3, 1945, Guenther is a native of Elmhurst, Ill. and a graduate of York High School. He lettered at Illinois in 1965 and 1966, helping Illinois to a 24-14-1 record in his four seasons. Guenther earned MVP honors on a squad that produced five All-Americans in 1966.

Guenther and his wife, Megan, reside in Champaign.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics (DIA) was chartered in 1892 as a not-for-profit corporation of the State of Illinois. It was charged with overseeing and conducting the University's intercollegiate athletic programs and associated support services, and operated as a separate entity.

After the state legislature voted in June 1989 to bring UI athletics within the University proper, the DIA assumed the functions and responsibilities of the Athletic Association. The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics began operations officially July 1, 1989, and now, more than a century after University of Illinois athletics began, the mission is still to achieve excellence both in the classroom and in sport competition.

The director of athletics is the division's chief executive officer, and reports directly to the chancellor of the Urbana-Champaign campus. The chancellor has final authority regarding the athletic program in all areas except for budget and major appointments. Those decisions rest with the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

The Athletic Board serves the DIA in an advisory capacity. It is composed of 18 members, (nine faculty, five alumni, three students and one trustee); and the three non-voting (ex-officio) members from the University administration. The faculty and student members are nominated by the Urbana-Champaign Senate and selected by the chancellor.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics does not receive state tax dollars and over the years has been able to fully fund the NCAA maximum allowable number of athletic scholarships for student-athletes in each of its sports programs, as well as to hire excellent coaches and maintain and upgrade its facilities, staying on par with the best major collegiate programs across the nation.

This has been accomplished through revenues derived from the following major sources: gate receipts from football and men's basketball; television and radio rights fees for those two sports and corporate sponsorships and donations to the I FUND. The I FUND contributions provide the maximum allowable number of scholarships in the 19 men's and women's sports at an average annual cost of approximately $12,000 for in-state student-athletes and about $18,000 for those from outside Illinois.

FACILITIES

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics utilizes and maintains 14 facilities for competition and the administration of 19 sports. The facilities include Memorial Stadium, Assembly Hall, Huff Hall, Illinois Field, the Outdoor Track and Field and Soccer Stadium, the Armory, Atkins Tennis Center, Kenney Gym, the University of Illinois Orange and Blue Golf Courses, the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility, Eichelberger Field Softball Complex, the Irwin Indoor Practice Facility and the Irwin Academic Center.

Two years ago, a total refurbishing of the football complex took place in time to host the NFL Chicago Bears for the 2002 season. The first floor was renovated to expand and upgrade the Illini room to create permanent meeting room space and a more conducive sports medicine facility. Also added to the stadium in 2002 was a state-of-the-art video scoreboard as well as photo panels that adorn the North endzone.

Completed in 2000 was the construction of the $12.5 million indoor football practice facility, located just east of the current football complex and locker room. The football practice field opens directly onto the East Outdoor Practice Field.

In 1996, more than 100 members of the DIA staff moved into the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, located on the east-west axis between the Atkins Tennis Center and the Assembly Hall. The facility houses DIA coaches, administration and staff, including the I FUND, the Varsity "I" Association, accounting and personnel, athletic public relations, marketing and compliance.

The Ubben Basketball Practice Facility opened in the fall of 1998 and features practice courts for men's and women's basketball, offices and meeting rooms, training and equipment facilities, strength and conditioning and locker rooms.

In 1992, the DIA completed an $18 million renovation project on Memorial Stadium, replacing the main and balcony stands on the east and west sides of the Stadium.

It has been a busy two decades for facility construction at Illinois as the Atkins Tennis Center opened in 1991, featuring six indoor and eight outdoor lighted courts, along with a pro shop and balcony viewing areas. The Atkins Tennis Center has hosted the Big Ten Championships, the NCAA Regionals and numerous professional tournaments and is also a resource for the entire Champaign-Urbana tennis community.

Illinois Field, the home of the Illini baseball squad, and the Outdoor Track Stadium have also seen construction upgrades, adding lights to both facilities and expanding the track stadium to accommodate Illinois women's soccer matches. The Outdoor Track and Soccer Stadium also includes future plans for seating for 8,000 and a permanent press box.

The indoor facility for track and field, the Armory, underwent a $1.2 million renovation in 2003 to improve the infrastructure of the track and floor.

In 1998, the Irwin Academic Center opened on campus, providing UI student-athletes with state-of-the-art computer study areas, conference rooms, career planning and placement and other academic programs all under one roof. The Irwin Center is utilized by over 600 student-athletes on an annual basis.

The Illini men's and women's basketball squads compete in the Assembly Hall, which has undergone more than $11 million in facility upgrades in recent years, including new locker rooms, training rooms, meeting and dining areas, storage and other improvements designed to showcase Illinois basketball. The newest feature in the Assembly Hall is a $1.7 million video replay board that was installed prior to the 2004-05 season.

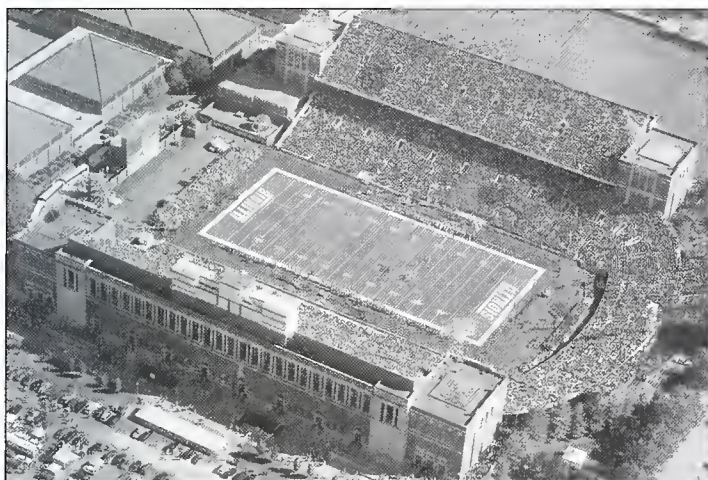

Huff Hall, the home for Illinois men's basketball and the famed IHSA "March Madness" state basketball tournament from 1925-63, has undergone over $1.5 million in construction since 1990 and is the home for Illini volleyball, wrestling and gymnastics. This past summer Huff saw its locker rooms and weight rooms remodeled.

This past fall, the DIA broke ground on a state-of-the-art indoor golf practice facility. Future plans also call for a multi-purpose indoor sport building as well as expansion of the Atkins Tennis Center to allow the 2003 national champion men's team to host NCAA Championship events.

The Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building opened in June of 1996.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE

The Big Ten – the nation's most outstanding conference – fields the nation's best in basketball year-in and year-out. Each year the Big Ten is tops in attendance and is among the leaders in number of teams receiving bids to the NCAA Tournament and number of teams ranked in the Top 25 during the season.

TOPS IN ATTENDANCE

For the 28th consecutive year, the Big Ten Conference led all NCAA conferences in home attendance for men's basketball. The league's attendance mark in 2000-01 (2,342,022) established an NCAA record, breaking the previous record from 1999-2000 (2,255,913), also set by the Big Ten. Last year, the Big Ten placed six teams in the Top 25 nationally for attendance (ILLINOIS, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan State, Ohio State, Wisconsin).

POSTSEASON PLAY

At least five teams have advanced to the NCAA Tournament 19 times in the past 20 seasons ... ILLINOIS advanced to the Sweet Sixteen in 2004 ... A Conference school has advanced to the Final Four in four of the past six seasons ... The Big Ten is one of only two conferences in the nation to advance at least one program to the Regional Finals in five of the last six seasons ... In addition to ILLINOIS, Wisconsin and Michigan State earning spots in the Big Dance last season, Michigan, Iowa and Purdue finished their seasons with berths in the NIT, with the Wolverines claiming the NIT championship.

Since the NCAA Tournament expanded to 64 teams in 1985, the Big Ten has recorded a 166-109 mark, with champions coming in 1987 (Indiana), 1989 (Michigan) and 2000 (Michigan State). Since 1985, the Big Ten has been represented in the Final Four 13 times, including four years with multiple teams advancing to the national semifinals (ILLINOIS and Michigan in 1989, Michigan and Indiana in 1992, Michigan State and Ohio State in 1999, Wisconsin and Michigan State in 2000).

Since the first tournament in 1939, the Big Ten has a 285-170 record and league teams have advanced to the championship game 19 times, with a Big Ten team emerging as the champion 10 times. League schools have accounted for 41 appearances in the Final Four. The Big Ten is the all-time leader with 176 bids to the NCAA Tournament.

ON THE TELEVISION

The tremendous following that Big Ten basketball attracts in stadiums also lends itself to favorable television coverage. Big Ten teams will make at least 32 appearances on ESPN, 16 on ESPN2, and 15 on CBS during the 2004-05 season. Also, all 88 intraconference games will be televised for the 12th straight season. ESPN-Plus will televise the remainder of the Big Ten games not covered by ESPN, ESPN2 and CBS.

ASSEMBLY HALL

All media will enter the arena through the Northeast Entrance and will park in the Northeast lot, located on the corner of Kirby and Fourth Streets. After you enter the Assembly Hall concourse, turn left to access the media room. We will have phone lines available in the media room where all press can work postgame. Occasionally, the Assembly Hall stage crew will be setting up for another event and the press row area will be taken down immediately following some games.

Before every home game a meal will be provided in the media room 1 1/2 hours prior to tip-off. You also may secure game programs, media guides and pre-game notes in the media room beginning two hours prior to tip-off.

COURTSIDE PHOTOGRAPHY

All photographers must work from within the designated areas behind the baselines of the playing court. The University of Illinois follows NCAA and Big Ten guidelines regarding event photography. Photo locations are first-come, first-served, but in the event of heavy demand for photo credentials for a particular game, shooting locations may be assigned.

Strobes—Photographers wishing to use strobe equipment at Illinois home games must notify the Illinois Sports Information staff at least one week in advance of the game for which they are requesting. There is a charge for installation and/or use of such equipment. A maximum of two strobe units may be used for any individual game.

All photographs are to be used in coverage of Illinois basketball and cannot be sold for any commercial enterprise benefiting the photographer. Should photos be sold commercially, credential privileges could be terminated.

CREDENTIALS

Any member of the media wishing to cover the Fighting Illini this season must request, either in person or by email, credentials from the Sports Information staff. All requests must be in writing on your company letterhead and be either mailed, emailed or faxed to Kent Brown. NO credential requests will be accepted over the phone.

Due to limitations in seating numbers, all requests will be prioritized according to published circulation numbers. Be specific when requesting the type of credential needed, either media or photo. Any non-working people in possession of a media credential will be asked to turn over the credential and leave the press area. No children are permitted in the press seating areas. Media agencies that violate this policy may not be issued credentials for future games.

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgement of the University of Illinois' rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and an agreement to abide by any restrictions the UI may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by the UI may result in revocation of press credentials. The UI reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the internet.

Season requests should be received by Nov. 1.

Single-game requests should be made at least 10 days prior to the date of the game.

ROAD GAME CREDENTIALS

Illinois media wishing to cover the Illini on the road should direct their credential request to the sports information director of the host institution. Please see below for credential requests for neutral site games.

PARKING

A limited number of media parking passes are available for the 2004-05 men's basketball games at the Assembly Hall. The issuance of passes will be done on a priority basis with media who cover the University of Illinois basketball team on a regular basis holding the highest priority. Requests will then be prioritized according to circulation for newspapers and coverage area for radio and television. A replacement pass WILL NOT BE ISSUED IF THE ORIGINAL IS LOST. To avoid game traffic, media are encouraged to arrive at least 45 minutes prior to tip-off.

TELEPHONES

Charge-a-call lines will be provided in the working press room. Any individual wishing to order phone lines for the season or for a single game should direct the request to SBC (800) 321-8152 during regular business hours. Street address for the Assembly Hall is 1600 South First Street, Champaign, IL 61820. Post-game, all media are asked to utilize the phone lines in the working press room because the press row seating area on the floor will be taken down immediately following several games in preparation for the next event.

POSTGAME INFORMATION

Media are strongly encouraged to use the official Illinois athletics web site -- www.fightingillini.com -- to access the box score following home games.

Updated Illinois statistics will be available by 10 a.m. Central time the morning after each game, except when traveling by commercial means and in that case the stats will be updated later that day.

The University of Illinois will not be faxing its basketball releases to media personnel. All persons wishing to receive releases, stats, or box scores should retrieve the information off the official UI athletics web site at www.fightingillini.com. To receive releases via email, contact SID Kent Brown.

WEB SITES

Media credentials are issued only for individuals who are affiliated with web sites for national or regional television and news media organizations, e.g. USA Today Online, ESPN.com, CNN/SI, CBS Sportsline, etc., for institutions that are conference members and non-conference opponents, and for the Big Ten Conference. The University of Illinois reserves the right to deny media credentials to any individual whose web site is not affiliated with an official news gathering organization.

WWW.FIGHTINGILLINI.COM

Illinois releases, statistics, audio and video of press conferences and live radio coverage of the Fighting Illini games are available on the official University of Illinois athletics web site, www.fightingillini.com. In addition to men's basketball, live audio is available on the web for football, women's basketball, volleyball, softball, baseball and the coaches' radio show broadcasts.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE

Illinois basketball practices will generally be open to the media, although Coach Bruce Weber reserves the right to close practices at his discretion. Media interested in attending practice should contact SID Kent Brown to confirm the time and place.

The Illinois basketball team will generally practice at 2:45 p.m. on weekdays and practice times on weekends will be listed as TBA. Most practices will be held at the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility, except for isolated times when the team will practice at the Assembly Hall. Please note that the locker room area, weight room and training room are off limits to members of the media. In order to avoid congestion on the floor area, media who attend practice are asked to watch from the balcony area on the second floor that overlooks the court at the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility.

INTERVIEW POLICIES

All interview requests for Illinois players, Bruce Weber and members of the Illini coaching staff should be cleared through Kent Brown or Derrick Burson in the Illinois Sports Information Office. Please give at least 24 hours advance notice for interview requests. On days of scheduled press conferences, players will be available for interviews before practice. Otherwise, Coach Weber, assistant coaches and players will be available for interviews following practice.

When the Illini are on the road, Illinois head coach Bruce Weber will be available for interviews for a few minutes after the scheduled practice. The final 20 minutes of practices are open to the media.

POST-GAME INTERVIEWS

The University of Illinois will utilize the media room, located on the Mezzanine Level on the Northeast side of the Assembly Hall, for post-game interviews. Coaches and players from both teams will be brought to this area for interviews. If you need to interview an Illinois player who has not been requested for the interview room, please make specific arrangements with a member of the Illinois Sports Information staff. The normal schedule will begin with selected Illinois players, followed by the opposing coach and selected players, then Bruce Weber. Player requests for the visiting team should be made through that school's Basketball SID.

THE BRUCE WEBER TV SHOW

This weekly 30-minute television program, hosted by Jason Elliott of WCIA-TV in Champaign, features game highlights and interviews with coaches, players and others involved with the Illinois basketball program. Viewers should consult their local listings for the dates and times of the telecasts in their area.

BRUCE WEBER RADIO SHOW

The Bruce Weber Show is a weekly call-in radio show aired statewide on the Illini Sports Network. The show is hosted by Illini play-by-play announcer Brian Barnhart and airs Monday's from 6:05-7 p.m. beginning Nov. 22. In addition to the studio shows, the radio show will occasionally move to different sorority and fraternity houses on the UI campus. A complete schedule of the show will be listed in the weekly notes update.

ILLINI SPORTS NETWORK

The 47-station Illini Sports Network will once again bring Fighting Illini basketball to fans across the state with Brian Barnhart, former Illini great Stephen Bardo, and Loren Tate calling the action from courtside.

Barnhart is in his third season as the "Voice of the Illini" after a long stint in professional baseball, including two years as the play-by-play voice of the Anaheim Angels. Barnhart serves as the voice of the Illini Sports Network, providing play-by-play coverage of football and men's basketball and as the host of the statewide "Ron Turner Show" and "Bruce Weber Show" call-in programs every Monday night at 6:05 p.m.

A native of nearby Tolono, Brian Barnhart graduated from Unity High School and Liberty University before beginning a 15-year career in professional baseball in 1986. He served as the play-by-play voice of the Lynchburg Mets and Salem Buccaneers before moving up to the Oklahoma City 89ers, the Class AAA affiliate of the Texas Rangers, from 1988-94. Barnhart did high school football and other sport play-by-play for 11 years and was also the voice for Oklahoma Baptist basketball from 1992-94 and Oklahoma City Blazers minor league hockey in 1993. From 1996-98, he handled news, sports and play-by-play at WWLS in Oklahoma City.

In 1998, Barnhart was named the play-by-play announcer for the Angels and spent two full seasons with the American League club before returning to the Champaign-Urbana area in 2000. He currently is a news and sports announcer at WDWS-AM 1400 in Champaign.

Former Illini star guard Stephen Bardo enters his fifth season as an expert analyst for the Illini Sports Network. A 1990 graduate of the UI, Bardo was a mainstay on the Flying Illini team that reached the Final Four in 1989. A hard-nosed defensive specialist, Bardo went on to a nine-year professional career that included stops in the NBA, CBA, USBL, Italy, Spain, France, Venezuela and most recently Japan. He has broadcasting experience working with ESPN-Plus Regional, CLTV in Chicago and on ESPN International NBA broadcasts. He is currently a sports reporter at WBBM-TV in Chicago.

Joining Barnhart and Bardo on the broadcast again this year is Loren Tate, who will handle pre-game, halftime and post-game host duties. Tate, now in his 50th year covering the Fighting Illini, is a longtime sports columnist and former sports editor of The News-Gazette in Champaign. He has also covered Illinois for decades as a radio and television broadcaster.

The statewide Illini Sports Network is managed by the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, including distribution, sales operations, affiliate relations and programming. ISN programming includes Illinois football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball and baseball, along with the "Illini Today" series. The "Bruce Weber Show" can be heard statewide on the Illini Sports Network every Monday beginning Nov. 22 at 6:05 p.m. For information, contact Dave Johnson at (217) 333-8221.
